MEMORIAL WINDOW DEDICATED

Impressive Service at West Newton Unitarian Church in Honor of Lieut. Ellery Peabody, Jr.

At the close of the morning service last Sunday morning at the Unitarian Church, West Newton, the stained glass window given to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Peabody in memory of their son, Ellery Peabody, Jr., was dedicated.

The Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the church, gave the address. He spoke as follows:

"Here, at the close of our Easter service, I invite you to tarry a moment, to join in the dedication of another memorial window.

This window is the third upon my left. It has been presented to this church by Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Peabody in memory of their son, Ellery Peabody, Jr., who made the supreme sacrifice on the fields of France in October, 1918. It is, indeed, peculiarly appropriate on this day, so crowded with blessed memories for us all, that this gift should ask for a share in our thought and present itself for acceptance and consecration. For young Peabody was, in a very special sense, one of our own. His whole life was an integral part of our community life. He was reared and educated in the presence of our best ideals, and it can be said without reservation that he proved loyal to them to the tragic end.

In this church he was baptized as a babe; in this church he passed through all the stages of his beautiful boyhood; in this church, when manhood crowned his years, he sought the way of service and gave his young strength freely to every call of duty. How fitting, therefore, that here also should be placed this beautiful memorial that is to symbolize his lovable qualities, his knightly spirit and his devotion to the need of the hour.

This window was designed and made by Messrs. Heaton, Butler & Bayne of London, whose work is so largely represented in our church.

The central theme of the artist is "The Arming of the Christian Knight." In days when knighthood was in flower, this was an elaborate and almost religious ceremony, involving consecration of weapons and solemn vows of the heart. This medieval custom the artist here illuminates with the scripture thought of putting on the whole armor of God.

We see the stalwart figure of the young knight in the midst of this ceremony of investiture. He has already received the consecrated sword from the hands of the kneeling attendant, while another is about to present him

DEATH OF MR. SIMPSON

Resident of City for 50 Years Dies at Age of 80 Years

Hon. G. Frederic Simpson, a resident of this city for fifty years, died yesterday morning at his home on Franklin street, Newton from heart trouble, which was evidently hastened by an accident of some two months ago, in which he broke his hip.

Mr. Simpson was born in Sullivan, Me., Oct. 30, 1840, and was educated in the common schools of that state. He enlisted at the outbreak of the Civil War in the 26th Maine Regiment and saw considerable service at the seige of Port Hudson, and other battles. In 1863 he was discharged on account of his health and subsequently engaged in the granite business. In 1869 with his brother James he organized the firm of Simpson Bros. to engage in the bituminous and concrete paving business, and this firm laid the first concrete tar sidewalks in this city. Mr. Simpson has always been proud of the fact that for nearly fifty years his firm has handled this class of business for the city of Newton. In 1897 the present Simpson Bros. Corporation was organized with Mr. Simpson as president, a position he held until he retired on account of age.

Mr. Simpson was a director in the Newton Trust Co., vice president and a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank, director in the Newton Co-operative Bank, trustee of the Boston Suburban Electrics Co., president of the Newton Graphic Pub. Co., and a mem-

NEWTON SWIMMERS WIN

Y. M. C. A. Team Vanquishes the Riverside Club of Waltham

In one of the most exciting meets of the year the Newton Y. swimmers splashed their way to a 38 to 30 victory over the speedy Riverside Club team of Waltham.

The relay race was one of the hair raising variety, Newton winning by several feet. Newton also took first in the back and breast strokes, Jaquith coming through in both events in fine style. The plunge also went to Newton when Brigham drifted the length of the tank 60 feet for first, with Jaquith a close second with 59½ feet, while Riverside finished a close third with 59 feet.

Brown of Riverside featured for the visitors, taking three firsts, the 20 yard, 40 yard and 100 yard swim. Riverside also took first and second in the fancy diving. The meet was a thriller from start to finish and the gallery was well filled with enthusiastic rooters for both teams.

Following is the summary of events:

Relay, 160 yards—Won by Newton (Cunningham, Jaquith, Noonan, Barnes). Time, 1:28:1.

20 yard dash—Won by Brown of Riverside; second, Barnes of Newton; third, Cunningham of Newton. Time, 9 1-5 seconds.

40 yard back stroke — Won by Jaquith of Newton; second, Hohman of Riverside; third, Noonan of Newton. Time, 28 seconds.

GIRL SCOUTS

News from Various Troops. Publicity Committee Appointed

On Tuesday, March 22, a Publicity Committee for the Newton Local Council Girl Scouts was organized and held its first meeting. The members of this committee are: Mrs. Melville Smith, Newton Centre, Chairman; Mrs. P. B. Howard, Newtonville; Mrs. Welles Holmes, Newton; Mrs. C. S. Cook, Jr., West Newton; Mrs. F. S. Gourley, Waban; Miss Louise Lovett, Nonantum; Mrs. Charles Mills, Upper Falls.

Each Troop is represented and the duty of the Committee is to try to interest the general public in the work of the Girl Scouts by letting the public know more about the Scouts themselves and what they do. This Committee will make the general publicity plans for all the Troops, but the details will be left to each representative to carry out as she deems wisest to fit the local conditions of the Troop she represents.

The citizens of Newton do not know or appreciate what these 250 girls are doing.

Troop 5—A regular meeting of the West Newton Girl Scouts was held on Tuesday, March 22, in the Entertainment Hall of the Congregational Church. During the opening exercises Constance Upham, the smallest and youngest girl in the Troop, was invested as a Tenderfoot Scout and Bessie Crosby was awarded the Drumming Merit Badge. An unusually good attendance report was recorded on the Troop Chart, only two girls being absent of the sixty Scouts enrolled.

After the business meeting the Basketry, Millinery and Hostess Classes met as usual. These classes are made up of second classes Scouts who are working for Merit Badges. Miss Young of Newtonville is teaching the Basketry work to ten Scouts. Mrs. Jon. Eaton, West Newton, has the class in millinery in which there are twelve Scouts, and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson conducted the Hostess Class, which has ten Scouts in it.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Russell O. Carter Died from Injuries from Automobile. Driver Found and Arrested.

Mr. Russell O. Carter, residing on Churchill street, Newtonville, was struck by an automobile while on Watertown street, West Newton, on Monday night while returning home from the North Gate Club, of which he was a member. The driver of the machine did not stop, and Mr. Carter, who was rendered unconscious, was not discovered until about 11 o'cock, when he was immediately removed to th hospital and placed on the dangerous list. It was found that his skull was fractured and he died last evening as a result of his injuries.

Mr. Carter was an oversea veteran and employed by the firm of Carter, Rice & Co. of Boston.

Through clever work by Inspector Goode, the driver of the machine which struck Mr. Carter was found on Wednesday and proved to be William L. Collins of Woburn, a conductor of the Boston Elevated Co. In court that day he was held until April 6th and the charge against him will now be changed to manslaughter. Inspector Goode found that Collins's machine had just had new headlights, the mud guards straightened and the windshield repaired. Attention was directed to the Collins machine from the fact that Patrolman Taffe had stopped this car that night at Newtonville on account of lack of headlights and had noted its damaged condition at that time.

DEATH OF MRS. BURKE

Mrs. Catherine Burke, the wife of Edward J. Burke, died suddenly last Sunday at her home on Channing street, Newton, following a two days' illness with pneumonia.

The funeral was held from her late residence, 37 Channing street, Wednesday morning. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at the Church of Our Lady by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence Slattery. Rev. M. J. Burke of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge, a nephew of the deceased, was the deacon, Rev. Conrad Quirbach the subdeacon and Rev. Walter Roach was the master of ceremonies. Seated within the sanctuary was the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Edward F. Hurley of St. Philip's Church, Boston, and fifty priests from different sections of the diocese. The choir was under the direction of Joseph Gildea. Miss Josephine Elbery sang the "Pie Jesu" at the offertory. The interment was at Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. The committal service was read by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Edward F. Hurley, assisted by a choir of priests. The pall bearers were J. F. Comba, James Donovan, Michael Finn and George Sennott of Milford, J. F. McNelly of Winchester, John O'Leary of Dorchester, James Dunn and D. J. Mahoney of Newton.

The deceased was a resident of Newton for 45 years. She was born in Milford 66 years ago.

She leaves, besides her husband, two sons, B. M. Burke of Newton and Rev. E. J. Burke of St. Anthony's Church, Allston.

COSTUME PARTY

Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge 177, I. O. O. F., had a full house at the Costume Party on Tuesday evening, March 29. Seventy-five couples were present as participants or spectators. The grand march was a most pleasing sight—many beautiful costumes and many a comical one.

Hayes's Orchestra furnished music and gave perfect satisfaction.

Mrs. May L. Sweatt, Mrs. Etta E. Dow and Rinaldo acted as judges. It was quite a difficult task to select the best from so many excellent costumes. The awards were: Mrs. Edith Harrington, Queen of Cards, first; Mrs. Harold Wilson of Arlington, Goddess of Liberty, second; Mrs. Benyon, Grotesque, third. B. W. Hasting's Needham Clown, first; Harold Wilson, Arlington, English Lackey, second; F. E. Perkins, Country Boy, third.

the helmet of protection. On the other side waits another figure offering the armorial shield, while in the background stands a companion, holding aloft the white banner of knightly service. The titular inscription of these three panels are:

"Be ye faithful unto death"—"Put on the whole armor of God"—"I will give thee a crown of life."

The predellas or small lower panels represent Temperance, Fortitude and Prudence, the three virtues required of a worthy knight. On each lower corner of the window is represented the regimental badge consisting of two crossed cannons and the letter "A."

The dedicatory inscription is as follows:

"In loving memory of Ellery Peabody, Jr., born April 23, 1896, died in France, October 24, 1918."

In your behalf, therefore, I now accept this memorial gift and dedicate it to the noble uses of art to religion and of beauty to faith. We welcome it today into the goodly company of these other memorials, which have graced these walls and uttered their messages to our hearts from Sunday to Sunday. It is henceforth to be one more symbol that gives sanctity to this place and one more voice that speaks to us out of the unforgotten past."

DAVIS—TULLY

Miss Florence Elizabeth Tully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Tully of High street, Newton Upper Falls, was married on Tuesday to Mr. Albert Warner Davis of Oak street, Newton Upper Falls. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frederick Pallidino, pastor of the Methodist Church, at the home of the bride.

The wedding was a very pretty one, the bridal party standing under an arch of green and white flowers with a large wedding bell. The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed with pearls, a veil of tulle with pearls and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Gertrude May Tully, sister of the bride. Her gown was of robin's egg blue georgette crepe over pink satin and she carried a bouquet of pink tea roses.

Th best man was Mr. Russell Poole of Dover, Mass., and the ushers were Mr. Edward McAleer of Newton Centre and Mr. Lovell Richardson of Needham, Mass.

The double ring service was used at the ceremony and the wedding march was played by Miss Dorothy Richardson of Needham, a cousin of the bride.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, the house being beautifully decorated. In the receiving line were the parents of the bride, her sister and the best man.

After a wedding trip to New York and the South, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in Dallas, Texas, where the groom is to enter into business.

The bride is a graduate of the Fine Arts Course of the Newton Technical High School, and the groom served overseas for fourteen months as sargent in the 1st H. A. M. O. R. S.

Over one hundred relatives and friends were present at the wedding, including four generations — Mrs. Ellen Marshfield of Wollaston, Mrs. George M. Thompson of Newton Upper Falls, Mrs. James E. Tully and the bride.

NEWTON WELL REPRESENTED

The Newtons are well represented in the cast and on the committees of "The Naughty Little Princess," which the Lend a Hand Dramatic Club is to produce next Saturday, April 9th, at Jordan Hall. Miss Caroline L. Freeman, who is in charge of the production, directed it the only other time it has been given in Boston, in 1912, by the Children's Players, under the auspices of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union. The interest of the play centres around the Naughty Little Princess, Miss Margaret F. Arnold, who, though a Brookline girl, has appeared in several plays in Newton, and her banishment from the palace by the King, her father, Mrs. H. I. Harriman, after her naughtiness to her teachers, especially her governess, Mrs. Allen Hubbard. She comes to the Forest, taken there by the Witch, Miss Priscilla Ordway, and plays there and works and learns the secret of love and unselfishness from the dwarfs and elves, Mrs. Wm. Hodges, Miss Betty Buffum, Miss Eleanor Clark, Miss Mary Kimball, Miss Mary Newhall, Miss Mary Woodcock, Miss Irma Bartholomew, Miss Isabel McDonald, Miss Katharine Wilkins. Finally, the Prince slays the Ogre, Miss Barbara Wellington, and takes the Princess home, and they live happily ever after, in true story book fashion. An interesting feature of the entertainment will be the entre acte, under the direction of Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, when the Little People of the Forest will appear to amuse the children, Peter Rabbitt, Miss Ethel Laughlin; Johnny Bull Frog, Miss Celia Rogers; Chatter, the Squirrel, Miss Alice Eaton; Jocko, the Monkey, Miss Darthea Bryant; Fairy, Miss Constance Upham.

Lieutenant Redfield. This is for Second Class Scout work and will start the girls on the Bird Study Merit Badge as soon as they pass their second class tests.

Two of the Troop Committee visited the Troop and the girls were very glad to meet Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson and Mrs. Norman Bingham.

A Bucket Brigade Relay Race of two teams illustrated a part of the second class work on fire prevention and control and provided a lively game with which to close the meeting.

Troop 3—On March 24 the Newton Centre Girl Scouts held their third annual banquet. The guests of honor were Mrs. Frank A. Day, Commissioner of Newton; Miss Caroline L. Freeman, local director, and Mrs. Melville Smith, Mrs. Frederick Rising, Mrs. Harold Bownan and Mrs. A. Maxwell Stone of the Newton Centre Troop Committee.

The banquet is one of the events of the year enjoyed by every Scout and the entire preparation is in the hands of the girls. The Senior Scouts were the Hospitality Committee, Patrol G were the waitresses, Patrol I the Cooks, Patrols J and K set the tables and the newest Scouts of all Patrol L decorated the tables and painted souvenir place cards for every Scout.

During supper the Scout Commandant, Evelyn Perry, gave the greeting to the guests; Miriam White toasted "Our New Scouts" and this toast was answered by Scout Katherine Stone. As may be imagined, cheering is just about as important as eating at a banquet and the cheers were new and hearty under the leadership of Scout Elizabeth Donovan.

After supper, decks were cleared and Miss Freeman invested Lieutenant Smith and gave the second class badges to Scout Sally Collins and Scout Nancy Richmond. Eleven girls were rewarded for constant attendance, three of them, Scout Clara Smith, Scout Joan Burnham and Scout Faith Additon earning the Gold Star of perfect attendance for one year. Several Group Badges and Merit Badges were presented.

Then came the stunts, always dear to the heart of a Scout. Newton Centre is the proud possessor of a bugle and drum corps of six members, and they were first on the program. Then came the perplexing charade of Patrol L, the living advertisements of Patrol K, the illustrated songs and recitations of Patrol J, the minstrel show of Patrol I, the thrilling story of Patrol G (ghost) and the moving picture and song medleys of the Senior Patrols. "Good Night, Ladies," came all too soon and now we have another twelve months to wait. Captain Ordway.

On March 18 the Senior Scouts of Newton Centre entertained the hockey team and their captain, Mrs. Stanwood of the Wellesley Troop of Girl Scouts. After getting all thoroughly introduced, Paul Jones style, all the girls enjoyed the good supper prepared for them. During supper these interesting statistics were compiled: There were four hundred and twenty-three years of Scouts present and the average girl owned seventeen of them. Query—How many Scouts were present? After supper there were games and charades until it was time to break up.

WELCH—HERLIHY

Miss Mary Frances Herlihy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herlihy of Wildwood avenue, Newtonville, was married on Monday at St. Bernard's Church to Mr. Daniel Joseph Welch. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Keleher. Mrs. Ryder of West Newton sang.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon and a veil trimmed with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

The bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth G. Herlihy, wore a gown of blue taffeta with a picture hat, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church, the house being tastefully and appropriately decorated for the occasion.

After a wedding trip to North Sydney, Nova Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Welch are to live at 133 Wildwood avenue, Newtonville.

The Y. M. C. A. bowling team, in a match with the Windsor Club at the Watertown Clubhouse, bowled exceptionally well, winning by a score of 1710 to 1636.

A very interesting match was also played with the Auburndale Club, the score being: Newton, 1598; Auburndale, 1369.

Mr. L. Chase Kepner gave a very interesting talk on the tanning of leather at the Fellowship Club on March 28th. He showed samples of the hides in different processes of tanning and also displayed many fine pieces of the finished product.

On Monday, April 4th, Mr. L. D. Gibbs, who has charge of the Advertising of the Edison Electric Co., will give a talk on Advertising. Any men who are interested are welcome to come to these meetings of the club, which begin at 7 o'clock. Supper is served at 6.30.

A truckload of Boy Scouts from Middletown, Connecticut, who were seeing the sights of Greater Boston and intending to camp out en route, were caught in the rain storm and sudden cold weather last Monday evening. They applied to the local Y. M. C. A. for shelter. The boys were given a hot shower and wrapped themselves up in their blankets to spend a comfortable night indoors.

A group of about thirty boys hiked to Prospect Hill, Waltham, under the leadership of Mr. F. E. Doubleday and Raymond Van Buskirk. The man in the observatory very kindly let the boys look out and see some of the forest fires which were starting. He showed them how he located these on his chart and how he notified the proper authorities to put them out before much damage had been done.

The annual exhibition and demonstration of physical work will be held on Thursday evening, April 7th, this year. Some unusual features, including the acrobatic clown, will make the program very attractive.

On account of the early season those interested in outdoor games have been looking with longing eyes on the tennis courts and base ball diamond. If the weather holds good, the tennis courts will be ready on Saturday, April 2nd. The base ball diamond has already been rolled, and as soon as suitable weather comes the men and the boys will once more enjoy the international game.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Credo of the Boy Scouts of America is as follows:

"I believe in the Boy Scouts of America."

1. "Because Scouting arouses an interest in the highest civic aspirations of the community, develops an abiding passion for law and order, champions respect for properly constituted authority.

2. "Because Motto, Oath, Law and Knife of Scouting help boys cut their paths, straight and clean, through the itching, burning, restless years of awkward growth."

3. "Because Scouting * * * routs mischief-making idleness, and fills the self-directed hours of boyhood with life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness."

4. "Because Scouting * * * bridges the gap between knowing and doing, brings forward the timid and humbles the bully, makes the weak strong and the strong stronger, and crowns physical courage with moral valor."

5. "Because Scouting whispers to boys to tackle every job with the tools of cheerfulness, patience, courtesy, obedience and loyalty."

6. "Because Scouting kindles a fire in the breasts of boys that drives them forward—crusaders in the moral and spiritual world."

Quotations are from Mr. E. B. DeGroot's statement, under the above title, in Scouting, February 12, 1920.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Joseph F. Stewart of 222 Pearl street, Newton, who struck and killed Marcus S. Lurie of Dorchester, almost in front of the latter's home on Sunday, was held in $2,000 in Roxbury court Monday for appearance on April 6.

Mr. Lurie was returning to his home from a party in Chelsea in honor of his daughter and her fiancee when he alighted from a machine in front of his home and attempted to cross the street to enter his house. The automobile owned by Paul F. O'Donnell of Washington street, Newton, was operated by Joseph F. Stewart of 222 Pearl street, Newton.

Stewart halted his car and with the aid of a son gathered the unconscious man into the auto and rushed him to the hospital. He was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, lacerations of the right eye and chest. Stewart was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marguerite Whelen, sister of the bride, wore orchid organdie, with a hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. Lawrence Woods of Dorchester.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church, the bride and groom being assisted by their parents.

NEWTON CENTRE COMMUNITY WORK NOTES

Realizing the need of a closer relationship between the men and the boys of the church, the Men's Club of the First Church has appointed a committee on Boys' Work, which will submit to the club plans for social and religious activities for the boys of the church. Mr. A. T. Leary, Community Secretary, has been asked to cooperate with this committee in the promotion of such plans as are approved by the club.

This Boys' Work Committee is cooperating with the executive committee of the club in arranging a Father and Sons' supper for the next club night, which is April 4th. Each club member is expected to be present with a boy. The committee will gladly assign boys to men who are not fathers of boys between eleven and eighteen years of age. This supper is in no sense limited to club members and their sons; every father and son who is connected in any way with the church or Bible school is urged to attend.

After supper, Messrs. Baird and Stafford of Caines School of health exercise will demonstrate the various holds and grips of the ancient form of Japanese wrestling known as Jiu-Jitsu. Mr. Baird will also perform some sleight-of-hand stunts, at which he is an accomplished artist.

This Father and Sons' supper is but a forerunner of other events which the Boys' Work Committee is planning. An outing is being arranged for Saturday, May 7th, at Mr. Wm. G. Brewer's summer camp at Millis, Mass. A program for this day in the open is being arranged and will be announced later. A real time, however, is promised to those who attend.

LEND-A-HAND DRAMATIC CLUB

Much interest is being shown in "The Naughty Little Princess," a play for children which is to be given in Jordan Hall on Saturday, April 9th. The play is under the direction of Miss Caroline L. Freeman.

Other residents of Newton who are to take part are Miss Irma Bartholomew, Miss Frances Brown, Miss Betty Buffum, Miss Marjorie Chellis, Mrs. H. I. Harriman, Mrs. William J. Hodges, Mrs. Allan Hubbard, Miss Mary Kimball, Miss Mary Newhall, Miss Priscilla Ordway, Miss Barbara Wellington, Miss Katherine Wilkins, and Miss Mary Woodcock.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAM CRAMPTON

On Friday morning, March 25th, Mr. George W. Crampton passed away at his home, 63 Grafton street, Newton Centre. He had been in failing health for the past year, and earlier in the winter spent two months at Virginia Hot Springs for the benefit of his health. After his return he had been attending to his business affairs until about a fortnight ago—since which time he had been confined to his home.

Mr. Crampton was born fifty-four years ago at South Acton, Mass., the son of Mr. Charles A. and Martha Crampton. While still a small boy, he moved with his parents to St. Albans, Vt., where he lived through his boyhood and youth, and as a young man he came to Boston to work as a clerk for the firm of Hosmer Robinson and Co., and fifteen years ago Mr. Crampton became a member of that firm. Long identified with the wholesale hay and grain business in Boston, he was known as one of the leading figures in the Chamber of Commerce, of which he was a member.

Mr. Crampton was a Mason, a member of the Henry Price Lodge of Charlestown. He also belonged to the Boston City Club, the Brae Burn Country Club and was one of the original members of the Charlestown Rover Cycle Club.

Mr. Crampton is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Ida M. Remick of Somerville, Mass., two sons, Alfred H., a student at Dartmouth, and George W. Crampton, Jr., and a daughter, Helen, an aged father, one brother and three sisters.

Services were held at Mr. Crampton's home, Monday afternoon, Rev. E. M. Noyes officiating. The Apollo Quartet rendered three beautiful selections. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and a profusion of beautiful flowers, all attesting to the high esteem in which Mr. Crampton was held by his many friends. Interment was in Mr. Hope Cemetery.

C. E. RALLY

Norumbega C. E. Union will hold a rally next Tuesday evening at the First Baptist Church in Waltham at which representatives will be present from the Newtons, Waltham, Watertown, Waverly, Belmont, Needham, and Weston. Supper for 400 will precede the rally and will be served in the Beth Eden and First Baptist Churches of Waltham.

The program includes addresses by Lieut.-Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, Rev. Frank L. Frost, C. E. Field Secretary of Massachusetts, and Mr. E. P. Gates, General Secretary of the United Society of C. E.

DEATH OF MR. McLAUGHLIN

Samuel Charles McLaughlin passed away Easter Sunday at the home of his uncle, Dr. S. C. McLaughlin, 3 Harvard street Newtonville.

He was born in Ottawa, 19 years ago. His going came as a blessed relief after months of suffering. During the three years in which he had lived in Newtonville, his gentleness of spirit and affectionate nature was felt by all who came in contact with him.

Services were held at 3 Harvard street, Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. E. M. L. Gould officiating. The burial was at Newton Cemetery.

COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB OF WEST NEWTON

The Community Service Club of West Newton gave a very unique and interesting entertainment in the parish house of the Second Church on Wednesday evening.

The entertainment was a varied one. Mrs. Virginia Denny-Birgfeld of West Newton sang very attractively. Mrs. Pitt Drew and Mr. Philip Carter of West Newton gave a skit called, "The Silent System," in which Mr. Carter was the silent partner, who finally wins out. Other attractions were a "Valse Artistique" by Miss McCoy of Wellesley, which was much appreciated, and a male quartet, which in addition to their splendid singing, added much to the merriment of the evening by their jokes.

Mr. Alfred Stafford of Newtonville gave an interesting sleight-of-hand performance, and Mr. Robert Perry of West Newton sang "West Newton Belles." This was illustrated by the following young ladies: Miss Isabella Walsh, Miss Beth Crooker, Miss Eleanor Batholomew, Miss Hope Crooker, Miss Christine Peters, Miss Kate Wheeler, Miss Eleanor Gibbs, and Miss Margaret Woods.

Refreshments were served and a general social hour enjoyed by all. The entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. Warner Marshall.

EDITORIAL

Every public-spirited citizen ought to take some interest in the Boy Scout Movement which means so much for the future of this country. The small sum of $5,000 is needed to continue the splendid work now being done in this city in this direction and it should be a privilege to help in such a worthy cause.

—o—

It is given to but few men to take an active part in the improvement and growth of their home city for a period of fifty years. But that is the unique record of Hon. G. Frederic Simpson, whose death it is our sad duty to record this week. As a young man at the beginning of a most successful business career, Mr. Simpson laid the first tar concrete sidewalk in the then town of Newton, and with the exception of three years, his firm has continued to do that work and that of cement concrete sidewalks until the present time. During these years, while this work became a very small part of his business, Mr. Simpson took a personal pride in continuing this work, although it became only a very small part of the business in which he was engaged. In addition, Mr. Simpson was one of the first to aid in the street railway development of the city, and took an active part in the banking interests of Newton, and gave a large amount of his time and services to the Newton Savings Bank and the Newton Co-operative Bank. He was also active in the affairs of the Channing Church. His has been a long, useful and honorable life, of which his family and his many friends may well be proud.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The "Movie Censorship bill," so called, has been reported by the Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs. The measure is that which accompanied the petition of the State Committee on Motion Pictures, a voluntary association made up of organizations favoring censorship.

The bill provides that on and after Jan. 1, 1922, it shall be unlawful for any person to sell, lease, loan or use for public exhibition or commercial purposes in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts any motion picture film unless the said film has been submitted to, examined and approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

Furthermore, the Commissioner of Public Safety shall approve the whole or any part of such films as are not obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman or such as do not tend to debase or corrupt morals or incite to crime, and shall disapprove such films or parts thereof as are obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman or such as tend to debase or corrupt morals or incite to crime.

A charge of $2 shall be paid for the inspection of each reel of film not exceeding 1,000 linear feet, and $4 for each reel exceeding 1,000 linear feet.

The Commissioner of Public Safety is authorized to appoint a deputy director or moving picture censor at an annual salary not to exceed $3,500.

Leave to withdraw has been given on the petition of the city for permission to issue $2,500,000 outside of the debt limit for school house purposes and next week we will publish the facts in regard to this matter.

The committee of which Representative Early is House chairman has favorably reported a bill to establish a state constabulary and which will undoubtedly be fought hard by the labor interests.

The physical training bill is now before House Ways and Means and appears to be a most harmless measure and surely has no direct interest on Newton.

Representative Rice is looking after the interests of the city in regard to the payment of four new bridges which will cross the Charles river between Boston and Watertown. There is no question as to the need of these bridges, but there is a decided difference as to the apportionment of the cost, Newton's interest lying in the amounts to be assessed on the Metropolitan district and on Middlesex County.

REV. F. ARGENTO SPEAKS OF WORK AMONG ITALIANS

At a meeting of the Newton Hospital Social Service League held in the New Church Parlors last week Monday, Rev. F. Argento spoke on work in Newton among the Italians as follows:

"There are in Newton about 5,000 Italians or one out of every eight of the population. Most of these come from the agricultural districts of Italy. They have had very little education in their own country, but are good, reliable people and good workers. Very few Italians strike, and there are few criminals among them.

Many come to this country to get money, with the idea of returning to their own country in a few years. Frequently, however, they become attached to this country, and send for their wives and children and make their homes here.

The children of such immigrants soon become assimilated through the public schools. It is the older people who form a problem. These naturally get together in districts where their friends and relatives are and where there is some one to interpret English for them. When they become more successful and attempt to move out, they often find difficulty in obtaining homes among Americans. Border street, West Newton, is one of the streets to which they go at first; Oak avenue represents a street of the more prosperous; still others are scattered among the better streets of the city.

In Italy, most of these Italians were good Catholics, but when they come over here they largely cease to go to any church. Realizing the importance of religion in the lives of all people, religious meetings of a non-sectarian character have been held every Sunday afternoon both in West Newton and in Nonantum. These have been very well attended, sometimes there have been as many as 225 at one time being present.

For four years there have been clubs among the Italians of West Newton which have been carrying on a splendid work. Originally these were formed for mutual benefit in case of sickness or trouble. In these clubs men are taught how to speak in public. Whereas, at first confusion reigned in a meeting, now meetings are conducted with law and order. Americanization is emphasized in these meetings, and the men prepared for American citizenship. More than fifty per cent of the members are now American citizens.

In Nonantum also there are three men's clubs where Americanization work is being carried on, and in Newton Centre, and more recently in Newton Highlands similar clubs have been organized.

The Italian women form a problem by themselves. Often they have so many children or boarders that there is very little time left for outside interests. Four weeks ago an Italian Woman's Association was started in Nonantum which now numbers 29 members. Here English is especially studied.

To conclude, the work among the Italians in Newton embraces social work, religious work and Americanization work. The aim of the latter is to teach the newcomer that America stands for something besides money, it stands for high ideals and for liberty and justice for all."

THE LABOR SITUATION

The following article is an abstract of the address recently delivered by Ex-Senator Cartwright before the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Cartwright in his crisp and epigrammatic style, points out that the most important lesson we have learned in the field of industrial relations is that the solution to our industrial problems lies in a nation-wide educational campaign, intensive in character, long continued and intelligently.

Probably one of the most important lessons that has been learned by the industrial world may be expressed in, the words of Mr. M. Edwin Arnold, President of the Association of Electrical Contractors of the State of Pennsylvania.

"What is obtained by force must be sustained by force. What is obtained by reason and education will sustain itself."

Most of us have reached the conclusion that we can hope to solve our industrial problems only by a nation-wide educational campaign, intensive in character, long continued, and intelligently directed.

All of us agree that employer and employee are necessary partners in the world's great field of production and distribution, and yet, when we look back over the industrial history of the past forty years, we find these two partners arrayed against each other in hostile camps. Each year has found them more and more strongly entrenched. They have failed to co-operate as partners must if the partnership is to prosper.

They have tried to solve the problems of industry by force. On the one hand we have had the policeman's club and the jail sentence, and on the other we have had the strike, sabotage, and sometimes syndicalism, and other acts of terror. These will not solve the problems of industry.

Suppose employers should so combine as to succeed in beating labor into submission. We would have sullen and unwilling workers and they would not earn their salt. American industry would languish. We could not compete in the markets of the world. Capital as well as labor would lose. Our economic strength depends upon the loyalty and efficiency of labor as much as upon skill in management.

Suppose our working men, under misguided leadership, should succeed in beating capital, so called, into submission. Capital is timid. Whether it be the dollar in the hands of the small capitalist or the million dollars in the hands of the larger capitalist, capital seeks safety in hiding at the first signs of danger.

Business is a tender plant. It grows only in sheltered places. It must be nourished, cultivated, tenderly cared for and encouraged. It withers under the hot blast of the breath of the agitator, and it dies under adverse legislation. The agitator and the demagogue are its greatest enemies.

Working men are tremendously interested in the stability of business. At the first sign of danger they should rush to its defense. No business, no employment. No employment, no business. You cannot injure either of the partners without hurting both. Their interests are not only mutual, they are identical.

Labor cannot afford to beat capital into submission. If by force they should succeed, our private deposit boxes will be filled with idle dollars; our factories will be filled with idle wheels and machinery; and our streets, highways and public parks will be filled with idle men looking for work. Idle dollars mean idle men. That is a lesson that the working man as well as a sympathetic public must learn.

Just now, we are passing through the segment of the economic cycle where purchasing power of the people has been temporarily interrupted—suspended. One of the important lessons that a study of the panics of the past will teach, may be drawn from the fact that all of the world's greatest panics, when unemployment was most widespread and distress most acute, were preceded by and were coincident with violent agitation for some political or social nostrum in one or more of the great commercial nations.

The panic of 1816 was marked with the agitation for the demonetization of gold in England.

The panic of 1837 was accompanied with the agitation for the destruction of the United States Bank in America.

The panic of 1873 was preceded by and accompanied with the agitation in America that led to the organization of the Greenback Party.

The panic of 1893 was preceded by the agitation in America that led to the organization of the People's Party.

The present period of readjustment has been preceded by the most violent agitation in history in all countries for the overthrow of the substitution therefor of fantastic and impractical isms and chisims.

Yet, I look with confidence into the future. America has passed from the position of a debtor to that of a creditor nation. The purchasing power of the people will function with the return of confidence. America's recovery will be rapid. We need only to hold the Ship of State on an even keel. This is no time to rock the boat.

We have learned that we cannot solve the problems of industry by raising wages. Wages went sky high during the war and industrial disturbances multiplied. Some of us have learned that wages and hours are scientific questions and when that great fundamental fact has filtered through the brains of captains of industry and labor leaders, we will have made a tremendous stride toward industrial peace.

Some wise-acre many years ago invented the slogan "Labor and Capital are natural enemies. Labor wants high wages and Capital wants low wages. They are engaged in an Irrepressible Conflict."

That false slogan has vexed the world for half a century. They would have us believe that the struggle that commenced before Moses was hidden in the bull-rushes on the banks of the Nile must rage on through the centuries till the end of time.

Nonsense! There is a scientific wage that will be best for both labor and capital. When that truth penetrates the human mind our greatest difficulty will disappear.

The great market for the products of field and factory has been found in the wage earners of the country. Destroy the payrolls of the private enterprises of your city and grass will grow in its principal streets. If wages are too low in any country, the purchasing power of labor is unnecessarily impaired. Business stagnates as it does in China. The banker, merchant, manufacturer, and worker suffer alike.

On the other hand, wages may be too high. If wages in any country are too high, that country cannot compete with producers of other countries and its industries perish. Working men lose their jobs. Widespread unemployment ensues. The banker, merchant, manufacturer and worker again suffer alike.

Between these two extremes there is a scientific wage. When the two partners discover this fundamental truth they will put their feet under the same table and figure out this scientific wage. Let the future slogan of industry be "Stop fighting and commence figuring."

If wages are too high in any country the first to sound the note of warning should be the labor leader. If he is looking to the welfare of his constituents and not his own advancement in the organization, this will be his future course.

Students have learned, and all of our people should know, that the higher the wage, the higher the cost of living. When wages were three cents a day, the average cost of living was three cents a day. When wages rose to ten cents a day the cost of living rose to ten cents a day. With each rise in wages there is a corresponding rise in the average cost of living.

It is a natural economic law. Man did not make it, and man cannot repeal nor amend it. And yet, we have men who think they are labor leaders, yet who think they can improve the condition of the worker by raising wages per se. Labor cannot lift itself over the fence by its own boot straps. A wage too high is worse for labor than a wage too low. A poorly paid job is better than no job at all.

Many of us have learned, and the rest of us must be taught, that labor pays its own wages. Capital does not pay wages. It never did. Labor must not permit it to do so. If we could devise a scheme by which wages would be paid by capital, capital would speedily fade away. It would soon exhaust itself. Labor would go unemployed. Civilization would disappear. Man would go back to the jungle.

Wages must be paid out of prodution. The greater the production the higher will be the wages in any country. America has always paid the highest wages, because America has always produced the most per man per day of labor. China has paid the lowest wages because China has produced the least per man per day. Strange that we still have some people who think labor can elevate its position by a limitation of output.

If small output is better for labor, China ought to be a workingman's Paradise. When the American worker reduces his product to the level of the Chinese output, he will force himself to the Chinese standard of living. Let the teachers of this false doctrine beware.

Many well meaning people think that labor should have a larger share of the joint product of the partnership. This belief has grown out of a failure to understand the law of compensation. If it were possible to give labor a larger share I would today be advocating that doctrine. But that is not possible. Labor gets it all now. Not quite all, but nearly all. All that it is possible to give it.

For more than two thousand years the world has been laboring under the delusion that when one man grows rich other men become correspondingly poor. The world has made a fatal blunder.

We see the tall man go out into the orchard. He reaches far up into the tree. He gathers the finest fruit and the most of it. We all envy that man. That is human nature. Then we see the shorter men down below, running around the bottom of the tree, competing with each other for the fruit that hangs lower down. We all sympathise with the shorter man. That, also, is human nature.

But the great blunder that the world has made all through the centuries, has been in the mistaken belief that they could help the short man by cutting off the arms of the tall man. That we could make the sick man well by making the well man sick. That we could make the poor man rich by making the rich man poor.

You might as well try to make hair grow on a bald head by sheering the heads of the seven Sutherland Sisters. That is not the remedy. The only way to help the short man is by educating, unfolding, and developing him, so that he may be able to reach for himself. What is handed down to us rarely does us any good. It often does us harm. What we are taught to reach and get for ourselves is of permanent benefit.

This predominant truth was learned by me when the seeds of socialism had been sown in my breast and I was wavering at the point of accepting socialistic principles—that there are two kinds of wealth. Productive wealth and what I term consumptive wealth. These are two distinctly different types. The farm, the factory, the railroad and the bank are included in productive wealth. It is true that what they produce becomes consumptive wealth to the consumer. It is fortunate that God has limited man's capacity to consume. It goes back to the story of the tall man who reaches for the fruit in the uppermost branches of the tree. He must hand down what he cannot consume to the shorter men, those men less endowed with the reaching capacity.

DO YOU KNOW?

Educational Series No. 5

THAT the investments of Massachusetts Savings Banks are made and supervised by the Investment Board, elected from the Trustees, men of proven character in their community and each successful in his own line of business.

THAT surplus earnings, after paying dividends, State tax and expenses, are set apart as a Guaranty Fund to strengthen the Bank and protect the depositors.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK
THE PLACE FOR MY SAVINGS

A constant force, power or influence, whatever you may call it, is tending to direct the flow of wealth toward men who render greater service, to the men who possess the greatest skill.

The plea of the socialist agitator for years has been that the world cannot go on with the system prevailing of one per cent of the people possessing ninety-nine per cent of the wealth. That is the fallacy on which the agitator builds his arguments. I do not believe the statement to be true that one per cent possess ninety-nine per cent of the wealth. But has not this system been applied to art, to music, to poetry?

One per cent of the people are endowed with the genius of painting beautiful pictures. But they must pay the price of success. If they do not present them to public view, hang them on the walls for the benefit of the people to enjoy, and buy if they will pay the price, their pictures are valueless to them.

One per cent of the people are given the power of writing poetry. But their poetry must be published or it can not be realized upon.

And so it is with the manager of industry. A certain percentage of men are gifted with the genius of successfully conducting industry. I don't know how we could improve on this system, except by educating and unfolding the working class, that they may develop hidden genius.

Sometime ago I was in Edison's plant in New Jersey. I met that grand old man for the first time. During our conversation he said to me, "Senator, can't we teach the world that capital and labor are like the clock and the pendulum? The clock cannot move without the pendulum, and the pendulum cannot move without the clock."

He also said: "Sometimes I think I am a consummate fool. All my life I've worked 18 hours a day. All I've gotten out of it is three meals a day, and a chew of tobacco."

God prevents the rich man from using more wealth than he can consume. He puts what he cannot consume back into industry and it is paid out to labor.

Now what we must teach the world is that labor must produce more that they may share more.

We have failed to grasp a great fundamental truth. The tall man cannot eat any more than the short man. If we cut off his arms, just that much fruit will rot upon the tree. Nobody gets it. If we cut them off still farther, more fruit rots on the tree. If we cut them off until he can reach no higher than the rest, he will compete with them for the fruit lower down.

Let him gather all he can. He cannot eat any more than the rest, and all that he gathers above what nature permits one man to eat, he will pass down to those below. He will give them employment and opportunity. When we cut off his arms, we cut off a part of their supply. Nature has made him ambitious, greedy, so that he will gather all that he can reach.

That is nature's way of making him work for those below. He cannot eat more, but his greed causes him to give more employment and opportunity to others in order to get more for himself, and as he gets he again gives employment to other men. When nature bestows any talent upon a man, nature requires that man to serve the world with that talent in order to enjoy it and profit by it. That is Nature's law of compensation.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Book Circulation Increased Fifteen Per Cent During First Two Months of the Year

That the Newton Free Library is a live institution is shown by the fact that its work is ever on the increase. In January and February, 1921, its book circulation increased about 11,000 volumes over the corresponding months of last year. Based on the 1920 work that is about a 15% increase.

This points out rather significantly that during these times when business is slack, many men and women, who in ordinary times lack the opportunity, are taking advantage of the library's books. They are profiting by the business books and magazines therein, so that when conditions are better they will be in the van among the other leaders.

A RAILWAY TWO-STEP

It was in a Pullman sleeper, an upper berth was mine,
So narrow, hot, and noisy,—oh, 'twas anything but fine!
I tossed and turned my pillows, threw the covers in a heap,
But in spite of all endeavor, I could not get to sleep.
Then suddenly I heard above the rattling of the train,
A catchy whistled melody, in lively ragtime strain,
That rose and fell upon the air like dancing steps in tune,
And I felt my feet responding, like a happy Southern coon.
I looked between the portieres that draped my berth from view,
Just listening to that melody,—the two-step that I knew!
Then I saw the colored porter at the far-end of the car,
A-shining shoes and whistling like a truly rag-time star.

Around him in a circle were shoes of every style,
In pairs and doubles standing, or thrown into a pile.
There were fancy tops and common, pointed toes and square,
With a pair of dainty Oxfords that betokened beauty rare.
And as I gazed enraptured, of a sudden every shoe
Came dancing down the car-aisle,—a-dancing two by two!
They formed a gay procession, in perfect dancing time.
All following in a fox-trot like a jolly pantomime.
A pair of spats went skipping off before two button boots,
Two brogans stumbling after, with Hibernian shouts and hoots.
And once they formed a circle, every happy dancing pair,
While those dainty pretty Oxfords did a shimmy then and there!

The porter whistled merrily, and all the pattering feet
In marching order fell in line, like soldiers in a street.
Then as I gazed in wonder, the ragtime whistling stopped,
And through the air in column fours, the shoes arose and dropped—
Dropped like falling snow-flakes, the kind that weigh like lead,
Upon my pillow, coverlet, and my unprotected head!
Patent leather, russet, laced and buttoned, old and new,—
With the tiny little Oxfords chasing everything that flew!
I dodged them vainly as they fell, they filled up all the space,
When suddenly from up above, one landed on my face!
It had a heavy rubber heel, which really was no joke,—
I arose with wrathful comments, and —good gracious—I awoke!

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The club women of Salt Lake City are making extensive preparations for entertaining the Mid-Biennial Council Meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs from June 12 to 18. The meeting proper will open on Tuesday evening, June 14, and continue through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The days previous are given to the Executive Board meeting. If any Newton women are considering journeying westward this summer and can bring Salt Lake into their itinerary at this time, they will never regret it. The program committee this year is striving to make the meeting a home affair with reports and plans for work given by the respective chairmen of departments, rather than having outside inspirational speakers, so that one will get into close touch with things, much closer than when merely fine speakers are heard. The committee promises time for discussion from the floor, also for conferences of state and club presidents with each other and with department heads.

Saturday, June 18, the visiting club women will be the guests of the citizens of Ogden for a day in the mountains. Luncheons, dinners, teas and receptions, as well as drives and excursions to places peculiar to that region, are being arranged and everything that can add to the comfort and pleasure of the club women will be provided.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will be in charge of the program for the regular meeting of the club on Friday, April 8th.

Local Happenings

That there is but wood enough in standing timber in the United States to last fifty years, that if the war had come fifteen years later we couldn't have had wood enough to build the cantonments or the boxes in which to ship our munitions nor from which to make the gun stocks, were among the startling statements made by Mr. Philip W. Ayers, forester for the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, at last week's meeting of the Newton Community Club. Mr. Ayers was listened to with close attention and great interest, and his audience could not be but astonished at the facts, which he brought home most forcibly. We, of the United States, have been following a policy akin to that of the Chinese in the stripping of our forests, only they took 150 years for it. We have been stripping everything clean and have made permanent irreparable loss, taking away qualities from the soil which can't be replaced. Two hundred thousand acres are annually burned over, crippling the soil for all time.

The provisions of the Weeks bill passed in 1911 has made a beginning, but if the $10,000,000 had been appropriated ten years earlier, we could have saved the situation, which it is estimated will take $50,000,000 to accomplish today. The government now owns 700 square miles of national forest in New Hampshire, which is but 44 per cent of the original program. There have been subsequent grants by Congress, $600,000 two years ago, and on February 28 of this year, $1,000,000 was voted to keep the work going, but the amount must be divided between Maine, New Hampshire, the seven southern states, and Arkansas. The situation in general to-day is such that we must deal with large companies who hold the forests, so that with small sums of money we can do nothing at all. The government holds 70,000 acres of primeval forest in New Hampshire.

The general forestry situation of the country has a very real and very important message behind it. One-half the standing timber of the country today is west of the Rockies. We are using up the forest wood five times as fast as it grows. High prices for building are largely due to the exhaustion of the supply, so that it is time we took account of stock. The soft wood is practically gone for the whole supply of spruce will be cleared out in five years; the hard woods are being used for purposes unknown a few years ago. The oak, walnut, and hickory are gone. The government even dug up stumps of old Walnut trees in the Middle West for gun stocks and paid $360 per 1,000 for it. The paper used for a single Sunday's edition of the Boston newspapers means 1,500 acres of forest stripped clean. The whole amount of timber will last but 50 years, and we can expect no help from Canada, since it has passed laws prohibiting the exporting of timber. We consider the housing situation as critical, for lower standards of living mean lower standards of morals, and way back of the housing situation lies the shortage of timber.

The only remedy is reforestation. Thousands of acres of waste lands are lying useless producing nothing. It remains for us to save the situation, for the comfort, satisfaction, and safety of our descendants depend upon it. Mr. Ayers told how Dartmouth College has recently realized $1,000,000 from harvesting the crop of soft wood upon a grant of land, which the College had from the State of New Hampshire in very early days, and suggested that it is worth while for institutions to hold forests as a safe investment.

Two bills now before Congress, one fostered by Gifford Pinchot, and another known as the Snell bill, were commended to the attention of the club as ones which must be watched and helped, as going to the root of the matter. He gave very valuable suggestions as to the stage in the game when letters to Congressmen and Senators are of value, namely, when a matter is pending in Congress; if in the Senate, write your Senators; if in the House, your representative. Letters do have an effect, but it is stronger, if they get there at the right time. The speaker commended the work which Massachusetts has already done and approved highly the proposition to bond the state rather than take the money out of current taxes for reforestation matters.

Questions and discussion after the lecture testified to the real interest which had been taken in the subject.

At the short business meeting preceding the program an appeal was made for the Y. W. C. A. Drive. The chorus delighted the audience with its spirited number.

Presidents' Day of the Waban Woman's Club was a delightful and successful occasion, there being a large number of visiting delegates from neighboring clubs present to enjoy with the members and other guests the fine musical program rendered by Mrs. Helen Westgate Lamson, soprano, and Mr. Frank Gaebelein, pianist, each artist contributing three groups of selections, all of high order and charmingly performed. At the close the guests were received informally by the officers and tea was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Codman, Mrs. Wilfred White, Mrs. Cram and Mrs. Champlin.

"Standing Room Only" testified to the popularity of the home talent afternoon at the Auburndale Woman's Club meeting on Tuesday last. Readings by Mrs. C. A. J. Smith and the piano accompaniments by Mrs. L. D. MacNutt gave the appropriate atmosphere for the following fourteen Greek tableaux which were presented under the personal direction of Mrs. Smith:

The Sleeping Ariadne—Mrs. H. H. Longfellow, Mrs. J. T. Watson.

Orpheus and Eurydice—Mrs. Charles D. Ansley, Miss Anne Bunker.

Judgment of Paris—Mrs. Longfellow, Mrs. Charles B. Floyd, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Chester M. Robbins.

Niobe—Mrs. Robbins, and Child.

The Aurora—Mrs. J. W. Bucknam, Miss Anne Bunker, Mrs. J. M. Barris, Mrs. Ernest L. Johnson, Mrs. Richard W. Foote.

Parting of Hector and Andromache—Mrs. Ansley, Mrs. Wm. J. Benger, Mrs. Longfellow.

Andromache Fainting on the Wall—Mrs. Benger, Mrs. Ansley and Greek Maidens.

The Hunting Diana—Mrs. Richard W. Foote.

Sappho—Mrs. J. M. Barris, and Greek Maidens.

Cassandra—Mrs. Robbins.

The Three Fates—Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Ansley, Mrs. Bucknam.

Psyche—Mrs. Foote.

Media—Mrs. Floyd.

Diana and Endymion—Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Barris.

By special request of the Education Committee, these tableaux are to be repeated in Norumbega Hall some time during the week of the eleventh of April for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund.

At the business meeting, preceding the tableaux, Miss Butler, from the Boston headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. made an appeal for funds in connection with the drive which that organization is carrying on this week. The recommendation from the Executive Board that the Near East Relief, the District Nursing Association and the Y. W. C. A. be given each ten dollars from the Philanthropic Fund was endorsed. The Nominating Committee, Mrs. W. A. Stiles, Chairman, presented the following candidates for election at the annual meeting on April 26th:

President—Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatric.

Vice-Presidents—Mrs. George W. St. Amant, Mrs. Madison M. Cannon.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. William J. Benger.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. A. O'Brien.

Treasurer—Mrs. E. J. Winslow.

Directors for Three Years—Mrs. Henry S. Dawson, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher.

The Hospitality Committee, Mrs. H. A. Perry, Chairman, deserve the sincere appreciation of those present for so successfully serving refreshments to the very large number at the close of the meeting.

At the meeting of the Newton Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, Mrs. Frank R. Stubbs presented a thoughtful and exhaustive discussion of the subject, "Racial and Economic Effects of Immigration." In opening, she stated that her study had led her to the conclusion that immigration is pernicious to the industrial life of the country, and, therefore, she had treated her subject from that standpoint, although she realized others might differ from her. Reviewing briefly the groups of people who have come to the country, she classed those up to 1783 as colonists, from 1783 to 1880 as early immigrants, inspired by many of the desires as the colonists, freedom from oppression, the love of adventure and romance, and to gain large estate and home where they might settle. The later immigrants, many of them, have come to work in the factories, to gain money and return to their homes in the old country, and, therefore, have not become assimilated and are a menace rather than an asset to the country. Among the reasons which she gave against unrestricted immigration and that these later immigrants are undesirable citizens were: their illiteracy, the pernicious influence of most of their racial newspapers, that they for the most part live in ethnic communities; their lack of intermarriage, their lack of citizenship and the fact that they are taking away or sending home some $250,000,000 each year out of the country's wealth.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM

The Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association (Miss Helen Douglas, principal) gave a splendid musical program on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zoller, 12 Jenison street.

It included compositions by the celebrated composers, Chopin, Schumann, MacDowell, Nivin, Rachmaninoff, Grieg, Leburre, Borowski, which were greatly enjoyed by the large audience who noted the excellent work of the pupils; their technic was very good, the phrasing was admirable, and they played with a great deal of expression.

It was difficult to select the best players because all did so well. Alice James, Jackie Richmond, Charles Schroeder, Miss Hazel Atwood, Campbell Delesdernier, Eleanor and Hartwell Baxter, Miss Ethel Saunders, Janice Upham, Miss Esther Stiles, Thelma Coombs, Miss Eleanor Tracy, Miss Eleanor Martin, Miss Jennette Martin deserve special mention.

Kendall Stiles's recitation, "Music Notes" pleased the audience.

Only a small proportion of the pupils took part in the Recital. The following pupils played: Katherine Barry, Alice James, Jackie Richmond, James Brown, Richard Zoller, Ruth Holbrook, Charles Schroeder, Dorothy Handy, Miss Hazel Atwood, Miss Edna King, Campbell Delesdernier, Eleanor and Hartwell Baxter, Joseph Gillman, Phyllis Harrington, Barbara Tracy, Miss Ethel Saunders, Janice Upham, Miss Esther Stiles, Thelma Coombs, Miss Jennette Martin, Miss Eleanor Tracy, Miss Eleanor Martin.

BACK TO THE SOIL

In these first warm spring days those who have a garden patch are looking forward to the time when they will plough up or spade up their plot of ground. In these early days they must lay out on paper a plan for their garden so that when it comes time to put the seed in the ground they will have some definite idea as to how much seed they need. They are making a study also of the different fertilizers, trying to determine the variety that is best adapted for their particular soil. As an aid to all of this the Newton Free Library offers the following suggestive list of books, —books which will be especially useful during the pre-garden days.

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST"

Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be given by an all-star cast of the Newton Community Club on the afternoon and evening of April 14th, in Players' Hall, West Newton. The same degree of excellence is promised in this production as was attained last year. Some of last year's cast will be seen this time, together with valuable additions. No pains are being spared to make this a first class performance.

THE COPLEY THEATRE—The play at the Copley Theatre next week will be "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," the popular dramatization made by T. Russell Sullivan from Robert Louis Stevenson's story, and acted by Richard Mansfield through many seasons. Not in some years have Boston playgoers seen this remarkable drama, and Mr. Jewett is reviving it in order that the younger generation may acquaint themselves with it, and their elders renew their pleasant memories of it. As a play, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" is no less powerful and thrilling than as a story, and it has received the universal approval of both the public and critics. It will be staged with all possible perfection of dramatic and scenic illusion at the Copley under Mr. Jewett's expert direction, and the entire company will be in the cast.

VOL. XLIX.—NO. 30 NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1921. TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

BUDGET ADOPTED

Aldermen Appropriate $2,463,004.56 for City Expenses in Less Than Two Hours

The aldermen held one of the most important meetings of the year on Monday night and passed the annual budget of $2,463,004.56 after a committee conference of about two hours.

Alderman McAuslan was the only member absent and the usual bunch of hearings were held at the opening of the session.

No one appeared on proposed pole locations of the Edison Co. on Woodcliff road and Perkins street, on a crossover of the Boston & Worcester R. R. on Boylston street, on petitions of Kenley Bros. to sell gasolene at 2099 Commonwealth avenue, of Charles Leonit to sell gasolene at 349 Lexington street, on John W. Blakeney for a 4-unit garage on Court street on the proposed laying out of Rossmere street and on a proposed sidewalk on Paul street.

There was a strong remonstrance made against a proposed 7-unit garage on Eliot avenue on petition of Jos. F. Cobb. Messrs. H. W. Bergfeld, Donald McKay and H. F. Pierce spoke in opposition and Mr. Cobb in favor. A hand vote showed 20 in opposition and but 1 in favor.

Mr. W. L. Vosburgh spoke in favor of a sidewalk on Kimball terrace and it was opposed by a representative of Mrs. Tucker, the owner of the land.

On the laying out of Canterbury road and taking land for a drain from that road, Mr. R. M. Davis appeared in favor and Mrs. Pettee-White spoke in opposition to the present lay out of the drain and suggested where it might be placed.

On the taking of land on Upland road for the proposed site for a sewer pumping plant, Mr. R. T. Fowler appeared again in opposition. This is the third time Mr. Fowler has opposed this project.

There were a number of communications from Mayor Childs, his appointment of J. Arthur Forristal as an assistant assessor in place of Bernard D. Farrell was immediately and unanimously confirmed.

The Mayor also sent in several changes in the budget, most of which had already been considered by the Finance committee. He favored $380 for a box stall in the Willow street stable, $1000 for expenses of Co. H., and various sums to meet deficits in the Buildings Dept. for 1920.

PRELIMINARY RALLY

Last Saturday, April 2nd, the Boy Scouts of Newton and Wellesley met in a preliminary Rally at the High School Gymnasium, Newtonville. Practically all troops were represented, several of them came in full force. Nearly two hundred boys with their scout officers were present.

The following events were held:

The march into the Gymnasium by troops, and the review before Commissioner Benbow, Hon. Commissioner Irwin, and Executive Sharratt, was in tune with scout ideas. NEW PASTOR

Rev. Earl E. Harper Succeeds Dr. Butters at Auburndale M. E. Church

Rev. Earl E. Harper, the new pastor at the Centenary M. E. Church of Auburndale, comes of a ministerial family, both of his grandfathers and his father being Methodist ministers. He himself entered the ministry when a young man in his second year of university work at Nebraska Wesleyan University, of which school he is a graduate.

He made an intensive study of music during his university days, completing the conservatory course as a student of piano, voice, and orchestral and choral directing. For a number of years he spent his summers as director of concert organizations traveling throughout the western part of the United States and Canada.

REV. EARL E. HARPER

In this work he met Clara Lieber, a soprano soloist of rare ability and interested in the musical work of the church. They were married in the fall of 1916.

GIRLS IN SMYRNA

Woman's Association of Central Church Addressed by Miss Mills on Wednesday

About tables very artistically decorated with forsythia, maple blossoms and the feathery green of pine, gathered a large company of women of Central Church Woman's Association for the April luncheon. The blessing was asked by "Mother Eddy," whose fine sons, "Brewer" and "Sherwood" are so widely known and widely loved and who is always a welcome guest at Central Church.

Following the luncheon, which was unusually appetizing and delicious, Rev. M. H. Lichliter offered prayer. The president, Miss Abby A. Miller then introduced Miss Mills from Smyrna, who spoke upon her work in a school for girls in that city.

Miss Mills said that she found even ministers and college presidents seemed to have sometimes a rather hazy idea of the exact location of Smyrna, so she showed its unique position on the map, very graphically describing its geographical advantages and its scenic attractions.

She briefly sketched her personal experiences during the five years which she was forced to spend in the city on account of the war, years of many thrills, such as the explosion of bombs smashing every window in the building, the food shortage, the epidemics and especially the constant fear of the deportation of their Armenian friends, and she very dramatically drew the tragic picture of the Armenian suffering. Her first-hand knowledge of the political situation added interest to her story of conditions in Smyrna though the time was too short to speak in detail of this side of her experience.

Miss Mills made a splendid plea for the need of continuing her school there, saying that it is the only school in Smyrna where girls are taught to be self-supporting, or, as one of them expressed it, "to do things."

Seventy-five per cent of the students become teachers. Others become institution workers, stenographers and municipal charity workers, and various other avenues of usefulness are opened to these girls through this school—not only in their own country, but in America.

In so vast a field, many workers are needed and it is the special desire of the school to send out teachers and social workers to reach those to whom the school itself can not minister. In the school are Turks, Greeks, Jewesses and Armenians, and Miss Mills feels that in this intermingling of the races each is helped to understand the others and to become broader-minded and of clearer vision.

New buildings are now a necessity to replace the old unsightly and unsanitary ones and to raise money for this purpose is a part of Miss Mills's object in her visit to this country.

The association longs to help all good work, and the interest in Miss Mills's address caused keen regret that the year's budget cannot include any considerable gift to her school.

Small donations to the work among the lepers and to an industrial school in Montgomery, Alabama, were voted by the association, and announcement

MINSTREL SHOW

The Hunnewell Club Entertains Its Friends at Two Laughable Performances

The last performance of the Hunnewell Club Minstrel Show was given on Wednesday evening at the club house before a crowded house. As on Tuesday night, several hundred members and their friends filled the hall.

The troupe was under the direction of Mr. Henry P. Curtiss and Mr. Frank P. Scofield.

The opening number was a comedy in one act, in which a ring played an important part and a certain "Orphelia" and "Erastus" managed to make things come their way. The following took part: Mrs. Harry L. Dexter, Mrs. Ralph W. Bartlett, Miss Florence Morford, Mr. B. L. Goodwin, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Mr. G. S. Sprague.

After the play Mr. Wallis W. Webber entertained the audience by clever Hawaiian dances and music.

Mr. Henry P. Curtiss was interlocutor for the minstrel show, the opening number of which was enthusiastically received. The letters spelling "Newton" were held up one by one while the chorus sang the charms of their beloved city.

At the close of this number, Mr. Arthur W. Hollis and Mr. Goldwin S. Sprague made their way through the audience clothed in evening gowns fearfully and wonderfully made, and demanded their faithless escorts. It took some time and tact on the part of the interlocutor before peace was finally established, and "Margie" and "Mirandy" seated upon the platform beside their loved ones.

One of the most popular of the numbers was the male quartet, "Let the Rest of the World Go By." "I never knew anyone so sweet as you" was another hit, especially when the appeal was made to members of the audience.

In "The Girl Who Took Me Home," owners of automobiles found themselves suddenly famous. Mr. Clarence G. Howes in a very clever song showed how the foreigner instead of being assimilated bids fair to assimilate the American-born. The song contained a haunting refrain in which all good things seemed to go to "The Argentine, the Portuguese, and the Greeks."

Other songs which were much enjoyed were: "My Coal Black Baby," by Mr. Henry P. Curtiss, and "Just a Small Car," by Mr. Frank P. Scofield.

Songs were interspersed with jokes and local hits, which were much appreciated and enjoyed by the audience. They were told, among other things, that politics in Newton were "Child's Play," and that the Hunnewell Club was influential because "it still had Powers which Congress had lost."

The following took part in the show:

Interlocutor—Henry P. Curtiss.

End Men—Arthur W. Hollis, Joe Warren Gerrity, Frank P. Scofield, Goldwin S. Sprague, Jasper M. Gibson, David Grant.

Soloists—Wallis W. Webber, Clarence G. Howes.

Accompanist—George Lincoln Parker.

Chorus—George A. Barker, Thomas H. Calhoun, Raymond G. Coppins, Frank B. Cummings, Richard Feakes, Paul W. Hains, Charles H. Morford, Thomas F. Murray, Dr. Leslie H. Naylor, Lewis F. Pike, W. H. Potter, George F. Tracy.

The show committees follow: General Managers, Henry P. Curtiss and Frank P. Scofield. Tickets, Frank I. Peckham. Program, Arthur W. Blakemore and Sterling N. Loveland. Ushers: Frank I. Peckham, Sterling N. Loveland, Philip S. Jamieson, Walter B. Sharp and Frederick N. Peirce.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Burr School

The children are ordering flower seeds, planning gardens in their nature study course and preparing for the Spring.

The eighth grade of the Burr held its class election on Monday. James Armitage was chosen president and Grace Barry, secretary and treasurer.

Our April issue of the Echo will be primarily a Burr School number, and will contain articles on some of our interesting school projects.

Regular ball teams have again been organized for recess play by both boys and girls.

Stearns School

Several of the teachers of the Stearns School spent their vacations on interesting trips. Miss Munn visited in Goldsborough, North Carolina, with Mrs. R. Jack Smith, who was formerly Miss Josephine Baldwin of Newton Centre. Miss McLaughlin enjoyed the week at Atlantic City. Miss Frances and Miss Ion Welsh, who are exchange teachers from California, took a sight-seeing trip to Washington, Atlantic City and New York. Miss Stewart and Miss Keyes were in New York and Miss Eddington in Portland, Maine.

At the rally of Boy Scouts Saturday, April 2nd, at the high school gymnasium, our Boy Scouts, Troop 6, from this district won third place in the knot tying race, and received much applause and honorable mention for its drill work under direction of the Senior Patrol Leader, Joseph Bryson, who has worked long and hard in getting the troop into shape. The troop withdrew from the hall before all point awards had been made. We were informed on Tuesday by boys from Troop 1 that our troop shared second place in amount of points awarded.

Work on trek carts is being rapidly pushed amid a good deal of enthusiasm. We are thinking of placing them on auto wheels.

Miss Frances Welch and Miss Stoddard took their classes, grades VII, to Boston on a history trip.

The places visited were the Old South Church, Old State House, scene of Boston Massacre, King's Chapel and the Granary Cemetery.

They also visited the State House, where each pupil sat in the Governor's chair and shook hands with the Governor.

They are going again very soon to see other places noted in history.

The monthly business meeting of the Girls' Club was held on Tuesday, April 5, at Stearns School. Miss Anna Morrison, president, conducted the business, and appointed a special committee to make plans for the annual banquet, to be held April 26th. The meeting was addressed by Dr. Marguerite Lichtenthaeler of Wellesley Hills, whose topic was "Personal Hygiene." Mrs. Wallace Wales of Newton sang several attractive solos.

The Mothers' Club held their semi-monthly meeting on Monday evening at 8 P. M. at Stearns School. Tickets for a whist party to be held at the school hall on Monday, April 18th, were distributed and plans for the party discussed.

Mason School

School again—after a recess of a week! In the Mason, the attendance on Monday was excellent, only 25 pupils being absent out of six hundred and ten enrolled.

Out of the generous sum collected by the boys from public spirited citizens for athletics already four captain balls have been purchased.

Room nine of the Mason has just elected new officers. They followed the direct primary plan of election.

Nomination papers were filed for candidates, the primaries followed. Geraldine Longwell was chosen chairman for the following month.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

A meeting was held on Monday afternoon in Room 9 of the upper grade boys who are interested in the formation of a school baseball team to represent the school in one of the leagues. It was voted to join the junior league to be made up of the South Side grammar schools. John Proctor was chosen manager and John Simpson captain. The boys are now out in preliminary practice, each one of the twenty-two boys trying to make the team.

At the Monday morning assembly, announcement was made of the offer of two prizes, one to the seventh grade and another to the eighth grade, for the best composition by a pupil on the subject, "The Service Flag," which was recently placed in the school. The prizes are to be $2.50 each. "Little Mary Redcross," owned by Mrs. Frank Fanning, makes the offer. Miss Bragg will serve as judge of the compositions. The compositions are to be ready by May 15.

The Spring class in millinery began a three weeks' course in the Teachers' Library Room on Monday evening. The class is in charge of Mrs. Clancy as teacher.

The tinting of the school hall was finished before the vacation. The Branch Library Rooms and entrances received a share, too, in the general improvement.

Mrs. Rutledge has gone to her home in Vermont and Mrs. Jenkins has succeeded her as teacher in grade five.

Classical High School

After a month of trials, eight of the members of the Boys' Debating Club have been chosen to represent the team in its double debate with Brookline. This debate will be held on the 29th of this month. The subject of the debate is to be: Resolved, that the U. S. should continue its present naval building program. At Newton our team will take the negative side and the debaters will be: Robert Brown, Clarence McDavitt, Robert Spencer, Captain, and Edwin Codman, alternate. At Brookline the affirmative side will be taken by our team and the participants will be: Edwin Loughrey, Captain; Alfred Stafford, Howard Whitmore and Richards, alternate.

At a senior class meeting held last Monday the following were nominated for the two remaining class day officers: Class prophet, Clark Hodder, Homer Tilton and Edward Booth; as class statistician, Martha Carter, Margaret Walker and Constance Parker. The results of the class vote will be known next week.

The monthly meeting of the junior class was held on Tuesday. Complete arrangements were made for the dance which is to be held in the gym this afternoon. The music will be supplied by Noble's 6 piece orchestra.

By degrees Coach Dickinson has eliminated his squad to about thirty members. Practice is being held daily at Claflin Field. The first game will be played with Rindge at Rindge on Saturday, April 9th. A week from this date Newton meets Everett at Claflin Field.

Perhaps one of the most successful and progressive organizations in the school is the Boys' Glee Club. Every Tuesday during the Lunch A period, the members of this club, under the direction of Mr. Walton, rehearsed in the assembly hall. We might add that the Girls' Glee Club, an entirely separate organization, is deserving of as much praise and credit as that of the Boys' Glee Club, if not more. As yet the boys have made no public appearance. Not so with the girls, for they made a complete success on the night of the Girls' Debating Club debate. Who knows that but the boys will appear on the night of April 29?

THE LATE THOMAS WESTON

At the final meeting of the year of the Monday Evening Club, which was held at the residence of Mr. Irving U. Townsend, on Bellevue street, last Monday evening, Mr. Alfred W. Fuller read a very interesting paper on the life of the late Thomas Weston, who, more than 40 years ago, was one of a number of Newton gentlemen who organized this club, and who was always a most active and interested member.

This tribute to the memory of one of Newton's leading citizens is to be enscribed on the minutes of the club and the original paper is to be filed away with many others of historical interest in the possession of this club.

Mr. Fuller's tribute follows:

Thomas Weston, A.M.

Thomas Weston was born in Middleboro, Massachusetts, June 14, 1834. He was the seventh generation from Edmund Weston who came over in the "Ann" and settled in Duxbury in 1632. In the direct line there were four Edmund Westons and three Thomas Westons. The second Edmund Weston moved from Duxbury to Plimpton in 1691 and the house in which he lived is still standing, the oldest house in Plimpton.

Ten of Mr. Weston's ancestors came over in the "Mayflower." Mr. Weston was born in the house erected on the estate of Peter Oliver, the last Chief Justice under the Crown before the American Revolution.

Mr. Weston attended school in Middleboro, graduating at the age of sixteen and at once started teaching school in Carver and then in Plimpton. When he taught in Plimpton most of his scholars were older than he. He was anxious to go to college but his health prevented. He went to the Harvard Law School and was there from 1857 to 1859. He was admitted to the bar in 1859 and was in actual practice for nearly sixty years. He began to practice law in Fall River and was successful there. He was local counsel for the Old Colony Railroad. Looking for greater opportunities, he went to Boston in 1864, and opened an office on Washington street. Soon after he moved into the suite of offices at 42 Court street. These offices were occupied by Rufus Choate for the last ten years of his life. Such was Choate's fame that for years people would call and ask if they might look about the rooms. Mr. Weston occupied these offices for thirty years.

He received the honorary degree of A. M. from Amherst College.

On October 16, 1867, he married Miss Ellen S. Childs of Springfield, Massachusetts. In 1869 he moved to Newton and for over fifty years lived in the house on Franklin street.

He represented Newton in the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1881 and 1882. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the Congregational Home Missionary Society and the Congregational Education Society, a trustee of the Harvard Theological Seminary, also one of the trustees of the Pilgrim Memorial Society of Plymouth, an active member of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, a corporate and active member of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and at one time President of the Boston Congregational Club.

He wrote the life of Judge Peter Oliver, a genealogy of the descendants of Edmund Weston for five generations and a history of the town of Middleboro. He was an earnest and active member of Eliot Church. His Sunday noon lectures before a large class of both men and women was one of the features of this Church. At another time he was the leader of the young men's Bible Class. He was interested in young men and many of them sought his advice. He was a safe and sound counselor.

Mr. Weston was also a book collector. He had a large and carefully selected library which contained some rare copies. He was familiar with the best literature.

The Monday Evening Club was formed November 5, 1880, Mr. Weston being one of the original members. At his death, which occurred on April 17, 1920, he was the last one of the group of men who met forty years before to establish this circle. Mr. Weston was a life-long historical student. His knowledge of the social and religious life of the Pilgrims was full and exact. The titles of some of his papers read before this Club were: "Manners of Living and Social Habits of the Pilgrims from 1650 to 1750." "Shav's Rebellion," "Sir Walter Scott." "The Influence of the French Revolution."

His five minute talks were instructive, such as "The Character of Edmund Burke: His Pre-eminence as a Statesman." "The Hartford Convention of 1814," "The Value of the Study of Biography." Through his wide reading and his interest in history, he brought a great deal of information into this Club. Whether he spoke on Gibbon the historian or Webster the orator, there was the same intimate knowledge and love of his subject. His last paper was on "The Initiative and the Referendum," in February, 1918. His last appearance at the Club was March 17, 1919. He spoke on "Changes of Thought in a Nation, The Pro-Slavery Sentiment in the Forties, and How Much Uncle Tom's Cabin did to Change this Feeling."

His distinguished appearance and his courteous manner made him a welcome guest at all times. It was a pleasure to talk with him in his garden or his library, his chosen environments. The atmosphere of his home was delightful.

It was said of the Elder Earl of Chatham that "when you listened to him you felt that there was something finer about the man than anything which he said." That same estimate is shared by those who have known and listened to this Christian gentleman and our fellow-member, Thomas Weston.

$2,500,000 FOR SCHOOL HOUSES

To the Editor of The Graphic:

At the hearing given by the Finance Committee, Wednesday, March 30, to the Newton Taxpayers' Association upon proposed expenditures of the city for the current year, there appears to be such an astonishing misunderstanding on the part of some of the representatives of the association as to the circumstances attending the introduction of House Bill No. 627, authorizing the City of Newton to borrow $2,500,000 outside the debt limit for the erection of new school buildings, that I feel that members of the association who were not present at the hearing and other taxpayers who may have had the same misapprehension are entitled to an explanation.

In February, 1920, the School Committee brought to the attention of the Board of Aldermen the crowded condition of the schools and the necessity of providing new school buildings. The matter was referred to a joint special committee of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee, which made a report setting forth the crowded conditions in the schools at present existing and likely to be aggravated in the future, and suggested two alternative methods of relief: (1) the enlargement of the high school and the erection of new grade school buildings; (2) the erection of junior high school buildings, which, by accommodating the pupils of the two higher classes of the grade schools and of the lowest classes of the high school, would relieve the congestion in both high and grade schools. The cost of the complete program under either plan would be between two million and two million and a half dollars and would provide ample school accommodations for several years to come. The committee recommended the immediate erection of two junior high schools at the cost of approximately one million dollars. The Committee on Public Buildings, to which this report was referred, recommended the erection of but one junior high school building at the present time, as to erect more than one would exhaust the borrowing capacity of the city.

As a result of these reports a public hearing was held at City Hall, June 7, 1920, to consider the junior high school plan and was largely attended. The matter was then referred to the Finance Committee, which reported that in its opinion it would be inexpedient to appropriate money for one junior high school building until the whole plan had received most serious consideration and until the city was in a position to carry through whatever plan was finally determined upon.

As a result of an informal conference between the Mayor, the School Committee and the Board of Aldermen on July 1, 1920, a special commission was appointed, consisting of three members of the Board of Aldermen, two members of the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools, to consider the matter of the new school program. The undersigned was elected chairman of the commission. The commission felt that the matter was of such importance that the city ought to have the advice of some recognized expert outside the city, to determine whether the city was not already spending too much on its schools, whether any economies in the existing school system could be adopted without impairing the efficiency of the schools, whether the adoption of the junior high school system in Newton was advisable, and if so, how many new buildings should be erected, where they should be located and what features they should contain.

The commission conferred with the Russell Sage Foundation and other educational authorities and as a result, with the sanction of the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen, in November, 1920, engaged Dr. James H. Van Sickle, Superintendent of Schools of Springfield, Mass., an educator of national reputation, to make a survey of the Newton schools and to give the city his advice on the matters in question.

Dr. Van Sickle started on his undertaking at once and has made a most thorough examination of the Newton school system. His report in draft form is now in the hands of the commission and it is expected that it will be received in final form very shortly. In the meantime, the question of being in a position to act in case it was found advisable, as a result of his report, to adopt a definite plan calling for a larger expenditure than could be incurred under the general laws was brought up, and since January 15 was the last day for introducing new bills in the Legislature, the bill in question was introduced. It was, however, expressly and emphatically stated in the Board of Aldermen and, as I supposed, understood by everyone interested in the matter, that in introducing this bill, the board was merely placing the city government in a position where it could act if it saw fit to do so after it had had the opportunity of studying Dr. Van Sickle's report, and that the board, by introducing the bill, did not commit itself to any plan, or any new buildings or any expenditure whatever.

The bill was referred to the legislative committee on Municipal Finance and consideration was postponed to as late a date as possible at the request of representatives of the city. When it became apparent that Dr. Van Sickle's report would not be received in season to be submitted to the public and passed upon by the board in time for action by this year's Legislature, it was of course impossible to press the bill and the Committee on Municipal Finance was so notified and the bill with the full approval of the city government given leave to withdraw.

I was much surprised to learn that some taxpayers supposed that the Board of Aldermen in introducing the bill had sanctioned the expenditure of $2,500,000 of the city's money and took the trouble to record their opposition to the bill. The board, after employing an expert to advise them on the matter, would hardly come to a decision without waiting to hear his advice, or pass without a word of discussion a vote upon a matter with respect to which they have already shown such a strong inclination to proceed with caution and deliberation. The taxpayers may, I feel, rest assured that no action will be taken with respect to the school building program until the public has had an opportunity to examine and study Dr. Van Sickle's report, and until hearings have been held at which the taxpayers of the city, organized and unorganized, have had full opportunity to be heard.

Very truly yours,
PHILIP NICHOLS,
Chairman, Committee on Finance,
Newton Board of Aldermen.

THE ORGAN IN THE LITTLE COUNTRY CHURCH

Strolling down a quiet roadway,
One pleasant summer's day;
I passed the Christ Child's dwelling—
Entered in and knelt to pray.
All about was peace and silence—
My mind seemed lulled to rest,
I had left the world behind me
In this mansion of the Blest.
As I knelt there meditating,
Strains of music caught my ear,
And filled the air above me,
With notes soft and sweet and clear.
Just outside the lofty pine tree,
Nodded to the white barked birch;
Nodded with the soft toned organ
In the little Country Church.
For a moment I was saddened,
Kneeling in the church alone;
As the music floated o'er me,
Toward the Saviour's golden throne.
My lips were strangely silent,
But my heart breathed forth a cry;
That was wafted on the music.
To the throne of Love on high.
Through the window, o'er the pine tree,
O'er the tall and white barked birch;
From the sweet and soft toned organ
In the little Country Church.

J. D. MONAHAN.

MR. CARTER BURIED

The funeral of Russell O. Carter of Churchill street, Newtonville, who was run down and killed by an automobile on Watertown street last week Monday, was held Sunday from the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

After a simple ceremony, at which the Rev. M. H. Lichliter officiated, the body of Mr. Carter, who was an overseas veteran and a member of Newton Post 48, American Legion, was escorted to Mt. Auburn Cemetery by ten members of the Legion, under command of Sergeant Leo Taffe. During the burial three volleys were fired over the grave and taps were sounded.

MILK PRICE DROPS AGAIN

Dr. N. G. Davis of H. P. Hood & Sons said:

"The price of Hood's milk to the consumer is now 15½ cents per quart, a reduction of one-quarter cent over the old price, also we shall continue to pay our farmers the present price for their milk delivered in Boston.

"We have previously stated that as soon as we were able to reduce the costs of handling and distributing our milk we would pass the saving on to the consumer.

"The largest item of expense is labor, which is still at the highest point in the history of our business. In spite of this fact, we have been able to slightly decrease the costs of some other items, which we were fully justified in adding to our present unreasonably small profit, but which we are passing on to the consumer in the hope that it will increase the use of so highly important a food as milk.

"This is the fourth reduction in price we have made to the consumer this year."

GARDEN NEWS STORY

Preparation of the Garden

The preparation of the seed bed has a marked influence on the quality and quantity of vegetables grown in the garden. Almost every garden plot is lacking in humus unless it was seeded with rye or clover last fall. The only means of supplying this deficiency is by a liberal application of well-rotted stable manure. At least one two-horse load for every 1,000 square feet must be applied before the ground is spaded. On old garden plots the soil should be turned completely over to a depth of eight inches. This will bring new plant food nearer the surface, where it will become available for those vegetables that have short, fiberous roots.

The soil of most gardens is somewhat acid and many of the most common vegetables, of which beets are a noteable example, will be of much higher quality if lime is applied every year. Agricultural lime or ground limestone should be worked into the surface of the garden with a rake at the rate of 100 pounds to every 1,000 square feet.

Stable manure is rich in nitrogen and potash, but lacking in phosphorous. In order to provide a well balanced fertilizer, acid phosphate may be applied at the rate of 25 pounds to 1,000 square feet. This can be done at the same time and in the same manner as the lime. Both of these chemicals are very low in cost compared with the ready mixed fertilizers and when used in conjunction with stable manure will give most desirable results.

When manure is not available, it pays to fertilize liberally with a high grade fertilizer containing three to four percent nitrogen, eight to ten percent phosphoric acid and four to six percent potash. It is safest to apply this fertilizer broadcast at the rate of 50 pounds to 1,000 square feet and rake it in thoroughly.

All garden soils contain some plant food, which can only be made available by breaking up the soil into the very finest particles. This means deep and careful spading, a fine seed bed and intensive cultivation while the crop is growing.

WAR SAVINGS SOCIETIES

The Apocac War Savings Society has this week been organized at the Auburndale Postoffice through the efforts of Superintendent J. J. Feerick. W. H. MacMahon has been elected secretary. In forwarding the application for a charter to the industrial department of the Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District, Mr. Feerick wrote that the unusual name, A-P-O-C-A-C, stood for the Auburndale postoffice clerks and carriers.

The Newton Lower Falls station also has organized a War Savings Society, and the application was forwarded by Superintendent W. J. Finnegan this week. Word has come from Mrs. E. C. Murray, executive secretary for industries, that the charters will be issued within a few days.

JOHN BURROUGHS

On the west bank of the Hudson River, a little above Poughkeepsie, is West Park. Though its 1910 population was only 75, yet the residence there of one man, John Burroughs, has made this small place known the world over. Here Burroughs has lived the most of the time since 1874, on a farm, devoting his time to literature and fruit culture. Earlier than that he taught school, was a treasury clerk for ten years and another ten years a national bank examiner.

The first book from his pen was in 1867, when he wrote "Notes on Walt Whitman as poet and person." "Wake Robin," his first out of doors book, was published in 1871. Since then, every few years he has written books about birds, the bees or studies of nature. His Riverby, Woodchuck Lodge and Slabsides, as his various homes are called, are well known to most of us. His long life, most of it in the out of doors, has given us many glimpses of nature which will be read by the generations to come. His books, in the order in which they were published, are as follows:

PERMITS NEEDED

The Newton Fire Department is calling the attention of residents of the city to the fact that they should secure permits to light fires before taking the matter into their own hands. A fine of $50 may be imposed for violation of this rule, and, unless the number of needless alarms decrease, it is likely that prosecutions will follow.

The passage of the annual budget by the aldermen with but a single change in the report of the Finance committee, shows how carefully and thoroly that committee has done its work. The total of nearly two and a half millions is not a cheerful sight for the tax payers, and it is lucky if we have any reduction in the present high rate of $27.20. We can only hope that the receipts from various sources, which have been figured abnormally low, may be higher than estimated and give us some relief in that direction. In the meantime prepare for a $27 tax rate.

We do not believe that the apparently eternal question of labor and capital will ever be adjusted, not to say, settled, until there is a complete agreement that production shall be the unit of measure. Labor unions can do their members no greater service than to aim towards increased production. The public will forgive much, if it can have the goods and the service.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

This has been quite a busy week on Beacon Hill, with many important matters either in committee or before the Senate and House.

Possibly the most important from a Newton point of view was the recommendation of the Tax Commissioner that the 1% additional tax on wages—or business income, which has been in force the past two years should be continued. A great many persons evidently thought that this was an additional tax and had become quite exercised at the prospect. But even when it was shown that it was merely a continuation tax, there was considerable opposition. In the first place none of the receipts from the income tax aids in state expenses, for all of this income, less the cost of collection, must be distributed among the various cities and towns in the state. The 1% tax yielded something over $2,600,000 last year and if again authorized would probably yield over $2,000,000 even under present business depression. If not authorized, it will therefore mean, that each city and town will have just so much less revenue from the state and must, either reduce its appropriations or increase its rate or valuations. To one who is both an income tax payer and an owner of real estate, there will be no escape, he will pay either one way or another. It would seem, however, that it might work out better, if the 1% tax was abolished and the city and town fathers were forced to scrutinize their appropriations more carefully. The Tax Commissioner also had a bill to take 3% of the receipts from the income tax for general state purposes, thus opening up an entirely new field, as it has always been understood that in collecting the income tax, the state merely acted as an agent for the cities and towns. The fear is expressed that if 3% is taken this year, it will soon be easy to take a larger and larger percentage each year, and eventually, the state will grab all the income tax receipts for itself. The Tax Commissioner also favors a reduction in the amount of exemption in the income tax from $2000 to $1500. With over 155,000 income tax payers now on the books this would yield something over $600,000 from this class alone, and of course there would be many thousands of new tax payers, who are now just under the $2000 exemption It is usually a good thing to bring all classes of citizens into personal touch with their government thru a tax bill, and on this line there are many who would favor a further reduction to $1000. While this is desirable, it would hit the man who is now paying on an income between $2000 and $4000 quite heavily, and his circumstances should have some consideration.

The Senate has broken away from its former conservative habit and by a vote of 20 to 15 has passed the anti-vaccination bill. Sen. Naphen upheld the traditions of this district by voting against the bill. Most of the persons who favor this letting down of the bars have never seen, and we hope they never will, a case of small pox. I venture to predict that any one who has ever come in contact, even so slightly, with this loathsome disease will go the limit in every line of prevention in the future. Will Carlton has said in one of his ballads, to the effect that "to appreciate heaven well, man must have some minutes in hell." Let us hope that in our present "heaven" from small pox, we don't forget that "hell" is ready and waiting to take every advantage of our lack of vigilance.

In the House on Wednesday the proposition to return to the state convention plan for party nominations for secretary, attorney general, state treasurer and auditor was badly defeated, altho every canvass which has been made thruout the state showed an overwhelming majority in its favor.

Considerable debate was expected when the vaccination bill came before the House late yesterday afternoon, and there was some question about letting it go over until this morning. On the suggestion that the bill might take its second reading and go over until to-day, a vote was taken and the bill rejected by a vote of 100 to 21.

The House overturned an adverse report of the committee on Wednesday and passed a bill to give disabled veterans a preference for appointment in such places as their disability would permit. It is a matter of regret that there seems to be a radical change in public sentiment in legislation concerning the veteran over what was the case two and three years ago. Then, the veteran could have anything he wanted. Now, almost every bill affecting the veteran is viewed with disfavor. It is a condition not at all creditable to those who have created it.

NEW PASTOR

Mrs. Harper has been soprano soloist here this year. She has become quite well known even thus soon in and around Boston as a recital, concert and oratorio singer. Interested in church work, and especially in children and young people, she is of very great assistance to her husband in his work.

Rev. Harper has served as pastor of Methodist Churches at Emerald, Clatonia, and Murdock, Nebraska, and at Holbrook, Mass. For the past year he has had charge of a special musical program in the Immanuel Methodist Church of Waltham, and has served as a lecturer and director at numerous church schools and conventions. In addition to this he has been assistant to Prof. Augustine Smith as director of the Chapel Choir of the Boston University School of Theology. Of this latter school he is a graduate with the degree S. T. B.

The new minister is known as a progressive and efficient pastor, and as an unusually forceful preacher and lecturer. It is well known that he has been unqualifiedly and unusually successful in the various pastoral charges and in the special work he has undertaken.

CONCERT AT NEWTON HIGHLANDS

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands has arranged a concert for the benefit of the South Side Centre of the West Newton Music School. Pupils from the Centre and from the West Newton Centre will participate. The West Newton Music School has been in existence nearly ten years, while the South Side Centre is only about a year and a half old, so this concert will well illustrate some of the possibilities for advancement. In the two groups we may almost see the "before and after" of the music work.

There are, however, results of incalculable value which appear only upon second thought and whose progress is less easily marked by the casual eye. The music school aims not only to conserve talent with the ever present chance that it may be unfolding genius, but to build character. Shakespeare says, "The man that hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treasons, strategems and spoils." The refining influence of music upon the children and often through them upon the home and the gain by them of a medium of expression for the love of beauty and the ideal, will make finer men and women; while the ensemble work which is free to all pupils is an active force in their development. This offers a wholesome recreation, tending to safeguard from undesirable associations and extending the interest into the community and beyond. It establishes a bond of sympathy between children of different nationalities, it revivifies many homes whose members are from music loving peoples; it replaces self-consciousness with self-confidence, with poise; and it gives practical training in co-operation, that essential of real living.

So it is that the South Side Centre and its parent, the West Newton Music School, are moulding future citizens. From the very nature of the work, that is providing opportunity where there was none before, the school can never be more than partially self-supporting, but must be the ward of the community whose children it is training. It is doing its part; we in the community must surely do ours.

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS

Monday, April 4, was a busy day for Troop Committees. The members of the Local Committee for Troop 1 met with Mrs. P. B. Howard, Newtonville, and the Local Committee for Troop 2 met with Mrs. Welles Holmes, Newton. Both of these committees made arrangements for the collection of articles for the "Trash and Treasure Sale" which is to be held in Boston, 583 Boylston street, on Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16, for the benefit of the Massachusetts Girl Scout Summer Camp. Newton hopes to send a fine donation of both Trash and Treasure to this Sale and the committees are helping the Scouts in every way possible.

On Tuesday, April 5, the Girl Scouts of Troop 1 with a small delegation from the West Newton Troop had the pleasure of greeting Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, who is chairman of the Educational Committee for the National Council Girl Scouts. Miss Arnold spoke before the Newtonville Women's Guild on Tuesday and the Scouts of that village were invited to be present at the opening of the meeting and to salute Miss Arnold when she was introduced. It was a very happy occasion for the Scouts, and they were delighted to be able to see, if only for a minute or two, the lady who has done so much for every Girl Scout in America.

"Vacation Time" is "Hiking Time," and this was proved true during vacation last week by many of the Troops. Hikes were in order and in spite of cold winds and cloudy skies the girls started off on their walks and good times and as no rain fell to dampen their spirits, all the Hikes proved most successful. The following Troops have reported these good times. Other Troops have had them, but no report has been received at Headquarters about them as yet.

Troop 2—Vacation week was also Good Times week for the Girl Scouts of Troop 2: On Monday, 32 Scouts, including officers, went to the Brookline Swimming Tank. Some of the girls went just for the fun of swimming, while others went to prepare for the Swimming Merit Badge. Six automobiles were provided by members of the Troop Committee or Mothers of the Scouts, so that the girls besides having a fine swim enjoyed a short automobile ride.

As this is the time to begin work for the Bird Hunter Merit Badge, on Tuesday morning Lieutenant Ball and five girls who hope to receive this badge went on a hike to look for birds. They took the car to Newton Lower Falls, walked through Quinobequin road to Upper Falls, through Hemlock Gorge and across Echo Bridge, but as it was a windy day, only a few birds were seen.

Instead of having a regular Scout meeting on Thursday during vacation, another good time was planned for Troop 2 by Captain Redfield. Three officers and twenty-eight Scouts went on an all-day hike. They went to Wellesley on the trolley and from there they walked two and one-half miles to Nonesuch Pond. On reaching their destination a big camp fire was built, over which each Scout cooked her own lunch. Games were played and then the girls hiked back to Wellesley, where they took the trolley home.

Troop 3—In spite of threatening skies on Thursday, March 31, 16 girl Scouts of Troop 3 started for a Hike to the Quinobequin Camp ground. Courage was rewarded and the skies cleared. Each girl brought her own lunch to cook, so the menu was varied with cocoa served to all and cooked by Scout Louise Paul. Some of the Scouts had their first lesson in map-making, while others played games. It was a fine time.

Troop 5—On Tuesday, March 29, thirty Scouts from Troop 5 went on a hike to Nonesuch Pond, between Wellesley and Weston. All rode, some in the trolley and others in automobiles from West Newton to Wellesley, then a two mile walk brought them to an ideal spot for camping. The first girls to arrive gathered dry wood for a fire, which was built under the shelter of a little hill rising above the lake. By the time all the girls had arrived the fire was well started and it did not take long to make cocoa, fry bacon and potatoes, pancakes, and, last of all, to roast marshmallows. Games followed luncheon and then just before leaving for home the girls walked part way around the little lake. It was too windy to see many birds, all the scouts were on the lookout for them, but the day was a great success and the girls are hoping for another hike soon.

Troop 7—The girls in the Upper Falls Troop went on a hike on Thursday during vacation week. They walked from Upper Falls, through the Quinobequin road to Lower Falls and from there to Norumbega Tower by the way of Weston. This was a real hike, about six miles, and as it was the first hike of the season for Troop 7, the girls were glad when the Tower came in sight. After luncheon, which was eaten on the bank of the river, the girls chose sides and had a baseball game. The "Red Sox" won with a score of 38 to 19, Captain Freeman acting as umpire. When this exciting game was finished, the girls rested a while and then walked back to Weston Bridge, where they took the trolley home, tired but happy.

THE LATE G. FRED SIMPSON

The following resolutions upon the death of G. Frederic Simpson were adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Newton Savings Bank, April 5, 1921.

G. Frederic Simpson died on March 31, 1921. He became a corporator and trustee of the Newton Savings Bank in January, 1899, and in January, 1907, was chosen its vice president. These positions he held until his death.

With sincere sorrow we realize that he will not again meet with us, that we shall no more receive his genial and kindly greeting and can no longer rely upon his sound judgment and helpful advice.

Be it, therefore, resolved, that in the death of G. Frederic Simpson we have lost a faithful officer, whose sterling integrity, wise counsel and loyal service have endeared his memory to all who were associated with him.

Resolved that these resolutions be spread upon our records and that a copy be sent to his widow.

IT WILL HELP NEWTON

AND NEWTON PEOPLE

Mortgage money is very scarce and hard to find. There is a strong, active demand for it by people who want to buy or build in Newton. This bank is helping to the full extent its resources permit. It could do more if more Newton people would deposit their savings here. There is a lot of savings account money, owned by Newton people, but deposited in out of town banks. Some of it is caught in closed banks. We urge you to keep your savings here where they will be safe, ready when wanted and helping Newton people

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

"Every club a training camp for citizenship and Citizenship Day to be made an annual event, a solemn time when all new citizens are impressed with their responsibilities and their privileges as voters in the world's greatest commonwealth," is the plan being proposed by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, chairman of the department of American Citizenship, and former president of the General Federation. It is suggested that this day be made a part of the July Fourth celebration. "No matter what other celebrations are listed, let a part of that day which commemorates the time when American citizenship became an actuality in the world, be given to a noble welcome extended by the whole community to the boys and girls who have come of age during the year and to the foreign born who have become citizens." Referring to the foreign born, Mrs. Pennybacker suggests: "Our aliens bring rich gifts. We turn them away with a hostile look and a cheap nick-name for their nationality. The alien who becomes a citizen of the United States should feel the dignity no less than the knights of old, who prepared for the rites of knighthood by fasting and prayer."

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, the present president of the Federation, in commending this new observance, says: "There should be a procession and flags; there should be music for your feet to march by; there should be wise words uttered on the meaning of citizenship in this greatest of all democracies; there should be a proud welcome given by dignitaries of the community in the presence of massed crowds of relatives; and the generation a little older, the young men who fought for the land, should be there to point the onward hand to the newer Americans.

"This is much more than a show and a procession. It is a symbol with all the tremendous significance that symbols have in human understanding, of both the meaning and the continuity of America."

In Massachusetts, the State Federation is referring the matter to the Civics department and urging the clubs to take it up at once by consulting local authorities to see whereby the idea may be incorporated into local celebrations.

After the meeting, the club chorus will hold a food sale, where attractive cake, bread, pastry, etc., may be purchased to the mutual advantage of the club and the chorus. This meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 12, in the Congregational chapel.

stars of theatrical Newton, and no pains is being spared to make it one of the best productions ever seen in this city. Miss Sally A. Cutler is in charge of the tickets. Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett is in general charge of the play, and Mrs. J. J. Bosdan has secured fine musical talent for that part of the program.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will have a Recreation Day on Saturday, April 16, at the home of Mrs. F. H. Stratton on Glenmore terrace. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock. The committee in charge of the afternoon's program is very secretive as to its plans, so the members are awaiting developments with much curiosity.

Local Happenings

"Some of Newton's Needs" proved a very interesting topic as it was worked out at the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club at the home of Mrs. Andrew S. Woods on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Celia Wellman told of her probation work and Miss Mabel C. Bragg spoke most encouragingly of the work of the schools. Mrs. Ralph E. Hatch, Mrs. John N. Eaton, Mrs. Natt W. Emerson, together with Mrs. Woods, were the hostesses for the afternoon.

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed to the full the delightful musical treat given by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bryant and Mr. Belinsky at the meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club on Monday evening last. The program opened with a group from Grieg for violin and piano by Mr. and Mrs. Bryant. Mr. Belinsky, 'cellist, followed with a group of Chopin selections. The rest of the numbers included two ensemble groups and another by Mr. and Mrs. Bryant.

Mrs. Edward J. Frost was hostess for the meeting of the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday morning, when three charter members of the club gave the Story of Newton from early times down to the present day, speaking of its growth territorially, of its many interests and of some of its prominent citizens. Mrs. Samuel W. Dike, Mrs. Henry G. Hildreth and Mrs. Charles E. Kattelle were those who had part.

Lincoln Hall was crowded to overflowing on Tuesday afternoon with daughters of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, come to enjoy their own special day. The first play, "Nick Buster's Trick," was given by small children, mostly under twelve years of age, then followed a dance, The Daisy Chain, danced by twelve little girls in dainty yellow and white costumes, similating the flower. The second play, "A Gypsy Girl of Hungary," was presented by older girls. All the parts were beautifully taken and reflected credit upon the committee in charge, of which Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne was chairman. Miss Hazel Sands drilled the dancing. At the close the children of the audience filed around the hall in two lines to receive their refreshments in the shape of ice cream cones. The performance will be repeated on Saturday, that the boys who were debarred on account of their sex on Tuesday, may also have their chance to see it, and incidentally the proceeds of this latter performance will go to swell the Community Building Fund.

Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean emeritus of Simmons College, addressed the Newtonville Woman's Club at its meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Under the topic, "Preparing the Women of Tomorrow," Miss Arnold discussed in reality the girls of today. Her talk took up four strands which she said must be woven into the fabric of the girl's life in the future — individuality, motherhood, wage-earner and citizenship. Miss Arnold believes strongly in allowing a girl to have her own individuality and to work out her own salvation herself rather than in directing it too rigidly, for it is through the strength of her individuality that she will become a power for good. The speaker made an urgent plea for the importance of a girl's learning something by which she may be able to take care of herself, if the need arises. Miss Arnold in referring to the newly acquired possibility of citizenship, vouchsafed the opinion that the girl will on this account take the greater pains to inform herself upon the problems awaiting her.

The Girl Scout Troop were present for a short time to honor Miss Arnold, who is National director, by giving her their salute.

The Newton Social Science Club held its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning, when the program for the coming year was discussed and various matters of business were transacted. The club voted to enter a protest at the State House relative to billboards in Newton.

Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett then concluded her paper on Modern Drama with a sketch of Clyde Fitch, who was characterized as a New York dramatist rather than an American one. His plays are of New York life, often written with a particular player in mind, they are filled with clever, spontaneous dialogue, and were written to amuse and entertain. They have a steady and wholesome influence. He is never bitter, though sometimes cynical. She spoke of his untimely death at the age of forty-five and stated that he wrote some 60 odd plays, as well as four volumes of fiction. She analyzed a number of the plays, including Nathan Hale and Barbara Frietchie. Mrs. Fawcett also read four of her brother's poems.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell, a former president of the Social Science Club and earlier president of the Brightelmstone Club of Brighton and Allston, was elected president of the Wednesday Morning Club of Boston at its recent annual meeting, but does not assume office, according to the club's custom, until the close of the present season. This club was the outgrowth of a section of the New England Woman's Club in its early days. It celebrated its Golden Anniversary two years ago.

FOLLIES OF NEWTON CENTRE

For the Benefit of Social Service League of the Newton Hospital

Newton Centre sees her Follies, and heartily enjoys the sight. Last Saturday the Newton Centre Neighborhood Club undertook to show the village the folly of her ways in a series of jolly and picturesque episodes. The entertainment was the result of the faithful work of nearly a hundred young people, and the fun of the rehearsals and the plentiful opportunities for new friendships realized one of the underlying purposes of the club. The financial results, too, were very satisfying, as several hundred dollars were collected for the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital.

One of the artistic features of the entertainment was the new black curtain which formed the background before which the entire program progressed like an animated poster. Carefully planned lighting and simple changes in decoration gave the necessary changes of atmosphere without the long waits that change of scenery usually require.

The Follies ranged from drama, through "eye and ear entertainment" to frank burlesque, so the tired business man, the intelligent gentlewoman, his wife and their daughter home from college all found something to interest them.

Among the "Follies" noted were "The Folly of Meddling," Dorothy Speare (Director), Helen Howes (Leader); "The Folly of Affording a Ford" and "Fashion Follies." The latter was directed by Miss Marion Taylor. The following took part: Elizabeth Clark, Ruth Underhill, Marion Kelsey, Winifred Moore, Sylvia Burdett, Elizabeth Snow, Esther Pratt, Katherine Wilkins, Dixie.

"Two Crooks and a Lady," originally produced by the 47 Workshop of Harvard, was full of clever characterization. It was ably acted by the following: Charles Weeden, Jr., Mrs. Lawrence May, Dorothy Taylor, Dorothy Blood, Aldrich Taylor, Philip Wilder. The director was Miss Dorothy Taylor, the coach Mr. H. A. Tomlinson and the stage manager Miss Eleanor La Bonte.

Miss Priscilla Ordway did a clever bit of work in the "Kitchen Police," and the Spanish Fantasy and Balloon Ballet were much enjoyed. The following took part in the Spanish Fantasy: Gertrude Crafts, Harriet Weston, Winifred Moore, Elizabeth Clark, Frances Stevens, Lois Dowley, Emily Woods, Martha Weeden, Madeleine Weston, Cornelia Holmes, assisted by Dorothy Speare and directed by Hazel Sands.

Miss Dorothy Speare made a decided hit with her reminiscences of Farrar and Galli-Curci.

The committee in charge of the whole were: Business manager, Louise Walworth; Finance, Helen Chapin; Publicity, Georgia Nutting; Program, Madelaine Dowd; Posters, Emily Woods; Social, Barbara Cooke; Refreshments, Charlotte Copeland; Head Usher, Margaret Perry; Scenery, Margaret Wilkins and Adams Rice; Lighting, Hassler Capron; Dancing, Hazel Sands.

The director was Miss Priscilla Ordway.

TREMONT THEATRE. — Fiske O'Hara, everybody's favorite actor-singer, returns to his native hearth on Monday, April 11, for an engagement of two weeks only in his greatest success, "Springtime in Mayo." This romantic melody drama is in three acts, written by Anna Nichols Duffy, and, as its title suggests, its scenes are laid in Ireland.

"Springtime in Mayo" is a play with a story to tell and the skill to make it alive, a swiftly moving drama of real men and real women, told with a swing and vigor of expression which go to the making of an appealing and stirring play. The role assigned to Mr. O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo" is one of the best in which he has ever appeared and cannot fail to add greatly to his popularity. Always a strong feature of his performance, his exceptional tenor voice will be heard to advantage in a number of new songs. The scenic investiture is complete in every detail, while the bringing together of the clever supporting company is in itself a notable achievement.

THE NEWTON CLUB

About 110 ladies attended the Easter luncheon and bridge at the Newton Club on Wednesday. Great praise is due to Mrs. W. H. Graham and her committee consisting of Mrs. Hubert Ripley, Mrs. F. G. Shipper, Mrs. William Osborne, and Mrs. John McKeon for their untiring efforts in making the rooms and tables so attractive.

The rooms were decorated with purple, lavendar, yellow, and orange streamers hanging in windows and doors. The tables were tastefully trimmed with lavender sweet peas, calendolas, and jonquils. Several baskets of roses were placed in different parts of the room, and baskets of forsythia hung in the doorway. At each place at the table were tiny yellow baskets in the shape of eggs drawn by little yellow chickens.

Praise is also due to the following ladies who served the guests so efficiently: Mrs. G. B. Woodcock, Mrs. Carl Wells, Mrs. Winthrop Scudder, Mrs. A. Wellman, Mrs. Joseph Cryan, and Mrs. Herbert Sumner, Mrs. Eleanor Ranchor, Mrs. Kenneth Holbrook, Mrs. Roy Collins, and Mrs. Miller.

After luncheon, the guests adjourned to the upstairs where cards were played. The whist was in charge of Mrs. Henry Nash. The following were the winners of prizes: Mrs. Harold T. Sherman, Mrs. M. C. Taylor, Mrs. Harold Chamberlain, Mrs. Clarence A. Wentworth, Mrs. Seifert Smith, Mrs. L. B. Bennett.

On Monday a very successful April Fool's Dance was held at the club. The "matrons" were Mr. H. R. Bankart, and Mr. Joseph Cryan. The ushers were Mrs. Arthur B. Quimby, Mrs. Joseph Cryan, and Mrs. Herbert Sumner. Among the "stunts" enjoyed was a cotton-filled cake served with the refreshments.

Tomorrow the club is to be entertained by the Waban Neighborhood Club.

NEWTON CENTRE COMMUNITY WORK

Father and Sons' Night at First Church—On Monday evening, April 4, over 100 fathers and sons of the church attended a supper at the church. Mr. Eugene F. Banfield acted as toastmaster. Mr. S. G. Morse responded for the Fathers, and Mac Arthur Noyes for the Sons.

Following the supper the group was entertained by Messrs. Baird and Stafford of Caines' School of Health exercise at Boston. Mr. Baird demonstrated his skill as a sleight-of-hand artist by mystifying fathers as well as sons. The second part of the entertainment was a demonstration of the Japanese system of wrestling known as Jui Jitsu. As a form of self-defence there is nothing to compare with it but as a sport it is far too dangerous.

Plans are now being made by the Boys' Work Committee for a Father and Sons' Outing on Saturday, May 7th. While the plans are still incomplete, it is proposed that as many as can get away spend the day at Mr. W. C. Brewer's camp at Millis. The committee will appreciate the use of a number of automobiles for that occasion.

The Older Boys' Council is planning a Monster Field Day for Saturday, May 14th. It is proposed to include Newton Highlands and perhaps some boys from Upper Falls in this meet. Entry blanks will be ready for distribution early next week and early registrations are urged.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

SUCCESSFUL DEMONSTRATION

Of its Physical Work Given at Newton Y. M. C. A.

There were a large number present to witness the annual demonstration of physical work at the Association on Thursday evening, April 7th. Many parents of the boys were especially interested in the marching and drills in which all classes took part. More than 100 were in the grand march.

Great credit is due the physical directors who trained the classes in the drills and games which were given by the junior A and junior B classes. These comprised the first few numbers on the program.

Next Mr. Leary, Community Secretary, demonstrated a number of games which required very little equipment to make them interesting to groups of boys.

Mr. F. D. Fuller, Chairman of the Physical Department, presented Philip Perry, captain of the Junior B's, with a shield which indicated that his team had made the best record. The following boys were presented with certificates for winning a large number of points in the National Hexathlon Contest: Joseph Macpherson, Louis Leverone, Albert Woodward, Victor Piantidori, Nigel Pattershall, Edward Flinn, Richard Breed, Edwin Wickes, Gordon Kenison, and Edward Underhill.

In the Junior A class the contest ended in a tie and the captains and members of each team were presented with emblems. Captain Breed and Captain Macpherson deserve great credit for the splendid record made by their teams.

The senior class led by Messrs. Carling and Doubleday then did some very fine work on the apparatus ending with a number of pyramids which were unusually well presented. Those taking part in the pyramids were: Physical Director Carling, F. E. Doubleday, Raymond Van Buskirk, Donald Cunningham, Herbert Frazier, Frank Thomas, Thomas Noonan, Henry Vuilluimier, and Jerry Arsenault.

The Dutch Dance by Walter Macdonald and Gordon Kenison was well received as well as the Clown Dance in which the following men took part: Messrs. Van Buskirk, Vuilleumier, Cunningham, Macdonald, Irving, Cady, Doubleday and Carling.

The clown afforded amusement for everyone and showed unusual all-around ability by the fine work he did on all sorts of apparatus. This part was taken by Ronald Davis, now Boys' Secretary at Fitchburg, Mass.

Music was furnished by Haynes' Orchestra. Those who witnessed this exhibition realized the fine work which has been done by the physical department during the past year, and great credit is due Mr. Carling for the fine showing made by those who took part. He was assisted by Mr. Doubleday and Mr. Van Buskirk.

Miss Florence Walsh, who plays the piano for all classes during the year, played for the marching, class-work, and for the dancing.

REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE

Given by Newton Choral Society at Central Church, Newtonville

The Newton Choral Society with its chorus of 150 and its orchestra of 50 players who have been rehearsing for the last two months gave a truly remarkable performance at Central Church, Newtonville, on Monday night. Both orchestra and chorus are strictly community affairs, and the orchestra, which is a well-balanced band containing all the instruments of a full symphony, is entirely non-professional.

The opening number was a selection from Bach, "Zion Hears Her Watchmen's Voices," rendered with the solemn dignity and poise, for which Bach is well known . In this number, Miss Lillian West assisted at the organ.

The second number was, "The Heavens are Telling," from Hayden's "Creation," in which each part in turn takes up the theme reaching a splendid climax at the end. The solo parts were rendered by Miss Marion Kings-

LADIES' NIGHT

At Dalhousie Lodge of Masons an Enjoyable Affair

Tuesday evening, Dalhousie Lodge, F. & A.M., held its Annual Ladies' Night at the Masonic Temple, Newtonville. Dinner was served at 6.30 and the large banquet hall was completely filled, more than 350 enjoying a fine spread by Paxton. The tables were decorated with cut flowers and between the courses favors consisting of fancy hats, colored balloons, rattles and horns and paper fans for the ladies were distributed. Dalhousie Song Sheets were passed around and the Colonial Orchestra, who had their bright costumes, the fancy hats played during the serving of the dinner, furnished the accompaniment. The long lines of tables, the ladies in and colored balloons, together with the table decorations, made a beautiful picture and the horns, rattles and other noise makers started the fun for the evening.

After the dinner the guests ascended to the Lodge Room where an excellent entertainment was provided, consisting of organ selections by the Dalhousie organist, Kenneth S. Usher, songs by J. Garfield Stone and out of the ordinary impersonations by H. R. Pierce of the Boston Lyceum Bureau. After the entertainment the guests returned to the banquet hall and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

The party was splendidly planned and executed and the Wor. Master, Robert D. Diggs, Jr., received many compliments upon the success of the evening, all declaring it to be the very best Ladies' Night in the history of the Lodge.

SURPRISED

Telephone Employees Show Their Appreciation of John H. Gordon

While Mr. John H. Gordon of Commonwealth avenue, formerly District Traffic Manager of West Newton District of the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., was entertaining some friends at his home Friday night he suddenly received a call from the Newton Catholic Club, telling him that his presence at the club was urgently needed. Jumping into his machine, Mr. Gordon hastened to the club, and was told that he was wanted in the main hall. As he entered the hall, he was greeted with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and found himself surrounded by about 300 people, comprising his former working force, gathered to tender him, a surprise party and farewell reception. The "victim" was completely taken by surprise at the suddenness of the greeting, and for some moments apparently lost his usual self-control.

He was escorted to a chair on the stage, and then, while the operators, clerks, and others who had been under his direct supervision cheered themselves hoarse, Assistant Traffic Manager Myron Williams, in behalf of the entire force presented Mr. Gordon with a handsome leather chair. Mr. Gordon, when the cheering subsided, responded to the presentation with a few well-chosen remarks, in which he thanked those present and absent for their loyalty to him in business and for their friendship for him out of business.

Telephone employees were present from every exchange in the West Newton district, namely, West Newton, Centre Newton, Newton North, Brighton, Wellesley, Waltham, Lincoln and Needham.

Following the presentation a number of musical selections were offered, including vocal solos by Elizabeth Coady and Mary Rycroft of West Newton, Mary McGovern and Miss Hennessy of Newton North, and Agnes Kane of Waltham.

Mr. Gordon was recently transferred to the Dorchester district, the largest in Greater Boston, but he will still retain his residence in Auburndale.

Congressman Robert Luce has taken over the work as chairman of the Committee on Elections No. 2. Robert H. Kempton of Waltham will act as clerk of the committee and Ray A. Manning of Newton Lower Falls will be his assistant.

PREACHES FIRST SERMON

Rev. George L. Parker Comes to Newton Centre Unitarian Church

The Rev. George Lawrence Parker, formerly minister of the American Church in Petrograd, began his pastorate in the Newton Centre Unitarian Church Sunday. He was welcomed by a congregation that filled the church.

"The testimony is universal that a badly adjusted world has suffered shipwreck," he said. "That old world was not totally wrong; there is no need to join the pessimists who say so. But it was a badly adjusted world. We had increased the pressure of the steam in our boilers but had forgotten to inquire whether or not the machine itself could stand the increased pressure.

"In social practices we have been living under twentieth century pressure with only fifteenth century minds. In education we have been trying to turn out twentieth century minds from moulds that were cast in the middle ages. And in religion we have continued to use phrases and still more tragically to cling to certain submerged and half-understood ideas that in our hourly and daily consciousness never once touched us personally.

"Our real personality had far outstripped our expressions of faith, yet we were half ashamed to say so.

"The result has been that the thing the modern world has most needed has been just the thing she has been robbed of, namely, some unfailing supply of character that could form the casing and the background for the magnificent power opened to us by modern science and thought, the pressure not only of our inventions but the enlarged vision of thought that naturally has accompanied those inventions.

"Somehow we let the age get ahead of us. It ran quickly and ran far and because we were afraid to follow we lagged behind dragging our weary and almost dead body of faith. Like straggling children we cried out our complaint, because we could not keep up.

"Out of childlike spiritual weariness, homesickness and vast human discontent came an avalanche of criticism. We became critics of each other, backbiting neighbors, despisers of other nations, and of God. And out of this came war. War was bound to come out of it, for war was in it.

"The hopeful sign now is that we realize as never before that there must be renewed or created a new spiritual speed, power or faculty, call it as we please, to match our mental pace and our mechanical ingenuity. 'We cannot live half slave and half free'; the material freedom of our day and its

Before a large audience in Central Church parlors, last Friday evening, Rev. James L. Barton gave a very illuminating account of the London conference, which he attended as a representative of the American Missionary interests.

Dr. Barton apologized for the very gloomy view of the situation which he was obliged to take to give an honest expression of his own opinion of the matter. He said, in part:

"This conference was called to settle the Turkey treaty and the indemnity to be required of Germany. Five great countries were represented—England, France, Greece, Japan and Italy."

Dr. Barton insisted that Armenia should be given a hearing and succeeded, although nothing was settled for the relief of the unfortunate people. Nothing was done to protest against the Armenian and Greek atrocities, now going on, if reports are true, in almost as terrible a horror as during the war.

England is busy at home, France is withdrawing troops because of the great expense of maintaining her army. Italy, in selling guns to the Bolsheviki, is really furnishing arms to fight France. England is constantly suspicious that France and Italy are seeking favor with Turkey. There is no settlement of the Turkish situation from the Dardanelles to the Caspian Sea, from Mesopotamia to the Persian Gulf.

On every hand Dr. Barton heard the cry, "We need America in this conference." There is no philanthropy among the five nations represented. Each one is trying to get what it can, to hold all it gets and to get more if possible. The moral issue must be presented by the United States. Questions are being settled not on the basis of right, but on the basis of might. It needs a great, strong, mighty, altruistic nation to stop such a method of settling matters of the gravest importance to the whole world.

There was a short discussion after the address, during which Dr. Barton suggested that such men as Mr. Taft, Mr. Hughes, or Mr. Root, would surely find some way in which the United States could have a part in the conference without committing herself to any part in the "League," if they were given the privilege of doing so.

Dr. W. E. Strong had charge of the meeting.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

There are altogether about 350 registered Boy Scouts under the Norumbega Council, which has jurisdiction over the City of Newton and the Town of Wellesley. These boys are divided among eleven Scout Troops, all in charge of volunteer workers who are vitally interested in the welfare of the boy.

One of the best troops is that of Newton Corner, Troop 11, under the direction of Scoutmaster Jerome M. Carley, and Assistant Scoutmasters John M. Woodbridge, Henry Stafford and Raymond W. Swett. At the present time thirty-three boys attend regularly the meetings which are held every Friday evening at 7.30 in the Bigelow School. Boys of twelve years of age are always welcome.

Last Friday evening, April 8, Troop 11 gave a demonstration and entertainment in the Assembly Hall of the Bigelow School. A large audience greeted the scouts and an enjoyable time was spent by all. Troop 11 has other plans in mind that will interest any boy who loves the out of doors and is anxious to learn as much about nature as possible.

An Officers' Hike will be held this coming Saturday, April 16th, starting from Needham Town Hall at 2.30 in the afternoon. It is planned to hike to the "Ohio Region" where a suitable camp for Scouts and Officers, and Councilman of the Norumbega Council Boy Scouts, will be constructed. With this camp constructed, any Troop of Scouts along with its Officers will be able to spend several days with nature. It will be something concrete with which to work, and every Saturday should see a large body of scouts on the hike to this region of rocks, trees, etc.

POLICE NOTES

Sergt. Seaver's campaign against alleged auto thieves resulted in bringing into Court on Wednesday the cases of Vincent Barrett, 18, of Melrose street, Auburndale; James A. Ryan, 17, of Charles street; Thomas J. Malloy, 15, of Lexington street, Auburndale; James Paul, 16, of Auburn street, and Daniel Broadman, 16, of Wildwood avenue. Barrett's case was continued to the Juvenile Court. Ryan, Malloy, and Paul received suspended sentences to Shirley, and Daniel Broadman was put on probation.

As the result of a quarrel Tuesday night over the location of a new fence, Jacob Mandinian, 36, of 20 Williams street, Upper Falls, and Donald Kavarian, 38, of 32 Williams street were in Court Wednesday morning, on charges of assault and battery and disturbances. It was alleged that Mandinian tried to strike Kavarian with an ax, and that they fought 15 minutes before the police arrived. They were both taken to the station. Mandinian paid a fine of $50 and Kavarian appealed a fine of $10.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Newton Club practically cinched the championship of the Newton League Wednesday night when it won three points from Cochato, while Maugus, the runner-up, split even with Commercial of Brockton, Middlesex Sportsmen's Association won three from Hunnewell, while North Gate made the only clean sweep of the night, against Waban Club.

There is only a bare possibility of Maugus winning the championship. If Newton loses all four again Waban and Maugus makes a clean sweep against Cochato the title will go to the Wellesley club.

ALUMNI DAY AT FESSENDEN

Saturday, April 9th, was Alumni Day at Fessenden. It was more than that,—it was the most successful alumni reunion the school has yet witnessed. Alumni from nearly every graduating class since the founding of the school returned once more to Fessenden for the general get-together. They thronged onto the field and into the buildings, criticising, approving, or marveling at every new institution which met their eye. The school was no longer a school of the present, it was a school of the past. Faces of the past were moving everywhere, voices of the past resounded in the air, and tricks of the past were played on masters of the past. True, there were many modern humans in the assembly, but they, rather than the others, seemed to be the ghosts—ghosts of the future, for very few of those who returned could believe they had ever left the school. They felt that they were still studying, playing, striving at Fessenden, and the present students appeared as a dim prediction of what Fessenden would become after they had departed.

But to return to the material phases of the celebration. Most of the graduates arrived about three in the afternoon, so that a baseball game might be played with the School team. This was accomplished, resulting in a victory for the Alumni. Superior pitching (a natural thing in an older boy) quite apparently did the trick. The School team was completely baffled, and did not score a run after the Alumni "cyclone" had entered the box. They had managed, however, to score eight runs before that time, and if the game had been called at the right moment, the score would have read 8-5, in favor of the School; but all pleaders for a cessation of hostilities were immediately squelched, and the Alumni collected four more runs before the game was brought to a finish.

After the game and before the supper, nothing of particular interest to outsiders occurred. To the alumni, however, this was the best part of the reunion. Old friends rediscovered one another, old times were discussed, and a general feeling of satisfaction was created. Tea served by Mrs. Fessenden, just as in the old days, rendered that feeling absolutely complete.

At 6.45 the business meeting was held in Hart House, where many propositions were brought up and discussed, but none adopted. The alumni then attended prayers, together with the school body, and once more tried their hands (or rather, their throats) at singing the Fessenden song. The result was hearyt and sincere, though perhaps not entirely melodious.

Immediately afterwards came the banquet, a most delicious meal, though it was probably enjoyed more because of the company than because of the ingredients. Speeches came in their order, delivered by graduates from all walks of life. There were pessimists and optimists, men who whispered and men who bellowed, but they all spoke mainly of one thing—the great worldly service rendered by the Fessenden School. The class of 1921 was present during the speeches, and listened attentively to the advice of those who know what every Fessenden graduate must meet and contend wtih in future life.

MISS BRAGG SPEAKS ON HEALTH EDUCATION

At the meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Second Church on Tuesday Miss Mabel Bragg, assistant superintendent of the Newton Schools, spoke on "Co-operation of the Parent with the School in Conserving the Health of the Children." She introduced her talk by stating that we were no longer trying to teach children for the development of faculties, as formerly, but we aim to teach them to meet the conditions in which they find themselves training them not only to know what to do, but to do it.

She showed posters made by pupils in their regular English and Drawing work with health subjects such as "Drink more milk," Eat more fruit, etc.

The importance of measuring and weighing was emphasized—pupils are weighed monthly.

Three places in the United States stand out prominently in the health movement: Utah, Kansas City, Mo., and Newton.

In connection with the special Health Classes for children—is the work of the school nurse who goes tactfully into the homes where the need of instruction to parents is essential. The establishment of a daily dental clinic in Newton is to be noted with great interest—and will aid much in this effort to make this the slogan of our town.

Miss Bragg's address will be given in full in the near future.

LINCOLN PARK BAPTIST CHURCH

A reception and recognition service will be given by the church to its new pastor, Rev. Fred W. Peakes, on Wednesday, April 20th. Hanson of the First Baptist Church of Charlestown, Prof. W. N. Donovan, of Newton Theological Institution. Rev. Leopold R. Hass will preside.

MR. HENRY I. HARRIMAN SPEAKS ON "SOME OF THE INDUSTRIAL REQUIREMENTS OF NEW ENGLAND."

The last supper of the season was held at Eliot Church on Wednesday night. More than 200 people were present. After a very enjoyable musical program by Miss Davidson and Mr. Burns of Atlantic, Mr. Henry I. Harriman, the speaker of the evening, was introduced. Mr. Harriman spoke on "Some of the Industrial Requirements of New England."

The speaker began by a brief survey of the chief features of the Treaty of Versailles, because, he said, these had a vital effect on the world today. The three problems dealt with in this treaty, Mr. Harriman said, were the question of reparation, the securing of safety, and the question of boundaries.

The first, according to the speaker, should have been settled not on the basis of money, but, on the basis of labor and materials. As for the second, the League of Nations, based as it is on the use of force, is simply a league for enforcing the terms of the Allies. In regard to the third, the settlement of boundaries according to the "self-determination of nations," is the utmost folly. This theory utterly disregards natural boundaries and is a great blunder.

New England at the present time is suffering not only from the war, but from mal-adjustment. The essential requirements of industrial New England are an abundant supply of fuel and power, and free transportation.

Of all of the available methods of transportation for New England the route by way of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River is the most important. More tonnage passes through the Erie Canal than through the Suez. This route extends 1,000 miles. A great organization has recently been formed by the governments of Canada and the United States to study the enginering problems connected with this route. The difficulties connected with Niagara are already overcome so that in two years the largest vessels can go from Erie to Ontario. There remains only the problem of the St. Lawrence rapids.

The power of the St. Lawrence is to be made available by means of three dams created at a cost of two-thirds of the cost of the Panama Canal. Although the cost will be great, the amount of energy will be equally great. The cities of New England are 600 miles from their coal supply. The amount of power which they will receive by means of this new project will put New England on a par with the coal-bearing cities of the West.

This tremendous power will be shared with New York, and will be used in three ways, namely, for railroads, public utilities, such as light and heat, and industries. Enough power will be released to turn every wheel in New England. A direct water communication will be established between the cities of New England and those of the Middle West which will enable products to be sent by water instead of by rail at about one-half the present cost.

Some cities fear for their export trade, but selfish considerations on the part of any city should not stand in the way of a project which is for the good of two great nations—Canada and the United States.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY GIVES A REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE

bury, Mr. Paul Welsch, and Mr. Paul Scarborough.

The climax of the evening was "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" by Coleridge-Taylor. The orchestration of this piece is particularly interesting. It has a wild barbaric character, and a peculiar rythm characteristic of the Indian dance which was admirably brought out by both orchestra and chorus.

There are two distinct themes—the Pau-Puk-Kee-Wis theme or motif, and the Chibiabos theme. The former is the one with which the wedding feast begins. It reaches its climax when the "young and handsome Pau-Puk-Kee-Wis," beloved by the women and the children, dances the Beggar's Dance. Music and words are so closely blended by the composer that one can almost see Pau-Puk-Kee-Wis with his "plume of swan's down, in one hand a fan of feathers and in the other a pipe," and feel the wind "like a whirlwind" driving the sand which he has tossed up in his dancing.

Preceding his dance, we have a beautiful section descriptive of the wedding guests, of Hiawatha, and of Minnehaha, and of the elaborate course dinner of the feast, served "in silence."

In contrast to the wild abandon of Pau-Puk-Kee-Wis, is the second theme, the song of "the gentle Chibiabos—the sweetest of all singers"—a song exquisitely lovely in its melody, accompanied by the wood instruments. This song was sung by Mr. Paul Welsch who received a hearty and appreciative encore.

Lastly, Iagoo, the "great boaster," the "marvelous story teller" is called upon. After his "tale of wonder," the guests depart leaving Hiawatha "with the night and Minnehaha." Little by little the songs die away, the orchestra grows fainter and fainter, until the last few measures in which there is a sudden return to the original theme ending in a crashing finale.

No composer has ever interpreted Indian music as has Coleridge-Taylor, and the "Songs of Hiawatha" are the result of years of sympathetic study and understanding.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. William Lester Bates, the conductor, for his careful training of both chorus and orchestra. Much credit is also due to the members of the orchestra. Many of whom had never played together before, and to the chorus for its interpretative work.

The third concert of the Newton Choral Society was a success to be proud of, and the society is looking forward to even greater things another year when it is hoped the orchestra may become a permanent part of the society.

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS

Officers Association organized. On Wednesday evening, April 13, the officers of the seven Troops of Girl Scouts which are organized in this city, met for the purpose of starting an Officers Association. The meeting was held in the supper room of the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, at 6.30 o'clock. Eighteen of the twenty-six officers eligible to belong to this Association were present. From Troop 1, Miss Mary Kimball, Miss Gertrude Ernst; Troop 2, Newton, Mrs. Walton Redfield, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Anne Gustin; Troop 3, Newton Centre, Miss Priscilla Ordway, Miss Hetty Smith, Miss Catherine Gates; Troop 4, Waban, Miss Cornelia Holmes, Miss Ruth Ayers, Miss Elizabeth Burnham; Troop 5, West Newton, Miss Caroline Freeman, Miss Mary Sprague, Miss Helen Potter; Troop 6, Nonantum, Miss Ethel Freeman, Miss Katherine Howard; Troop 7, Upper Falls, Miss Martha Wieczorek, Miss Madeleine Everett, Newtonville.

After supper, Miss Freeman, the Local Director of the Newton Girl Scouts, told the Officers why she had called this meeting and laid before them the advisability of organizing an Officers Association. She spoke of the Captains Association which has met monthly for the past two years and of the benefit that the Captains have derived from these meetings. It seemed wise to enlarge the Association and include all Commissioned Officers and give them the benefit of these meetings. Stress was laid on the object of the Association: 1, To promote interest, and co-operation and friendly feeling among the Officers. 2, To add to the efficiency of the Girl Scout work in Newton.

The Constitution and By-Laws were read and adopted and a nominating committee appointed to report at the next meeting when officers for the coming year will be elected. It was voted to meet once a month.

After the business of the meeting was finished Miss Jeanne Kenrick spoke to the Officers on the Merit Badge Tests. Miss Kenrick is chairman of the Court of Honor for the Newton Girl Scouts and has charge of having all the tests given to Scouts who are trying to obtain Merit Badges. This is a difficult and complicated piece of work and Miss Kenrick has put much time and thought on it. Over 200 Merit Badges have been awarded to the girls in the different Troops since the first of January. Miss Kenrick brought to the Officers some suggestions in regards to the tests and the preparation for them which were made by the experts who give the tests. These suggestions and the conference which followed Miss Kenrick's talk will prove of great value to all who were present.

Troop 2. On Thursday, April 7, Troop 2 (Newton) held a sale in place of the regular Troop meeting. The purpose of the sale being to raise the Troop's quota for the Hoover Fund. Each of the Patrols had charge of a table. Patrol A had a food table, Patrol B, Silhouettes, Patrol C, Variety, Patrol D, Candy, Patrol E, Grabs. Besides these tables there was a Fortune Teller's booth which proved very popular. Members of the Troop Committee were present at the different tables during the afternoon and were of great assistance to Captain Redfield. The decorations were springlike, yellow crepe paper and large bunches of forsythia. The sale was most successful, the proceeds being eighty-five dollars, part of which will be sent to the Hoover Fund and part kept for Troop use.

The Acorn Dramatic Club of Troop 2, will present "A Virginia Heroine" in Channing Church Parlors on Friday evening, April 15, at eight o'clock. Candy will be on sale and there will be dancing after the performance.

Report of Troop 5.

On Tuesday, April twelfth, the Scouts of Troop Five met in the parlors of the West Newton Congregational Church. After the Business Meeting the Hostess, Millinery, Basketry and Bird classes met. The girls of the millinery class having finished making small hats from frames and straw braid, started to embroider large hats with wool.

Captain Stanwood of Wellesley and Miss Moore of Newton Highlands visited the meeting and offered some helpful suggestions for the Tenderfoot work.

After the class work, the girls marched with the Drum Corps and then the Troop was divided into four teams for a Relay Race.

At the close of the meeting plans were made for raising money for the Hoover Fund.

On Thursday, a large truck left West Newton loaded with articles for the Trash and Treasure Sale which is being held in Boston Friday and Saturday this week for the Massachusetts Girl Scout Camp. All the Troops have been collecting these articles and they were all sent to West Newton and from there taken all together to Boston. It was a fine collection of things and will add very materially to the sale.

spiritual bondage are impossible bedfellows.

"The church's great task now is to recall man's homing instinct back to God, to take his homesick soul and renew it by fuller contact with the ideals of Jesus. A homesick world is fit for any crime. But a world that sees the sunbeams of God playing across all its dark floors and rafters, a world that follows the example of

REV. GEORGE L. PARKER

Jesus and plays and toils in the sunlight unabashed, unashamed, unafraid, is fit to face all of its problems, strong enough to win its major battles, and able to hand on to the folk who come after us the glittering story of man's sonship to God.

"Only the church can finally tell this great story, this winsome revelation, to men. The church may have lost her seat of authority but she has given up the post of queen to take the post of the mother. She has abdicated her autocratic power in order to become the Servant in the House. She can no longer issue unchallenged orders as captain of the ship but she may take if she will the seat of stroke oar in the great boat called Democracy, and set the pace for the full crew of all our forces of civilization.

"The test of the church is not whether she dominates men's theories or theologies, but whether or not she fellowships with them in life's tasks and dreams, hopes and aims.

"The authority of Jesus is coming now into its new and best phrase. It is, as it was in Galilee, the authority of fellowship, the command that comes from doing the same tasks together, living the same life, marching along the same dusty roads toward the same goals.

"The church may cheerfully abdicate her autocracy, and do so without fear if she will assume the full authority of genuine democracy, 'Not as having dominion over faith, but as helpers of the world's joy.'"

For the last three years Mr. Parker has been engaged exclusively in lecture work before Chatauqua, lyceum, commercial and college audiences, traveling widely in New England and the states east of the Mississippi river. He was in Petrograd from 1905 to 1908, and was subsequently minister of the Crombie Street Church in Salem and the Broadway Congregational Church in Somerville, where he assisted in the union of that society with the Winter Hill Church. He is a graduate of Yale.

ANCESTORS

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
Would you be proud of them or not,
Or don't you really know?
Some strange discoveries are made
In climbing family trees,
And some of them, you know, do not Particularly please.

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
There might be some of them, perhaps,
You wouldn't care to know.
But here's another question, which Requires a different view—
If you could meet your ancestors,
Would they be proud of you?

The greatly increased use of the automobile has created a public demand for wider streets and the rounding of corners at dangerous places. At first glance this seems to be the proper solution as the wide street apparently remedies the evil and at the same time appeals to our sense of civic pride. But the real evil—the dangerous rate of speed of the automobile—is not reached in this way, and indeed it is undoubtedly true that is is even increased through the open invitation of a more open road. Some believe that the remedy lies in purposely neglecting our roads, but this appears to be a case of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face. Let us suggest that the trouble at dangerous corners might be somewhat decreased if the road bed as it approaches such places, is constructed of rough cobble stones so laid that a rapid moving machine would be liable to break a spring unless speed was reduced. We understand that this suggestion has never been considered by road builders and it would seem as if it might be tried at the junction of Walnut and Beacon streets in this city, where the proposed widening will cost many thousands of dollars.

When the people of this country learn that the unit of measure should be that of production and not hours, or wages, or working conditions, then, and not till then, will we have a solid basis on which capital, management, and labor can stand together.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The House has had a busy time this week, largely over the fate of one measure, that to allow voluntary organizations to sue or to be sued. Organized labor has formed the opinion that this bill was aimed at them, and has mustered its cohorts accordingly and opposed the bill at every stage, both by debate and roll call. Three roll calls were held on one day, besides the vote on the final passage yesterday. A roll call was demanded first on an amendment to specifically exempt labor unions from its provisions, and which was defeated by about 100 majority, 59 votes being cast in its favor. On a motion to refer to next year, 90 voted in favor to 129 opposed while on its passage to third reading the vote was 100 to 117. Yesterday on its final passage the vote was 98 to 116. All three of Newton's representatives voted for the bill.

The present law recognizes but two entities, the individual and the organized corporation. A voluntary organization, like a club, or syndicate, can only be reached by service on each one of its members—and in large bodies it is not only difficult to reach every member, but it is also expensive. The new law will allow the voluntary association to be reached through its officers, just as an organized corporation is now treated. It is a most reasonable bill and the opposition of organized labor is most unwise.

There was also considerable debate over the bill to require Boston school teachers to have equal pay for equal work. The bill, while defeated on a standing vote, was passed by a vote of 111 to 100 when a roll call was demanded. Later in the week it was defeated on a voice vote, without enough votes to require a roll call. This bill appeared to me to be merely one other step to give school teachers the rights which belong to them, and which have been partially recognized in the recent increase in pay of both men and women. It also appeared that a woman teacher in the same study and with the same number of pupils as a man teacher, received from $500 to $700 less compensation. Also that women principals having charge of one or more male teachers, supervising and laying out their work, were paid some $500 less than their subordinates. For these reasons, I supported the bill, although both my colleagues voted in opposition.

SORE THROAT EPIDEMIC

A septic sore throat epidemic broke out in town last Saturday and Sunday, many people being affected. The first cases made their appearance late Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday the cases were reported to the Board of Health in considerable proportions. Steps were immediately taken to investigate and handle the situation. Investigation seemed to indicate that milk was responsible for the trouble, and as a result one herd of cattle was immediately placed under observation and one cow in this herd isolated. Investigation by the local Board of Health under Inspector Maurice Dineen, who is receiving the co-operation of the State Board, is still under way.

Up to Tuesday, when the last case to date was reported, some 28 cases were brought to the attention of the health authorities, the majority coming in on Sunday. No new cases have been reported since Tuesday. It appears that the trouble has been promptly located and remedied, and within a few days it is expected that the definite cause of the epidemic will be ascertained.

SCHOOL NOTES

Bigelow School

The banner class in attendance for the past four weeks is Miss Rose Coyle's. Their average is 99.7 per cent—a rank so unusual as to reflect great credit upon the class.

The Girls' Captain Ball Teams are playing their Spring series of games. From the best players on each of the three teams, a school team will soon be formed.

Miss Allen, who had charge of the Festival at the Burr Playground last summer, will be at the Playground every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday to supervise the play activities of the girls.

The Directors are planning a Spring Festival, in which the girls of different clubs and societies will give demonstrations of work accomplished through club activities, and the boys will contest in sports and games.

At an election held last Tuesday, Robert Schliephake was chosen captain of the Bigelow Baseball Team, and Frank Stubbs, captain of the Junior Team.

The Bigelow Social Committee arranged an attractive program which was given in the school hall this afternoon. Miss Dyer's class contributed a series of bird sketches illustrated by lantern slides, especially showing those birds which imigrate to New England in spring and early summer. Eleanor Rackcliffe sang "The Little Damosel," accompanied on the piano by her brother, Jack; William Duly gave some bugle calls; Harry Wardell recited a poem, and Miss Tewksbury's class gave a play entitled "The Traveler and the Hatchet."

The Bigelow is developing a promising baseball team. Yesterday the practice game played with the Horace Mann resulted in a score of 13 to 12 in favor of the Bigelow. Schliephake, captain, pitched.

Miss Doris Ayres and Miss Alice Tompkins being chief among the latter dressed as the famous Gold Dust Twins. Miss Eleanor Mills and Master David Osborne received prizes for dancing. Refreshments were served.

HONOR SHOULD BE AMERICA'S

Washington Man Really Was the Frst to Demonstrate Possibilities of Wireless Telegraphy.

A dentist living in Washington, D. C., invented, patented and demonstrated wireless telegraphy before Marconi was born. Had it not been for the attitude of big newspapers and the stubbornness and lack of vision of congress, this country today would be enjoying the honor, distinction and credit of presenting wireless telegraphy to the world. The name of this comparatively unknown inventive genius is Mahlon Loomis. Back in the sixties and seventies he eked out a modest living by plugging molars and making "store" teeth for the politicians and social leaders of Washington. Doctor Loomis called his discovery "aerial telegraphy." His first public demonstration was made in 1866 from the two peaks of the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia, some 18 miles apart. From each peak an ordinary kite was elevated, connected with an insulated copper wire attached at the lower end to a telegraphing apparatus. The operators of each party were provided with telescopes, with which they could sight from one station to the other and read the signals. When all was in readiness a message was sent by the doctor along the wire of his kite, and was received at the station on the other mountain top just as though the two kites had been connected with a wire in the ordinary way. In this manner communications were kept up until the fact was thoroughly demonstrated that telegraphing could be done as readily without as with connecting wires.

DOG RELAYS CALL OF 'PHONE

Well-Trained Animal Said Never to Make a Mistake in Notifying His Mistress.

Not far from Boston lives a dog by the name of Timbuctoo, a dog which has never been trained but which of its own accord acquired a "trick" which besides being clever is decidedly helpful. His home is on a farm, which is served by a seven-party telephone line. The call at Timbuctoo's house is five bells, or as the toll operator would say, "Ring five." Wherever his mistress is when the telephone rings five times Timbuctoo will go to her and give five short, sharp barks. He has never been known to make a mistake either by barking more or less than five barks, or by calling his mistress when the bell rings some other call.

In order to "show off Timbuctoo," his mistress asks a neighbor to call her in a few minutes, then she goes somewhere out of range of the telephone, and Timbuctoo never fails to give proof of his trustworthy summoning.

Cadets' Great Ride.

Two hundred and fifty senior cadets of Victoria, B. C., have recently completed a 1,400-mile ride on bicycles, bearing dispatches from the state commandant to the minister for defense. The small riders averaged more than 14 miles an hour, and they completed their task 6 hours and 23 minutes ahead of schedule. This fine performance roused public interest in the new system of cadet training, which has taken the place of the monotonous drill-yard evolutions. Australia is training its youngest soldiers in camaraderie, self-sacrifice, alertness and a love of athletics. The story of the 1,400-mile ride against unexpected obstacles has set a standard which will not be easily forgotten by the Australian boy. While the dispatch ride has done much to direct attention to a happier system of training, it has also served to awaken the interest of fathers and elder brothers.

Eggs From the Orient.

A train of 25 cars, loaded entirely with Japanese and Chinese eggs, left Vancouver, B. C., the other day, bound for New York. The train was made up of nine carloads sent over from Seattle to be attached to sixteen carloads of eggs from the steamer Empress of Russia. The eggs from Seattle were delivered by Japanese liners. The eggs, with the exception of 1,500 cases for London, England, and 1,000 cases for Montreal, were all consigned to New York. The shipment to the latter point consisted of approximately 17,500 cases of 30 and 36 dozen each, or about 6,500,000, more than an egg for breakfast for every man, woman and child in New York city.

Economy Carried to Excess.

A short time ago, on seeing a man who was sitting beside me in a cafeteria "get away" with a large hamburger sandwich in three bites, all "mind your own business" policies were cast aside and I remarked, "You must intend to catch an out-of-town train; you are in such a hurry."

He came back with, "Oh, no. You see every one's stomach requires a certain amount of meat and it is known that by gulping it it takes longer to digest. As meat is high I eat this way and by so doing I have to eat meat but every third day."—Exchange.

Past the Academic Stage.

"Should women smoke?" asked the man who likes to theorize.

"That isn't the question any longer," said Mr. Gadspur.

"No?"

"What we've got to decide now is whether or not the additional fire risk caused by women smokers will justify the insurance companies in raising their rates."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CITY WAITS TO BE CLOTHED

Jerusalem Far From Being Restored to the Glory That Has Been Promised Her.

The view of Jerusalem as one leaves the Garden of Gethsemane draws the heart with sympathy. The walls rise severely above bare slopes where nothing grows, for it is outside of the city proper that Biblical prophecies of the desolation of Jerusalem seem to be fulfilled.

Today the city stands midway between the horrors of the Turkish regime and the promised good of the British mandatory rule. Nothing has been done as yet in a public way to beautify the city. North and west the houses straggle outside the walls; on the south forbidding slopes border the road to Bethlehem, and on the east lies the terrible Valley of Jehoshaphat—a valley of dry bones, William D. McCracken writes in Asia Magazine.

Seventeen times destroyed—bitterly hated, anxiously sought—how desperate a history since Nebuchadnezzar captured it more than 25 centuries ago!

Redeemed today, but in her nakedness, Jerusalem waits to be clothed. She has as yet no grace; no covering for her ugly wounds. Some day her sides will glisten with the brightness of a heavenly radiance; she will be washed and anointed like a bride waiting for the bridegroom.

NOT REALLY A DEFORMITY

Young Housewife Had Something to Learn Concerning the Physical Structure of a Duck.

They dined out the other evening with some friends, where roast duck was the principal dish. Husband seemed to enjoy it so much that the little bride decided to surprise him with a similar treat at their next day's dinner, although she had never cooked one in her life.

The next morning when the duck arrived she proceeded to finish the cleaning, when suddenly she stopped and going to the telephone, she called up the butcher and told him she wanted some one to come after that duck right away, as she would not keep it.

"Why?" asked the butcher.

"Because it is deformed," she replied, "and I could not eat a single mouthful."

"But," said the perplexed man, "I personally cleaned that duck, and I thought at the time I had never seen a finer one. Just where is it deformed?"

"Why," she said, "on its windpipe is a hard growth that looks just like a shell."

As soon as the choking butcher could control his voice he called back: "Heavens, woman, that is the thing it quacks with."

Novel Solution.

A lot of mystery still clings to the Chinese in New York, despite metropolitan influences. Often the whole personnel of a Chinese restaurant or laundry will change overnight, and you can't find out why or where the others vanished to. It may be they gamble for them.

Not long ago a man who had been patronizing a Chinese laundry so long they didn't give him a check for his wash called for his shirts and collars and found one of those strange overnight changes had taken place. No one knew him, and his check was demanded. He raved and argued in that exasperatingly futile way so well known to one who has tried to talk to a Chinaman.

Finally he had an inspiration, took off his collar and showed the Chinaman the laundry mark in their own hieroglyphics. He got his bundle.

How Children Help.

American school children, through the agency of the Junior Red Cross, are making possible the teaching of trades to the children of Albania. The first vocational training school in that country is located at Tirana. It was established by representatives of the Junior Red Cross of America and is being maintained by that organization. In addition to providing machinery and equipment for this school, the Junior Red Cross is supplying books, maps, globes, pencils and all sorts of school supplies to the public schools, which were stripped of all equipment during the war. Particularly entertaining and instructive to the Albanian children are the colored pictures sent overseas by the American children.

Diversity of Immigrants.

The immigrants passing through Ellis Island last year represented 53 different nations, according to a recent statement on the social work of the island. Some of the difficulties of the 15 social workers who meet these people can be imagined, even though each worker speaks several languages herself. The social work of the island is directed by Col. Helen Bastedo of the Department of Labor in Washington, and one of her assistants is a member of the staff of the foreign-born division of the national board, Y. W. C. A., a Czecho-Slovak by birth, and a social worker with experience in both Europe and America.

Supply and Demand.

"Were things very high at the summer resort where you spent your vacation?"

"Yes, very high—everything except [illegible]. A glass of ice water cost a dollar, and [illegible]."

Post-Mortem Jokes.

Quite an interesting article, we fancy, could be written on "The Humor in Wills." For example, take this passage from the will of Lord Pembroke: "I bequeath nothing to Lord Say, because I know he will bestow it upon the poor." Or this: A Lancashire gentleman bequeathed an ounce of modesty to the editor of the London Journal, explaining the small quantity by saying that he was "convinced that an ounce would be found more than he would ever make use of."—Boston Transcript.

House With Straw Walls.

A house with walls made of compressed straw has been erected in Paris. The framework of the building is of wood and the sides are filled in with blocks of tightly compressed straw, which are stated to be as hard as concrete and just as inflammable. Owing to the lightness of the materials only small foundations are needed, and a house of this kind can be built in a month. The idea of using straw in this way is attributed to a French textile engineer.

Love Works Miracles.

The cure for all ills and wrongs, the cares, the sorrows and the crimes of humanity, all lie in the one word "love." It is true the divine vitality that everywhere produces and restores life to each and every one of us, it gives the power of working miracles if we will.—L. W. Child.

A VIEW OF SECRETARY WEEKS

The following extract from a newspaper article in which various members of the President's cabinet were interviewed may be of interest to friends of Secretary Weeks in this city:

"Secretary of War next on the list. Full-length portraits in his offices of Gens. Pershing, Bliss and Petain. Many flags, historic ones (presumably) in glass cases. Heavy build, Secretary Weeks, very wide across the middle. Straggling mustache, drooping. Very direct and business-like in manner. Entered room saying: 'Well, there are a number of things I have to tell you gentlemen.' Frank and positive in his statements and denials. Stood twisting a key-ring as he talked. Wore neat pin in tie. When told that the war department was supposed to have such and such a thing under consideration, he replied, tapping himself on the breast, 'Not this part of the war department.' One questioner sought to obtain from him a more direct reply to a question that had been put to the secretary of the navy. He answered, 'I know nothing about the navy.' When there was nothing more apparently that he had to say, he concluded the audience very deftly.

"'He's a different guy, ain't he?' was one correspondent's observation as we passed out of the room. 'One of the biggest men in the government,' he added. 'Gives the impression of knowing as much about that job now as Baker did when he left.'"

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The Civics department of the State Federation, in urging the clean-up and paint-up week of the spring, is also warning clubs not to forget the message of fire-prevention. The numerous fire-alarms in Newton during the past few weeks should be a suggestive reminder that too much care cannot be taken in this matter. Clean-up by all means, but let us not burn up valuable property in so doing. Clubs may well look about them and see that the corners and by-ways and back-ways are picked up and the rubbish disposed of. They will find much that needs to be cleared out of the way, if they but look about them. The present method of collecting the rubbish needs to be looked into to see if some better way cannot be devised. At present, when barrels of loose papers are placed upon the sidewalk on the afternoon previous to the city teams coming around and a high wind is blowing, it is not strange that these same papers are scattered everywhere except where they should be, and as a consequence, every hedge and side street is gradually becoming a dump. Here is a job which may well challenge the ingenuity of some civics committee to solve. The one who succeeds will receive the gratitude of every thinking citizen of Newton.

State Federation

Wednesday, April 27. Presidents' Conference at Westboro. The Presidents' Question Box will be a part of the morning program. Questions should be sent to Mrs. George Minot Baker, Elm street, Concord, not later than April 23rd. Tickets for luncheon should be secured not later than April 23, by sending sixty cents with self-addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. William M. Buxton, 23 West street, Westboro. An extra section will be attached to the 9.15 A. M. train from Boston. Returning train leaves Westboro for Boston at 3.35 P. M.

Newton Federation

The meeting of the Executive Board, which would regularly fall upon April 18, has been postponed one week to April 25, owing to its proximity to the holiday.

Local Happenings

On Thursday afternoon of last week Mrs. Grace M. Poole gave the closing talk before the Newton Community Club upon current events, in which she summed up conditions over the world, reviewing the happenings at Washington during the eight years of the Wilson adminstration and surveying conditions abroad in their bearing upon this country. The course has been extremely popular and the members are hoping that arrangements may be made to secure Mrs. Poole for another year.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer was guest of honor and speaker at the meeting of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle on Thursday, April 7, when she gave the members one of her charming talks upon "Thrift," impressing them with the new meaning of thrift, that it is not merely saving, but also the wise spending of one's resources and the wise use of all one's possessions. There was a short business meeting before the talk, and afterward tea was served during the social hour under the direction of the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Batstone of West Newton, chairman.

The annual meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on Monday was a celebration of the clubs Twenty-Fifth Anniversary. A delicious luncheon was served at one o'clock by a most efficient group of hostesses, of whom Mrs. John Cranston was chairman. Mrs. Francis W. Davis was toastmistress of the occasion, and in her charming and witty way introduced the various speakers,—all former presidents of the club. Letters were read from those who were unable to attend.

At the business meeting, which followed this feast of good things, the various annual reports were read and accepted. The following gifts were voted: Consumers' League, $2; Welfare Bureau, $10; West Newton Music School, $20; Newton Hospital Social Service League, $20; Frances Jewett Repertory Theatre Fund, $5. An appeal was made for any records for the wounded service men at the West Roxbury Hospital. Any one having any such to spare will kindly leave them at Rhodes' Drug Store. Announcements were made of an extra lecture on currents events by Mrs. W. C. Crawford on April 29th.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Dana M. Dutch; vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Congdon; recording secretary, Mrs. George F. Reinhardt; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Walter E. Brown; chairman of entertainment committee, Mrs. Robert W. Moore.

Several interesting announcements were made at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club held on April 12. The Education committee offer their scholarship fund for the coming year to any eligible Auburndale student, and ask the advice of club members in awarding the scholarship. On April 28, the Literature committee has arranged for the club to attend the matinee performance at the Copley Theatre, together with the tea which follows. A thrilling presentation of the plans for the "Durant Incorporated" Club House was made by Miss Crawford.

Tickets for the luncheon, which is to precede the Annual Meeting on Tuesday, April 26, were on sale, and may be procured of any member of the Hospitality committee. On Friday, April 22, Mrs. Perry will be at Keyes' Drug Store from 2 till 4 P. M. This will be the last call for tickets, none being sold after that date.

After the room was darkened for Mr. Madison's pictures, all other issues were forgotten as the speaker led his audience through New England highways and byways in search of our birds at home. To a rare amount of scientific information Mr. Madison adds both the skill of the artist, and the interest of the dramatist. On his screen the birds not only appear in their varied and distinctive beauty, but they actually live their dramatic lives. No wonder so many young people are being converted to an under-

Boys' Department Notes

On Friday, April 1, a party of 25 boys in charge of Eric Bang, Ray Van Buskirk, and "Doc" Doubleday, visited Bunker Hill Monument. All brought lunches and through the kindness of those in charge of the monument were allowed to eat in the waiting room. The top was a good climb, 294 steps, which was a small-sized hike in itself. After looking over the surrounding country it was time to start for home, where all went into the swimming tank for a big swim.

On Saturday, April 2, a group of boys under Wilson Weidner and "Doc" Doubleday went to Wakefield where they competed against Wakefield's stars in basket ball, high jump, checkers, pool, and ping-pong. The boys making the trip were: Gordon Kenison, Philip Perry, Frank Perry, Maynard Moody, Arthur Foster, Albert Holdridge, Howard Barnes, Henry Farrell, Alfred Morrissey, Robert Lucas, Fred Becker, Melville Westgate, Wallace Macpherson, and Edgar Dilbier. Wakefield won everything except ping-pong, Moody for Newton winning from both of Wakefield's stars. The basket ball game was hotly contested from start to finish, the final score standing Wakefield 21, Newton 14.

Mr. L. D. Gibbs gave a very interesting talk at the Fellowship Club on Monday evening, April 4. His subject was Advertising, and he spoke of honesty and service as two great factors in successful advertising.

Mr. J. S. Ferris won the billiard tournament, defeating Mr. Govan, on last week Tuesday evening; Mr. Govar winning 2nd place. These gentlemen each won a game and were undefeated by the other contestants so the deciding match drew quite a crowd of interested friends.

The first game of the season on the tennis courts was played on Wednesday evening, Dan Lamson having the honor of opening the season.

D. A. R.

Mrs. William Brisbane Rand of Newton Centre, regent of the Old Blake House Chapter, D. A. R., of Dorchester, gave a most interesting and fascinating talk at the last meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter of the D. A. R., held at the home of Miss Ward in Newton Highlands. Mrs. Rand has collected many rare specimens of antique jewelry, especially earrings, and she gave a paper describing the wearing of earrings by the various peoples of the world, and then devoted the remainder of her time to showing her specimens and describing them, beginning with the Etruscan, calling attention to its fine gold work, then showing some delicate carving on cameo and lava pieces. She also had some wonderful specimens of hairwork and some beautiful painted porcelains. The members became very enthusiastic and recalled some of their own treasured heirlooms. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Rand at the close of the meeting.

A BUSY PLACE

Soon the roof garden of the Hotel Westminster will be opened to the public, and elaborate plans are already being made for the entertainment of the patrons this season. If the warm weather continues the "Roof" will have to be in readiness much earlier than usual and Proprietor Coulon says he will give the patrons a better program of entertainment along all lines than he has ever done before.

Edward McCarthy, Mr. Coulon's manager, is at present in Atlantic City inspecting some high-class talent which he hopes to introduce to the Boston public.

The phenomenal success of the Winter Garden as shown by the heavy attendance every evening, together with the unusual number of class and club dinners and other functions, has kept the Westminster as busy as a beehive right up to the present moment.

NEWTON LODGE, I. O. O. F.

Members of Newton Lodge of Odd Fellows are looking forward with eagerness to the night of May 27th, when the degree team of the lodge will confer the third degree in Hingham to members of Cohasset, Weymouth and Quincy lodges. This will be one of the biggest affairs in lodge circles before the summer season, and it is expected that a large delegation of Newton Lodge will make the trip with the degree team.

According to plans perfected to date, the members will leave from in front of Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, at 6.30 o'clock in autos, arriving at Hingham in time for supper. All members desiring to go are urged to hand in their names to the committee in charge as soon as possible, so as to make it less difficult to arrange accommodations at the supper. Also, those who will have cars available on that night are asked to notify the committee.

On April 19, the degree team will go to Watertown to confer the degree, the exercises taking place in Masonic Hall. The team comprises forty-one men, and is considered among the best in the State.

PLANNING THE GARDEN

Gardeners who have not worked out a definite plan will do well to have one in mind before starting to plant. All vegetables should be planted in long rows rather than in raised beds. This saves both labor and space and prevents the escape of moisture. Tall growing vegetables should be placed on the north side of the plot so they will not shade the smaller plants.

In well-cultivated plots root crops can be grown in rows 14 inches apart. Peas, beans and plants of that size can be 24 inches apart and the largest vegetables need only 30 inches between rows. Early, quick-growing crops like lettuce, radishes and onion sets can be planted in the same row with slower growing vegetables and they will be harvested and out of the way before the space is needed by the permanent crop.

Most back-yard gardeners fail to take advantage of the possibilities of raising two and three crops on one area during the season. Late beans, beets, lettuce and turnips can easily follow early peas, beans, carrots, lettuce and radishes. Tomatoes can be set or corn and beans planted between rows of peas two weeks before the vines are to be pulled out, and by doing this between every other row it is possible to pick the peas and pull the vines without walking on the newly planted area.

The present season is fully two weeks in advance of last year. Those who have not already done so will do well to plant peas, radishes, lettuce, spinach and beets this week.

It is not wise to postpone the purchase of garden seeds any longer. Already many of the most desirable varieties have been exhausted in some places. Poor seeds result in a thin stand of weak plants. It is especially important in small gardens that every inch of ground should be utilized. In order to be sure of uniform high quality in seeds they should be purchased direct from some reputable seed house.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Allen School

On Tuesday night, Apr. 5, the Allen Military School rededicated the central school building which has been rebuilt after the destructive fire of last December.

The exercises included an organ recital by Mrs. Richard W. Galbraith. The battalion under command of Capt. Theodore Rooney, with Major Alexander A. Powell, adjutant, as aid, then marched in. Prayer was offered by Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's Church, and the Scripture was read by Dr. Thomas Chalmers.

After the dedication by battalion and faculty, an address was delivered by Dean Henry W. Holmes of Harvard. Hymns were sung by the battalion under the direction of Mr. John B. Hebberd of the Department of Mathematics. Benediction was then pronounced by Dr. Chalmers.

Technical High School

Three pupils of this school were among the prize winners announced this week in the state-wide competition for the best designs for posters in connection with the "Be Kind to Animals Week" which is being observed this week. The awards were made by the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and included the first prize in Class 1, to Edwin D. Leonard, $20, and prizes of a year's subscription to "Our Dumb Animals" to Natalie Sawyer and Dorothy Frail.

Pierce School

The Pierce School has been honored recently by the following visitors: Mr. William French, Principal of the Junior High School in New Britain, Conn., and Messrs. Pollard, Fiske, Goodspeed, Woods, and Perkins, principals in the Quincy schools.

The 7th and 8th grades are on the honor system in regard to passing through the corridors.

The school orchestra deserves mention for practising so faithfully on Friday mornings.

On Friday, March 18, the Franklin School gave a very interesting program in health work. There were songs, gifts, charades, speeches and plays. The guests of the afternoon included the following:

Miss Bragg, Mrs. Peabody, Miss Beckwith of the Bureau of Education of New York, Dr. J. Mace Andress, Ph.D., associate director, Child Health Organization of America, and author of several books on health; Miss Helen Hogan, Supervisor of Hygiene, Lowell Normal School; Miss Anna Higgins, of the Barnard School, and Mr. Scarborough.

Burr School

The 8th grades held a debate on Monday on "Resolved that the Professional Man Has More Advantages in Life than the Business Man." Philip James, Winifred Scott, Grace Barny, and Richard Sawyer took part.

The 8th grades are now dramatizing, "The Merchant of Venice." Edward Wyeth has made a great hit as Shylock.

The 8th grade is now studying algebra.

The pupils of the school have joined in the Loyal League. The pledge is as follows: "I pledge my heart, my head and my hands for my country." The work is being carried on under the auspices of the Daughters of the Revolution.

Stearns School

Mr. Dacey, the eighth grade teacher, is very ill at his aunt's home in Watertown. He has been greatly missed by his classes, who have expressed their sympathy by sending flowers and fruit.

The Girls' Club will give a dancing party in the School Hall Friday evening of this week.

On the evening of April eighteenth the Mothers' Club will hold a whist party.

The baseball team played the Hosmer School team on the Stearns playground Wednesday after school. A splendid game was played by both sides, who were well satisfied with the excellent umpire Wilfred Cormier. The score was Stearns 11, Hosmer 2.

The three highest per cents in attendance for March were earned by the following classes:

ONE MAN CARS

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway is experimenting with a one-man car. The company is operating the car on the Newtonville-Newton Centre line. A safety device to be used by passengers in stopping the car in an emergency has been installed in the car. By pulling a cord the passenger can cut off the power and the air brakes are automatically applied.

THE PAULETTE CARON CLUB OF WABAN

An afternoon auction club of twelve Waban ladies has recently taken the name of the Paulette Caron Club, the name of the French orphan it has supported for two years.

This club was started January 7, 1918, at the home of Mrs. Davis T. Keever, who was its first secretary-treasurer, and who has held that position ever since, taking care of drafts and birthday bundles sent to Paulette and receiving and answering the many letters from the little girl. The child has just lost her mother. This makes her yet more a child of the club, and dear to its members.

The club has had three presidents, in order of serving, Mrs. James Hewins, Mrs. Bruce Wyman, and Mrs. Fred S. Gourley.

In addition to the afternoon of cards the club members often attend a matinee together.

The last meeting of this season will be held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Richards, Collins road, Friday, April 15. The club will then doubtless go into summer schedule which proved so successful last year.

standing love of our feathered neighbors.

Members of the Newtonville Woman's Club felt they had entered fairyland as they approached the tables for the annual luncheon in the dining room of the Central Congregational church on Tuesday, so exquisitely dainty were they in their decorations of pink and lavendar, geraniums and heliotrope making up the floral part. The luncheon itself was very delicious and too much appreciation cannot be given Mrs. W. H. Allen, who has most successfully arranged for these luncheons for the past four years and who is retiring this year.

A short program followed the luncheon, Mrs. Arthur Brown, read selections from Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," and Mrs. Ferrin sang two groups of songs.

The company then adjourned to the chapel where the business of the annual meeting was transacted, including the annual reports of officers and committees and the election of officers. During the year the club has given the following amounts for philanthropy: Newton Hospital, $100; Stearns School Centre, $100; Stone Institute, $25; District Nursing Association, $25; Gov. John A. Andrew Home, $25; Newton Welfare Bureau, $25; Newton Hospital Social Service League, $25; West Newton Music School, $10; Flower Mission, $10; Student Nurses' Library, $26; European Children's Relief, $216.75.

Mrs. J. C. Hagar was re-elected as president. Mrs. Eugene Rust and Mrs. W. M. Shelton were elected vice-presidents for four years; Mrs. G. Norman Bankart succeeds Mrs. E. E. Wakefield, Jr., as clerk; directors for four years, Mrs. Ralph Conant, Mrs. C. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. L. G. Roberts. There is no change among the other officers.

In accepting the office again Mrs. Hagar made a very practical, strong and inspiring talk, urging the members to press on to even greater accomplishment.

Dr. Payson Smith, commissioner of education for Massachusetts, gave a most enlightening address before the Newton Social Science Club Wednesday morning on "The Responsibility of the State in Education." In reviewing briefly the subject nationally, he stated that Massachusetts ranks ninth among the states of the country. It may be truly said that we have a national system of education and as truly that we have no national system. But we have found that pupils transferred from one state to another adjust themselves very readily to the educational system of that state. There is constitutionally no Federal control of education. The states on the other hand recognize a responsibility in that matter and from a recent survey made of the constitutions of the different states Dr. Smith found no state that makes no reference to education. In Massachusetts, the town derives its responsibility in the matter from the state rather than from itself. The state recognizes its responsibility in four different ways. First, an equality of educational opportunity; not the same kind of education for every child, but that the state help every child to attain to the fulness of his own development. The function of public education is to train the 5 horse power child to his five horse power capacity and not to the twenty-five horse power capacity, of some other child, and on the other hand, not to hold back the twenty-five horse power child to the five horse power capacity. This is not an easy thing to bring about in a democracy. A second responsibility of the state is to equalize the costs of education in different communities. Brookline, for instance, has a large valuation and a limited number of children, while Chelsea with a small valuation has a large number of children. In this matter of equalization Massachusetts has moved more slowly than many other states. As a third responsibility, the state should make use of centralized machinery for seeing that educational laws are enforced. Its fourth responsibility is in dealing with special problems, the deaf, the blind and the sub-normal children. The blind are being pretty well looked after, but there are more deaf children, who are not receiving the training they should have, than there are deaf children in the special institutions.

Dr. Smith closed his address with a discussion of the problem of private schools. The problem is not so serious in Massachusetts as in some states, but he feels that while there have been created a few superior private schools there have been likewise a very large number of the most inferior that can be found anywhere. The tendency is to create a large number of citizens who are placing another interest before the public school.

In response to questions he considers 20 to 25 children as the best number of scholars to a teacher in the earlier grades, but later on it is more a question of the teachers regarding the children individually, rather than it is the number of pupils. In response to an inquiry as to the proposed Smith-Towner bill, he finds in it nothing that is going to centralize the control of the schools or that we need to fear, and he believes heartily in a federal department of dignity in the cabinet which shall combine the various bureaus that are now under the control of different departments. He cited Charles Sumner as having urged the matter in his day in Congress.

Channing Alliance

Tuesday morning found an unusually large number of Channing Alliance at the church parlors for the annual meeting. The time from eleven to one was given up to annual reports of officers and committees, which revealed a very large amount of good work done in a quiet way little realized until the whole is reported at the close of the year. These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer; vice-presidents, Miss Helen L. Wells, Miss Maud B. Henry, Mrs. Frederick E. Harwood; recording secretary, Mrs. Edward M. Moore; corresponding secretary, Miss Catherine R. Howard; treasurer, Mrs. Harry N. Milliken; auditor, Miss Clara G. Soule; director for two years, Mrs. Thomas Temple; for three years, Mrs. Edgar W. Hodgson; treasurer of suppers, and trustee of Reserve Fund, Miss Jessie M. Fisher.

Luncheon was served by a committee of hostesses, Mrs. Charles B. Beasom, chairman. The tables were tastefully decorated with spring flowers. At the close there were brief addresses by Rev. E. Rosalind Lee, of England and Wales, Mrs. John Day, of Japan, Mrs. John K. Whiting of Brookline, a director of The Alliance of Unitarian Women, and Miss Helen L. Wells, who gave the formal greeting to the guests in rhyme. Mrs. Harry Lutz, the retiring president, who is soon leaving Channing church, was presented with a beautiful basket of roses within which was concealed a package containing a gold wrist watch and a substantial check.

WESLEYAN DRIVE FOR $3,000,000

Several well-kown Newton residents are deeply interested in the drive now in progress to raise $3,000,000 as an endowment fund for Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn.

About two and a quarter millions were raised last year and it is proposed to raise the remainder in a 10-day campaign beginning today. The alumni in this vicinity held a dinner today at the Parker House, Boston, and similar dinners were held at a hundred other places throughout the country.

Prof. Franklin T. Kurt of West Newton is in charge of all New England, Mr. Clarence L. Newton of West Newton has charge of Massachusetts and Mr. Vernon B. Swett of Newton has charge of the city of Newton campaign.

Four trustees of the college are residents of Newton, Messrs. William T. Rich, Henry I. Harriman, and Vernon B. Swett of Newton and Mr. Clarence L. Newton of West Newton.

WEST NEWTON WOMEN'S EDUCATIONAL CLUB

The meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on April 8 in charge of the Travel Class, proved quite as successful as its predecessors of late years, and they have all been interesting and enjoyable. Mrs. W. D. Keefe, the leader of the class, presented Mrs. Edward B. Eaton, of Cambridge, who gave a graphic description of a trip to the Hawaiian Islands, and exhibited many curios and handsome articles brought from there. After listening to splendidly rendered selections by Miss Gwendoline O'Neill, the young daughter of one of the members, the meeting adjourned to a darkened room where Mrs. Russell of the Palisade Film Co. showed by moving pictures how moving pictures are made. This was an instructive as well as amusing feature which was interesting to all. Rather elaborate refreshments followed, as the Travel Class is very hospitable and the afternoon was voted a great success in every way.

Shareholders of the Universal Tide Power Company and their friends were entertained delightfully on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mrs. Morris Fried, 59 Cook street. The occasion being the showing of the moving pictures of the building of the demonstration plant of the Universal Tide Power Company at East Saugus, Mass., and of the Knowlton Hydraulic Air Motor, which will generate light, heat and power from the sea tides. A lecture on the operation of the motor was given by Mr. John Costello of Brockton.

THE NEWTONVILLE COMMUNITY FORUM

The Newtonville Community Forum held its last meeting this season, Sunday evening, Apr. 3, at the Central Congregational Church. Mr. Harlan H. Ballard, Jr., presided, and the devotional service was conducted by the Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's Episcopal Church. The musical feature of the evening was a trio of piano, violin and viola from the West Newton Music School.

Prof. David D. Vaughan of Boston University Theological School, proved a very stimulating speaker, and gave a comprehensive survey of the subject, "The World-Sweep of Democracy." He sketched rapidly the movements toward democracy in the Orient, in Africa, in the various countries of Europe, and in America, as well. He showed how education, music and the drama have been brought to the masses by the public school, the phonograph and the moving picture. Religion, too, has been democratized. A forward look shows a relationship between nations which should mean world-wide democracy.

In the question period following the address, Prof. Vaughan discussed the open shop, syndicalism, industrial democracy and other live topics. Throughout the evening he was witty, clear and compelling.

The Forum in Newtonville is conducted by a committee representing the men's clubs of several churches, and was tried out this year as an experiment. The interest shown in it seems to warrant its continuance as a medium for public consideration and discussion of timely subjects.

A GREAT SUCCESS

The Newton Community Club scored a second success in dramatics at Players' Hall, West Newton, yesterday afternoon and evening in the presentation of Oscar Wilde's three-act comedy, "The Importance of being Earnest." The all-star cast entered thoroughly into the spirit of the play and carried the whole thing through with snap and finish. All the parts were so well done, it is hardly fair to single out any one, but Mrs. Blakemore as Lady Bracknell was truly English in speech and action, never forgetting herself for a moment. The stage setting was exceedingly effective, especially the garden scene. The club is greatly indebted to Mrs. L. D. Towle for potted plants and cut flowers and to Mr. Harry A. Nealley for the evergreen trees which he cut himself in Maine on purpose for the occasion.

No small part of the pleasure of both the afternoon and evening performances was due to the musical program under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Bosdan, who assembled an orchestra of nine pieces, most of whom were her personal friends and not members of the club. They were: Mrs. Edna Simmons Lamb, Mrs. J. J. Bosdan, violins; Miss Katherine L. Stone, viola; Mrs. F. A. Carlson, 'cello; Mrs. Edna Goodey, double bass; Miss Annie Bettoney, clarinet; Mrs. Elizabeth Lippi, flute; Miss Schmeltz, cornet; Mrs. Herman Noyes, piano.

Th cast included: Jeannette Harris Cummings, as Algernon Moncrieff; Ethel Gilman Braman, Lane, a manservant; Gertrude Currier Dexter, John Worthing; Priscilla Alden Blakemore, Lady Bracknell; Edith Richmond Fisher, Hon. Gwendolen Fairfax; Marion Jones Jamieson, Miss Prism, governess; Marion Ward Colton, Cecily Cardew; Edith Graves Harriman, Rev. Canon Chasuble; Florence Page Ensign, Merriman, a maid-servant.

Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett was general manager; acting manager, Mr. Frank E. Fowle; stage manager, Mr. E. R. Clark; ushers, Mrs. Harry A. Nealley; tickets, Miss Sally A. Cutler; publicity, Miss Grace M. Burt. The ushers were: Mrs. Paul Sykes, Miss Margaret Bacon, Mrs. Henry W. Jarvis, Mrs. Edwin J. Fort, Mrs. Raymond G. Coppins, Mrs. William Green.

MOUNT HOLYOKE ALUMNAE AT WABAN

Waban Neighborhood Club House proved a delightful place for the annual meeting and luncheon of the Boston Mount Holyoke Alumnae Association on Saturday, April 9. Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball of Waban, president of the association, presided over the business meeting, which was held before the luncheon. A delicious and substantial luncheon was served under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatric of Auburndale, at which President Mary E. Woolley was the guest of honor. Following the luncheon Miss Woolley made an urgent plea for the Endowment Fund, which it is expected to complete before commencement. She mentioned as among Mount Holyoke's assets the fine plant, its beauty of surroundings, the body of faculty, concerning whom she quoted opinions of heads of other institutions, and the alumnae themselves. Miss Woolley explained the present and immediate need for completing the fund that the faculty may be paid a sufficient salary to keep them at the college and not lose them to other institutions, which can offer greater inducements. She gave as evidence that many are remaining there for smaller salaries than others would accept, the fact that to secure competent substitutes for three members who are to be away on a leave of absence next year an increase of $1,000 in the budget, is going to be necessary.

A large new up-to-date residence hall is another pressing need, since it is now twenty years since any sizable one has been added to the campus. The library, too, dedicated fifteen years ago, is now much overcrowded. These three things Miss Woolley named as absolute needs and not merely desirables.

Miss Heineman, from National Headquarters of the Endowment Fund Campaign, explained the plans for the intensive campaign which will open on May 3d with a dinner in every locality over the country where there are fifteen alumnae. In order to complete the $3,000,000 fund before commencement each alumna is asked to be responsible to "give or get" $305. During the period of the campaign, May 3-31, alumnae are asked to devote their efforts to securing gifts of money and to refrain from entertainments, sales and other activities for making money, since much energy and even money is lost to the fund in this expensive method of raising funds.

Among the officers elected were Miss Harriet M. Marcy of Newton, treasurer, and Mrs. G. Norman Bankart of Newtonville, assistant treasurer.

Making Use of Lizard Skin.
The lizards of India—and India has a great crop of them—are hunted for their skins. Women's and children's shoes, purses and handbags are manufactured from them. These articles have been found to wear as well as calfskin or glace kid. The average skin is two feet square and is worth 32 cents. A pair of shoes made of lizard skin costs four dollars.—Popular Science Monthly.

School Committee Request Two New School Buildings Both on North Side of City

At the regular meeting of the aldermen on Monday night a rather formidable docket was handled in less than two hours, adjournment being reached at 9.40 P. M.

President Harriman was in the chair and only Aldermen Nichols and Phipps were absent.

There was some remonstrance to the petition of the Jenney Mfg. Co. for permit to sell gasolene at the corner of Beacon and Walnut street, Mr. Wingersky and Mrs. Mary A. Clifford speaking in opposition and a written remonstrance being filed by Jas. P. Roche.

Mr. Chas. S. Decker favored and Mr. Henry L. Whittlesey opposed the petition of Mr. Decker for a 7-unit garage at 23 Elmwood street.

One person spoke in favor of the petition of Daniel F. Bardo for a 5-unit garage rear of 1383 Washington street.

No one appeared on petition of Bernard L. Gallagher to locate a public garage at 168 River street and the proposed sewer in Milton street was also unopposed.

There was a strong remonstrance to the petition of Harvey D. McGray for permit for a 13-unit garage rear of the Newton Olympia theatre on Pearl street. Mr. McGray said that the theatre was to be extended some 80 feet in the rear and that the greater part of the proposed garage would then be out of sight from Pearl street. Mr. J. R. Learned vigorously opposed the proposed garage, calling attention to the fact that Pearl street was widened some years ago on account of its dangerous condition and it would be folly to allow a large garage with its consequent increased use of the street. SERVICE OF RECOGNITION

For Rev. Fred W. Peakes Pastor of Lincoln Park Baptist Church

A reception was held to Rev. and Mrs. Fred W. Peakes, the new pastor of Lincoln Park Baptist Church, and his wife, at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church on Wednesday evening. In the receiving line with Rev. and Mrs. Peakes were Deacon and Mrs. S. W. Waters, and Deacon and Mrs. Peck.

Rev. Leopold R. Hass of Newton Theological Institution presided at the recognition service which followed. The first speaker was Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church, West Newton, who brought the greetings of West Newton to Mr. Peakes. Dr. Park referred to the fact that we have many beautiful flowers in the Spring, but only one Spring. So, he said, we have several churches in West Newton, but only one church. West Newton has left the era of competition behind her, and entered upon the era of co-operation. In West Newton we say, not "the Baptist Church," but "our Baptist Church." He referred briefly to the early history of West Newton, and to the coming of the different races and in the name of them all he extended to Mr. Peakes the right hand of fellowship.

Rev. Newton A. Merritt of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton then spoke on behalf of the West Association. Mr. Merritt referred to his friendship with Mr. Peakes in student days, and said that it was a great pleasure for him to greet him as a friend and nearest neighbor in the denomination. He also brought the greetings of his church, and of the West Association saying that this association and all associations were working together towards the bringing about of God's kingdom on earth.

A letter of welcome was read from Rev. Percival M. Woods of the Church of the Messiah who was unable to be present.

The third speaker of the occasion Rev. Harold L. Hanson of the First

Upper Falls M. E. Church Celebrates Opening with Banquet

The last week has been a busy and memorable one for the people of Newton Upper Falls. The occasion being the various functions held in connection with the opening of the Social Rooms of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in this village. For years the parish had felt the need of an adequate social center, but the difficulties in the way of realizing this seemed quite insurmountable. At length under the resolute leadership of the pastor, Rev. Frederick Palladino with the unanimous co-operation of the officials and constituency the venture was made. The response in money and volunteer labor on the part of all has made possible one of the finest and convenient equipments to be found anywhere. The progress of the work has been almost romantic, and there has been added to the equipment a well adapted social hall, lavatories, kitchen, church parlor and adequate storeroom and vestibules.

Last Thursday evening a reception was held to the pastor of the church and his wife who have been returned to this village for another year. They have won a large place in the life of the community, and it was decided to combine the welcome reception and the opening of the social rooms in one function.

In the receiving line stood Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Palladino the pastor; Dr. and Mrs. J. M.Shepler, the Supt. of the Boston District of the Conference, Rev. J. W. Stephens a former pastor, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tully, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Coward, Mr. Walter Chesley, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Locke and Mr. Paul Lupien. Mr. Oscar E. Nutter in behalf of the parish made the presentation speeches in a most happy vein. Mrs. Palladino was presented with a beautiful butterfly tray and a bouquet of roses. Mr. Palladino was presented a purse of one hundred and five dollars. Mr. Chesley who super-

THE BUDGET

Details of the Largest Amount ever Appropriated for City Expenses

Taxpayers of this city will be interested in the budget which has just been adopted by the city government. It is by far the largest budget ever approved in this city, carrying a total of $2,463,004.56 and to which must be added all the special appropriations which have already been passed since January 1st by the aldermen.

Our schools call for the largest single item, costing us $794,933.23 for maintenance alone, the serial bonds and interest on school building bonds being carried by the Treasury Department. School salaries call for $696,578.23 of the above figure.

The Street Department is a good second with a total of $582,104.00 of which $80,900 is for street lighting, $80,000 for street maintenance, $55,000 for street sprinkling, $53,000 for collection of ashes, $43,000 for resurfacing streets, and $32,000 for moth work. Sidewalks cost us $20,000 for new work and $18,000 for repairs.

The treasury Department calls for $341,588.02, of which $183,696 is for interest and $124,000 for payment of serial bonds.

The Police Department comes next with a total of $181,310 of which about $144,000 is for salaries; and the Fire Department is close behind with $143,863, of which $126,900 is for salaries.

Public Buildings cost us $81,450, Charities, $65,328; Library, $56,450; Playgrounds, $43,084; Health, $40,587; Accounting, $38,000, of which $30,200 is for various kinds of pensions; City Clerk, $25,828; Engineering, $24,200; and Assessing, $20,600.

The cost of the Water Department does not affect the taxpayer, as it is paid from water revenue. The department will spend $122,395 for maintenance this year and $44,742 will be needed for interest and serial bonds.

Interesting Trips Made by the Boys to State Prison and to Franklin Park

On Thursday afternoon, April 14th, a group of twenty-four boys were taken on an educational trip through the State Prison at Charlestown. Upon arriving at the entrance they were met by a guard, conducted to the waiting room, and put in charge of a guide.

In single file formation they followed the guide down stairs where the lowest tier of cells were inspected. The grim quietness of the place seemed to grip one through and through. Hardly a word was spoken and then only in a whisper.

After looking over about 150 such cells, the boys were conducted through the laboring departments where numbers of convicts were making shoes, and automobile number-plates for 1922. They were taken through the dining halls and kitchens. Everything looked as clean as in a first-class hotel. They were shown the school-room where the uneducated were taught to read and write English, and then they were conducted up to the Chapel where the Sunday Church services are held and where entertainments and concerts are put on at designated times by the prisoners.

The group was fortunate enough to be there just as the Convict Band was rehearsing, and on invitation of the guide in charge they sat down to hear several selections which were "A la Boston Symphony." All the musicians seemed pleased at the "hand" the boys gave them.

As they started back downstairs all began to wonder, "Where next?" It wasn't long before they knew for they were soon standing in the death chamber where the prisoners sentenced to death are electrocuted. After giving the electric chair a thorough inspection the guide explained how it worked.

When the boys left the prison they found that there was time enough to visit Bunker Hill. They hiked from the prison to the monument in about seven minutes. Those in the group who had never been at the top were allowed to do so, then all started for home. It was surely a fine trip, and the boys all join in extending thanks to Warden E. E. Shattuck for his kindness On Tuesday, Patriots Day, a group of boys visited Franklin Park. They left the "Y" about 10 o'clock and arrived at the park about 11.30.

All the animals were visited. First the llamas, the rein-deer, the elk, and the sacred cattle bought by the school children of Boston. Next came the real surprise of the day in "Torpedo Bill" a pet bill-goat belonging to a seaman of the Torpedo-boat Hawaii. "Bill" acted as pleased to see the boys as they were to see him, bucking around and showing off just like any boy. The new lion house was visited next, then the elephant house, monkey house and the bird cages in turn.

About two o'clock all returned to the lion house to watch the keeper feed the animals after which all started for home. Everybody had a lunch along which was eaten in the park. It was voted by all a fine day's outing.

At a special match with Cochato Club of Braintree, the Newton Y. M. C. A. Bowling Team lost their first match of the season. The Cochato Team bowled the highest three-string total of their season which was 1757.

DEPENDABLE RESERVES

Successful business must be supported by Reserves. Whether an individual, partnership or corporation substantial advance cannot be made without Reserve Capital or Financing.

The Waltham Trust Company qualifies as your regular or Reserve Depository. Wisdom in past and present management has enabled us to aid the established patron during the blue days of industrial adjustment depression and offers many benefits to the new client.

Some measure of satisfaction is evidenced in the $350,000.00 increase of deposits over one year ago, while most banks (without consolidations or mergers) show a heavy shrinkage. It should be persuasive to the undecided firm or person to ally with the Waltham Trust Company, an institution managed by a Board of Directors, who put their character, integrity and ability into the care of the depositors' affairs.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Classical High School

On Wednesday last, under the auspices of the Debating Clubs of the school, a prize declamation was held in the assembly hall. Mr. Adams was the presiding officer and the speakers were as follows: Carolyn Cummings; Richard Dudley; Mary Edmands; Theodore Grant; Mary Reynolds; Robt. Olmstead; Mabel Williamson, and Alfred Stafford. At the close of the declamations, the judges, Rev. Charles Arbuckle, Rev. James Wagner and Rev. Edward Noyes, retired to decide upon the winners. During this time Hughes Wagner, Frederick Blodgett, and Mr. Lane spoke in behalf of the boys' debate which is to be held a week from today. Wagner announced that the music for the dance, which is to follow the debate, will be furnished by Walter Mayo's five piece orchestra, and that only those who attend the debate will be admitted to this dance. Blodgett asked the students to show the same school spirit that they have shown during the past year and make this debate a decided success. Mr. Lane, the coach of the debating clubs and also of the speakers for this prize declamation, informed the students that the purpose of the dance was to celebrate our victory and he asked them to make sure that they were present at the debate so that they might join in the celebration. The judges had by this time made their decisions and Rev. Edward Noyes, acting as spokesman, made the following announcements:

First prize, Theodore Grant, Mary Edmands, $12 each.

Second prize, Alfred Stafford, Mary Reynolds, $10 each.

Third prize, Robert Olmstead, Carolyn Cummings, $5 each.

Fourth prize, Richard Dudley, Mabel Williamson, $3 each.

The prizes were donated by the Girls' and Boys' Debating Clubs.

Last Saturday at Claflin Field, Newton swamped Everett 8 to 0. However, on last Tuesday Newton was completely swamped by Cambridge Latin School, the score being 16 to 2. Because of a "Bonehead play," which was entirely overlooked by the umpire, the last five innings were played under protest by Newton. It might be added that Newton pitcher, Murphy, was unable to pitch the game because of a sore arm.

The senior statistics ballots have been distributed and voted upon by the class. Miss Margaret Walker, the statistician, is busy counting the votes and hopes to have them ready by the end of this week. No announcement will be made of the results of this vote until the publication of the "Newtonian."

Yesterday afternoon in the lecture hall, Mr. Underwood gave an illustrated lecture entitled "Rambles in Scotland." Almost all of the English Club members were present and at the close of the lecture ice cream was served.

Stearns School

A successful whist party was given by the Mothers' Club at Stearns School Center, on Monday, April 18. Thirteen prizes were awarded, and ice cream and cake on sale after the whist playing.

Miss Mildred Gutterson, associated with the National League of Girls' Clubs, will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Newton Girls' Club to be given on Tuesday evening, April 26th, at Stearns School Center. Miss Dada Masse is chairman of the arrangement committee for the banquet.

Claflin School

The baseball season opened with a game between the Bigelow and Horace Mann-Claflin teams. It was necessary to play off a "tie score" resulting in a score of 13-12 in favor of the Bigelow team.

The class of 1920 have just placed a sectional bookcase in room 6, as their gift to the Claflin school.

The Claflin School Dancing Classes are planning for their dancing party to be held in the school hall on Tuesday, April 26th.

In the last Four Weeks' Report Grades VIII, VI, Room 1; VI, Room 2; and IV, have no tardy marks. The highest per cent of attendance is in Grade II, Room 8, 98.5 per cent.

Burr School

The April issue of "The Echo" is to be a sixteen page paper and will contain an unusual number of contributions.

High School courses are now being chosen by the 8th grade pupils.

The girls of the 7th and 8th grades have chosen baseball teams with captains. They are planning games with Newton Centre and Waban.

BOY SCOUTS

The Officers of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts, hiked (by auto) to the Camping Ground of the Council last Saturday afternoon, April 16. Much enthusiasm was exhibited and many plans drawn up for future development. The "Ohio Region" which is the name of this ground is buried deep in the woods two or three miles from the Town of Needham. A splendid location, suitable for Spring, Fall, and Winter overnight hikes and week-end trips. Several Scoutmasters chose their Troop locations and expect to get to work building cabins. The out-of-door life appeals to the boys and it is expected that when this camp is thoroughly equipped a better one will not be found around this part of the country.

A Saturday hike for all troops of the Council is being planned for the month of May. With the band leading the way, the distance will soon be covered and a grand and glorious day is anticipated.

Norumbega Council is having its Financial Campaign. $5,000 is needed to develop the work as it should be. If you have not contributed why not do so NOW. Send all checks to John H. Eddy, Local Scout Headquarters, Newton, Mass.

Scout Executive Wm. B. Sharratt was one of the speakers at the "Father and Son" banquet held in the Congregational Church, Wellesley, last Wednesday evening, April 13.

Mr. Charles H. Woodworth, 120 Church street, Newton, has recently been granted the honor of Veteran Scout, having served the Scout Movement for over Five Years. Other Veteran Scouts are Rev. Carl M. Gates, Wellesley Hills. Charles Francis Ward, Newton Centre, E. J. Ovington, Auburndale, Graham B. Ford, Newton Highlands, Raymond T. Bunker, Wellesley Hills.

Troop 4 entertained the officers who hiked to the "Ohio Region" last Saturday, at supper upon their return home. Troop 4 has a cabin on the Charles River in the Dover Region and the scouts made a mighty fine job as hosts. The officers were delighted with the reception they received and not one went away hungry.

Why not be a Scout? It's lots of fun.

COMPLIMENTARY RECITALS

To Clubs, Lodges, Churches and Other Organizations.

The F. H. Thomas Co. of Boston will arrange for a limited number of recitals for a selected list of such organizations, utilizing Mr. Edison's favorite invention, the New Edison, "The Phonograph With a Soul."

After expending $3,000,000, Mr. Edison perfected this instrument to such an extent that it is impossible to distinguish between the singing or playing of the real artists and their actual re-creation on the New Endison.

For particulars, address F. H. THOMAS CO., 691 Boylston St., Boston, Mass. Tel. 1197 Back Bay.—advt.

The new Lighting Fixtures in Italien, Rusty Iron and Polyechrome and Colonial styles as shown by Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., Inc., 181 Franklin street corner Congress, Boston, Mass., are really works of Art.

NEW COUNTRY CLUB

Donald J. Ross, for years Massachusetts open golf champion, now the leading architect and supervisor of laying out golf courses in this country, was the principal speaker at the first dinner of the Charles River Country Club, Wednesday evening at the Algonquin Club. The dinner was a get-together gathering to hear about laying out the 230 acres owned by the club for an 18-hole course, also to have those present have one or two of their friends join the organization so that the full quota of 400 active members would be filled by May 1.

Ross, who is laying out the links, called attention to the wonderful soil of which the Charles River Country Club boasts of, and laid stress on the possibilities of turning out one of the best 18 holes in Eastern Massachusetts. He claimed that when the course is finished, the regular playing length would be about 6,200 yards, which can be increased to 6,430 yards if the occasion demanded it.

There will be three short holes, two of which will be water holes. Ross, in planning the course, has decided to have the first and tenth tees, and the ninth and eighteenth greens within full view of the clubhouse so as to give members and guests a good chance to watch the play from the veranda. There will be no parallel holes.

Ground has been broken up to date for eight holes, and men are at work clearing out the trees and blasting rock.

As the plans now are, the course will be ready for seeding in September, with the opening set for the Spring next year.

The layout of three of the holes was explained by Ross and was enthusiastically received by the members present. The first hole, which will measure 370 yards, is slightly down hill, with a 200-yard carry on the drive. If a player gets away a good tee shot he will have a perfect second to reach the green with a midiron. For the player who tops his drive there will be numerous obstacles for him, the most notable being a pond, which is about 250 yards from the tee.

The ninth hole will measure about 175 yards, and the golfer will play his shot from an elevated tee, across a gully, to a plateau green. It will mean a perfect shot with plenty of trouble for the player who falls short, or is over. This hole has been laid out without any bunker, although some traps may be fixed up in time to come for decorating purposes, as Ross explained.

At the present time, the plans are to have the 18th an elbow hole, to measure 388 yards from the middle tee. The drive is over a pond of water necessitating a carry of from 120 to 160 yards.

S. Harold Greene presided. Among the speakers were Barton K. Stephenson, William F. Garcelon, and Francis Ouimet.

PUBLIC WEDDING

Miss Gwendolen Ashcroft Handley of 105 Oakleigh road, Newton, and her fiance, Ray Tibbetts of Sandwich, N. H., have been selected by a committee of judges at the Home Beautiful Exposition to act as principals in the public wedding to be held in Mechanics Building tonight, as the result of an essay written by the young woman on "The Ideal Happily Married Couple."

The contest was participated in by some 40 would-be brides, who wrote essays on the subject and submitted them to Chester I. Campbell, manager of the show. The winner was offered a substantial dowry on which to start married life. The ceremony will take place promptly at 8.30 Friday evening in Grand Hall. D'Avino's concert band will play Mendelssohn's Wedding March and another orchestra will give "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," the voice parts to be sung by the Apollo male quartet. The Angelus Glee Club of Salem, composed of nearly 100 girls, will also sing at the wedding under the direction of Miss Margaret Milea Henry.

DEATH OF MRS. CRAM

Mrs. Bertha P. Cram, wife of Mr. Benjamin C. Cram, passed away on Sunday, April 17th, at her home at 526 Centre street, Newton.

Mrs. Cram was born in Blue Hill, Maine, on July 5th, 1855, the daughter of Israel P. and Joan Johnson. She was married in 1873 and spent the first thirty years of her married life in Salem, Mass., where she was well known for her many activities and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends. Mrs. Cram has resided in the Newtons for the past eighteen years, the last fourteen of which she has suffered invalidism, being confined to her home continuously.

Notwithstanding her enforced confinement and suffering, her lovable and spiritual character attracted to her hosts of friends, from whom comes the general expression that she left a beautiful example of sweetness, patience and Christliness, and that everybody must feel better and happier for having known her. Besides her husband, Mrs. Cram leaves two children, Mrs. Eugene W. Leighton of Newtonville, and Benjamin Holmes Cram of Detroit.

Services were held at the home of her daughter on Wednesday, the 20th, the Rev. Albert M. Hammatt of Longmeadow, Mass., an old friend and former pastor conducting the services.

DEATH OF MRS. OSBORNE

Mrs. Julia Osborne, the wife of Mr. George H. Osborne, died last week Wednesday at her home on High street, Newton Upper Falls, as the result of injuries received last fall in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Osborne was 72 years of age and had resided here for 45 years.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Charles F. and David E. Osborne, and three daughters, the Misses Nellie M., A. Gertrude, and Florence M. Osborne, all of Newton Upper Falls.

Services were held on Friday at the Church of Mary Immaculate, Upper Falls, at nine o'clock, Rev. T. J. Danahy, celebrant. The burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

NORTHGATE CLUB

The North Gate Club held a very successful evening last Tuesday. The program was largely a musical one. 'Cello solos were rendered by Mr. Alden Finckel, and violin solos by Mr. Robert MacDonald. Mr. Leroy T. MacDonald sang accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Furber. Refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Hermann were the hostesses.

On Patriot's Day the Club had a first class vaudeville show.

McGILVRAY—McGRATH

Miss Mary Agnes McGrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath of Newton Centre, formerly of South Boston, was married Tuesday morning to Mr. Charles J. McGilvray of Quincy.

The ceremony was performed in the Sacred Heart Church in the presence of a number of priests and many friends of both families.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. T. A. Curtin, assisted by a brother of the bride, Rev. Owen A. McGrath, C. P., of New York city, head master of the Paulist Choir School of New York, and recently returned from Europe, where he served as chaplain with the American Army.

The nuptial mass which followed the marriage ceremony was celebrated by Rev. Fr. McGrath. Seated in the sanctuary were Mgr. Ambrose F. Roche, Rev. William Finn., C. P., director of the Paulist Choir, now singing in this vicinity; Rev. Francis S. Hart and Rev. Joseph Conlon.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary A. Geary of Dorchester, and the groom by his brother, Joseph R. McGilvray. The ushers were Messrs. Arthur L. McGilvray, Lewis J. White, Donald B. Hughes, Sylvester M. Whalen, George W. Berry and Martin A. King.

Following the mass a wedding breakfast was served at the Westminster Hotel in Boston and was attended by more than 100 guests. During the breakfast the Paulist choir of 75 voices, led by Rev. Fr. Finn, serenaded the happy couple.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. McGilvray left on a wedding trip and on their return they will make their home in West Quincy.

REAL ESTATE

Real estate transaction of great interest to every citizen of Newton. Mrs. Florence Wilhelmina Heard, wife of Nathan Heard, of Newton, transfers her beautiful estate, No. 137 Waverley avenue and Church street to Mrs. Grace A. Cormerais, wife of Capt. Henry D. Cormerais. The estate comprises a beautiful modern frame house of 10 rooms and 2 baths together with a new, modern two-car garage and about 10,000 ft. land. The assessors' valuation of the property is $10,000, the purchase price being far in excess of the valuation. The property has a most desirable southeast exposure together with its exclusive location and accessibility to all transportation makes the estate a most desirable home. All Newton will be pleasantly interested to know that Captain Henry D. Cormerais and his family are in the future to be permanent residents of this city. Capt. Cormerais originates from an old Newton family, and enjoys a most splendid war record. He organized C Co. of the 5th, captained the same across the seas, did splendid service in the world war and returned a battle scarred veteran.

After extensive improvements and permanently installing the flag staff associated with Claflin Field, transferred to Framingham, finally to France and return, the captain will finally occupy his new home, and let us all hope that he will be happy.

GIVEN ONE YEAR

In connection with the death of Russell O. Carter of Churchill street, Newtonville, who died from injuries received when run down by an automobile, William L. Collins of Lexington street, Woburn, a Boston Elevated conductor, was arraigned in the Newton Court last Saturday on a continued case in which he was charged with driving so as to endanger the public and with failing to stop and make himself known after injuring a person.

He denied his guilt of both charges, but Judge William F. Bacon imposed a sentence of one year in the House of Correction on the first count and three months on the second. Collins appealed and furnished bail of $2500.

Carter, who was thirty years old and an overseas veteran, was struck as he was walking along Watertown street near Wildwood avenue, West Newton, on the night of March 28. It was raining at the time. People living in the vicinity heard a crash, and on investigating found him unconscious in the road. He died several days later at the Newton Hospital. His skull was fractured and the left side of his body paralyzed. No automobile was seen in the vicinity at the time, but it was evident that the machine that struck him was travelling at high speed and on the wrong side of the street.

A policeman on duty in Newtonville square, half a mile from the scene of the accident, reported that at about the time Carter was found he stopped a Ford car because one headlight was not lighted. With this to work on, the department finally located Collins's machine in a Watertown garage and learned that the left forward mudguard had been straightened, the glass in the left head lamp replaced and new glass placed in the windshield. Collins was then arrested. At that time, it was said, he told the police that he had been driving along Watertown street that evening in company with Frank C. Gallagher of Lincoln street, Allston; that they felt the impact of something heavy against the windshield and thought, when the glass was broken, that the machine had either struck a suitcase or handbag or else a person.

Today Collins denied that he was driving fast, claiming that the car was new. He said he supposed some one had thrown something which broke the glass and that he stopped his machine to investigate but saw no one in the road. Because of the rain and the broken windshield, he said, he decided to cut his trip short, so turned his car through Newtonville square and back to the garage.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the Claflin Club last Friday night at the performance of "The Dutch Detective" at the Methodist Church in Newtonville.

This club has had a very interesting history. It was named for Ex-Governor Claflin, a prominent Methodist and resident of Newtonville, and now numbers over 200 members. It has always stood for the best things in community life, and has contributed to many worthy causes. Speakers of note have presented important topics at its monthly meetings.

Last Friday was "Home Talent Night", all the parts in the "Dutch Detective" being taken by the members of the club directed by Mr. Ralph H. Somers.

The farce was of the laughter-provoking type, in which a detective, a couple of escaped luntics, and various pairs of lovers became inextricably confused, it being difficult to distinguish one from the other at times.

An irate father in search of an eloping daughter, was consoled by the fascinations of one "Araminta Sourdrops," while "Ambrosia, queen of the lunch room" of Splinterville where the farce was laid, comforted the rejected "Jabo."

"Pluck Jarlick," the ramping maniac appeared at one time to be master of the situation compelling all of the characters to dance the war dance.

The play was full of jokes and local hits. Ambrosia called herself "an unplucked lily on the stem of life," and Gladys, the newly-wed, spoke of her absent husband as "temporarily mislaid." All of these were received with warm approval by the audience.

Those taking part were Messrs. H. J. Goodyear, W. J. Cozens, Jr., C. W. Ruhlin, E. F. Pillman, R. A. Cox, J. C. Duff, C W. Rust, W. A. Dell, G. S. German, and Robert MacGregor, Jr.

VALUE OF SMALL FRUITS AND BERRIES IN THE GARDEN

The home garden is not complete if it does not contain a few varieties of small fruits and berries. When limited in area it is much more sensible to set out a few dozen strawberry plants or some currants and gooseberries than it is to use the land for potatoes, squash, or pumpkins, which can be grown so much more economically on farms where plenty of land is available. One has only to consider the comparative market price of strawberries and potatoes, for example, to decide which crop might best be produced in the suburban garden.

Now is the time to set berries and small fruits. They can be started this year between rows of vegetables to save space. Strawberries are best for very small gardens because they require less expert care and are almost certain to yield good crops every year if well fertilized and cultivated. They should be planted in rows 30 inches apart, with plants 16 to 20 inches apart in the row. Care should be taken in planting to see that the crown is just at the surface of the ground. To develop strong runners all blossoms should be picked the first season and four new plants saved from the runners of each mother plant. These should be selected according to the vigor of their growth and trained away from the original plant so as to form a row 12 to 14 inches wide.

Currants and gooseberries are hardy with respect to cold but are quickly affected by heat or drought because they are fine rooted and shallow feeders. They should be planted in a cool place where the soil is rich in organic matter and within reach of the garden hose. They should be four feet apart in each direction and should be set deep enough to have a few buds beneath the soil to provide suckers for new growth.

Raspberries and blackberries require more room than the previously named varieties and are not as well suited for small plots. They are an excellent addition to the garden, however, when there is room for them. Both these varieties should be three feet apart in the row and while raspberries will do well if rows are six feet apart, blackberries should be eight feet because the canes are much larger.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Maguire, sister of the bride, wore pink georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of red pinks.

The best man was Mr. M. Kelley of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennehey will reside in Somerville.

Automobiles will call on Wednesday or Thursday, May 4th and 5th, for all articles for the Rummage Sale to be held on Friday and Saturday, May 6th and 7th.

Everything which is in a condition to be of any possible use to anyone is solicited for this sale. Mrs. Horton Allen is in charge of the Motor Corps.

The city government should take ample time to consider the recommendation of the school committee to build two Junior High Schools at an estimated cost of a million dollars. We are of the opinion that the tax payers of this city are becoming considerably exercised at the high cost of our schools. An increase in over 100% in the maintenance expenses of the last seven years alone is sufficient evidence to make one pause, and a school budget of $795,000 for 1921 is large enough for the tax payers to carry without establishing the new and undoubtedly expensive Junior High School system.

We are well aware that a large part of the recent increase in maintenance charges is due to the merited increase in teachers' salaries. We are also well aware that on account of the lack of new school buildings in the past ten years, Newton is facing a serious housing condition for its increased number of pupils. But even so, it is better to take care of these children in temporary buildings costing but a tithe of a modern school house, and to even put into effect a two-platoon system of teaching a part of the children in the forenoon and the other part in the afternoon, rather than undertake, at the present time, to establish a Junior High school plan which will require more expensive teachers, a high cost of maintenance, as well as raise the serious question of the transportation of young children several miles from their homes to reach the proposed new buildings. All in all, it is a matter which should be given the most careful consideration.

While the action of the city government in refusing appropriations to reimburse city employees who were in service during the late war, the difference between the pay they received from the Federal government and what they would have received had they remained in the service of the city, was somewhat to be expected, as the amount involved was over $28,000, yet we cannot but point to the difference in public sentiment which this indicates and what was the popular feeling four years ago. If this matter had come up for action in 1917 or 1918 there would have been no question as to its adoption by unanimous vote. It is a sad commentary on the tendency of human nature to forget its obligations, once the crisis has been passed.

—o—

The hearing before the aldermen Monday night regarding condition of Pearl street near the Olympia Theatre brought out the fact that the recent widening of that street has merely served to allow it to be used as a parking space for the automobiles of patrons of the theatre. Parking on this narrow street, the direct route between Newton and Nonantum should be prohibited.

—o—

Tax payers will welcome the reduction from 5 to 4 cents of the assessment to be made the present year for street sprinkling.

—o—

The widening of Beacon street at the Mason school, while a desirable thing to do sometime, can well wait for more favorable financial conditions.

On Monday evening, April 18th, Rev. A. W. Cook of West Newton gave a very interesting address on what should be our attitude toward the Japanese. Mr. Cook's address was a thought-provoker and many went away after hearing him with a different idea of the Japanese question—so-called.

An event of unusual interest took place also at this Fellowship Club meeting when Mr. Sayford was called on for a few remarks. He spoke of the advantages of American Citizenship and said that every man American born or adopted should be proud of his country and be grateful for opportunities she afforded. Her institutions are being tested today as never before but they will stand the test and prove again if need be that ours is the best nation upon which the sun shines. Every young man regardless of nationality, if he had a worthy ambition and resolved to lead a clean life could climb all the rounds in the ladder of legitimate effort.

Because of America's democracy a man could go from his cabin home to the White House, from the public school to the Supreme Court of the United States. History furnished many illustrations of the truth of these statements and we have illustrations all about us said the speaker.

He then related how a young chap in Newton 35 years ago went into a Boston Leather Concern at $2.00 a week and who today is president of a successful leather company and president of the Newton Y. M. C. A.

He cited the case of a young foreigner who came to Newton a few years ago when in his early teens and by dint of hard work went through our grammar and high school, attended Boston University Law School and the Law Dept. of Northeastern College connected with the Boston Y. M. C. A. and who recently passed a successful examination for admission to the bar and is now a full fledged lawyer with an office in Newton.

This young man, said the speaker, is with us tonight, John Finelli, and a few of his friends commissioni me to give him a little token of their esteem of him as a man, and in appreciation of his achievement notwithstanding serious obstacles all of which he has overcome.

Mr. Finelli was then handed a box containing a purse suitably inscribed and containing a sum of money for such use as he cared to make of it. The surprise was complete and it was with difficulty that the young man expressed his gratitude for this evidence of friendship.

Concluding his brief remarks he said that he thanked God for what America made possible for him and for the chance it gives to any foreigner who comes here with good intentions.

FOR JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

also called attention to the present use of Pearl street for parking automobiles and the danger which ensued therefrom. Mabel Robbins and Mr. Herbert M. Bacon also objected to the proposed garage.

Alderman Saltonstall was designated by the president to draw 15 jurors for service at the Lowell Superior court on May 2 and drew the following names, Edwin S. Drowne, Lakewood road, E. Channing Bouve, Plymouth road, William W. Heckman, Windermere road, Robert W. Sayles, Hammond street, Leo M. Lane, Green street, Thos. L. Driscoll, Austin street, Frank T. Waters, Court street, Morgan G. Chamberlain, Sumner street, Samuel E. Simpkins, Langley road, William E. Nero, Knowles street, Frank E. Fisher, Los Angeles street, Walter V. V. Marsh, Newtonville avenue, James P. Airth, Barnes road, Charles F. Ward, Ward street and Clarence G. McDavitt, Mill street.

Mayor Childs nominated ex-alderman Arthur W. Hollis as a trustee of the Read and Eliot Memorial funds in place of Loren D. Towle and the appointment was immediately confirmed.

The mayor also sent in recommendations for various appropriations to cover 1920 deficits, relative to mistake in salary of city solicitor, recommending seizure of a 300-foot strip of river frontage above pumping station and submitting an offer of C. T. Whittemore to buy land owned by the city on Watertown street.

The school committee sent in the following communication regarding additional school accommodations.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 23 of the Revised Charter of the City of Newton the School Committee respectfully communicates to the Board of Aldermen that in its opinion new school houses are urgently needed. We, therefore, recommend the erection of two Junior High School buildings; one to be located on or near Washington street between West Newton and Auburndale for the accommodation of the pupils in the West Newton, Newton Lower Falls, and Auburndale districts, and one to be located in Newtonville, so situated as to accommodate the pupils of the Newtonville and Nonantum districts.

In view of the present crowded condition of our schools, and the time required for the erection of new buildings, we feel it important that early action should be taken with a view to providing the necessary relief in school accommodations.

The board of health recommended a sewer in Milton street and the Dept. of Public Utilities sent a communication approving the use by the Boston Elevated of motor vehicles not running on tracks or rails.

Street Commissioner Stuart reported the cost of sidewalk on Chase street and assessments were immediately levied thereon.

Petitions of Samuel W. Tucker for an auctioneer license, of Wm. L. Gannon for a truck license, and of Edward Busch, Cabot street, John E. Dodge, Raeburn terrace and Carrie W. Trowbridge, Hollis street for private garages were granted.

Other petitions were received from Guy L. Lee, Commonwealth avenue, F. E. Perkins, Albemarle road, and H. Newton Marshall, Chesley road for private garages, for street sprinkling on Fredena road, that street sprinkling be discontinued on Webster park, for sewer in Plainfield street, for laying out of Mason road and of Ashmont road, for relocation of M. & B. tracks in Washington street, from Centre street to Lincoln park, of Mrs. Dennis Foley for injuries received by fall, of A. M. Fowle to move building from Crescent street to Trowbridge street, for sewer off Commonwealth avenue, from Annie B. Collett for abatement of street sprinkling assessment on Waban Hill road, of M. J. McCrudden, Hillside road and C. M. Norton, Adams street for private garages.

Petitions of Joseph Congdon for apportionment of assessments on Carlton road, of L. G. Ryder for a truck license and of the Edison Co. for relocation of poles on Madison avenue were also granted.

On recommendation of the committee on Claims, Dennis M. Cronin, Wm. J. Follett and Wm. H. Walsh, Jr., were granted leave to withdraw on petitions for damages, the City Clerk was directed to give bi-monthly notice of pending matters to each alderman, and the board was informed that it was inexpedient to frame an ordinance giving information about sewers to prospective builders.

Hearings were assigned on the proposed laying out of Old Colony road, Mayflower road, Priscilla road, Mason road and of the rounding of corners of Walnut and Beacon streets.

Leave to withdraw was granted on the petition of many residents of Newton Centre for a widening of Beacon St. at the Mason school. Similar action was taken on permits for private garages requested by Chester Hartford, Albemarle road and Jos. F. Cobb, on Eliot avenue.

Sidewalks were ordered laid on Kimball terrace and Paul street and a private garage granted J. Edw. Callanan on Playstead road.

A large number of licenses for billiard tables, bowling alleys, pool tables, intelligence offices, dealers in second hand articles, junk collectors, hackney carriages and taxis, express wagons and trucks to keep and sell fire arms and as street musicians were granted.

Leave to withdraw was granted on pool room licenses of Peter Durant, Bridge street, Giovanni Gerac', Hartford street, and Nicholas Tocci, Oak street and of Solomon Ruben for a junk license.

A permit to operat power boats on the Charles river was granted to Thos. F. and Beatrice W. Eddy.

The usual street sprinkling order was adopted but with a reduction in the rate of assessment from 5 to 4 cents per front foot.

Orders were passed restoring $250 to salary of city solicitor which had been inadvertently cut down when the budget was adopted, and for $476 for purchase of a motor cycle for the Police Dept. Sewer assessments were levied on Norwood avenue and Oakwood road.

The Finance committee reported adversely against the petition of the Newton Post American Legion that city employees while in service during the late war should be paid the difference in the pay they received from the government and what they would have been paid had they remained in the service of the city.

The committee also reported inexpedient on the recommendation of the mayor that $1000 be appropriated for use of Co. H 101st Infantry.

Alderman Blake introduced an order directing the Public Works to investigate the feasibility of creating a parking space for automobiles between the sidewalk and the railroad line on Washington street, opposite the Newtonville station. The aldermen called attention to the present dangerous condition at this point when machines are waiting the arrival of the thru trains.

Alderman Whidden presented a resolve in regard to the future use of the Wolcott school at Waban when the new school building there shall have been completed.

President Harriman took the floor to call attention to the waste of time in the hearings before the board and had the Claims and Rules committee instructed to look into the matter.

Alderman Young started a discussion when he suggested that the City Clerk require a plan to be filed with every petition for a public garage or for the sale of gasolene.

Licenses for private garages were granted K. A. Anderson on Underwood avenue and to John W. Blakeney on Court street.

CHESTNUT SOCIAL

At the Chestnut Social at the Central Church last Friday evening large brown squirrels nibbling nuts were seen on the walls, and the motto was announced as "Get that chestnut off your chest." The fun started when each person on entering the room received a conundrum or its answer and was asked to find the corresponding part.

Dr. and Mrs. Gorham W. Harris and an efficient committee were in charge, and Dr. Harris introduced the program by reading the appropriate poem "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree," although the title proved to be its only familiar part.

Under the spreading chestnut tree
This Central Social sits,
To pass upon some ancient fun
By prehistoric wits.

This night's reserved for real antiques,
Ring out the new, ring in the old.
Bring in the fish-like flavored yarns;
Bring in the jokes your grandad told.

The titles of a few famous books and the names of some Newtonville streets were presented in pantomime, and a musical romance of Newtonville caused much merriment as Miss West played strains from familiar songs, whose names filled gaps in the story.

The gathering entered heartily into singing some popular songs of today and yesterday under the versatile leadership of Mr. Robert Trask. Miss Florence Hale of Brookline, formerly soprano in the church quartet, sang two groups of songs to the great pleasure of those present.

Several people related their favorite "chestnut,' 'after which refreshments including ice-cream, nut-cakes and cookies were served.

IT WILL HELP NEWTON AND NEWTON PEOPLE

It could do more if more Newton people would deposit their savings here. There is a lot of savings account money, owned by Newton people, but deposited in out of town banks. Some of it is caught in closed banks. We urge you to keep your savings here where they will be safe, ready when wanted and helping Newton people.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

As the club season draws to a close and the avalanche of annual meetings descends, the Club Editor is wont to emphasize their real significance and to urge upon club members the importance of attending them.

"Oh, it's nothing but a business meeting, I am busy now with sewing, with house cleaning, and then I'm going away for the summer tne first of June, so I really can't take the time. Besides the whole thing is cut and dried any way. What do I care about who the new officers are? The Nominating committee chose them. I didn't have anything to do about it."

Such is the remark of many a club woman, and she stays at home to do what she considers her more important duty. As likely as not the expected helper failed to appear, or the weather proved unfit for the cleaning she had intended to do, so a hurried shopping trip was substituted, and not being able to match what she was looking for she dropped into the movies to rest before going home only to find a "bum" show. Tired, dissatisfied, and with very little accomplished, she goes home thoroughly disgusted and in no mood to cheer up her family when, they, too, arrive for dinner tired with the day's work and longing for the cheery welcome and merry laugh that can so easily dispel the day's fatigue.

Suppose she had gone to the annual meeting. What then? If she had been attentive, she would have heard what her club had been really doing during the year through all its varied activities, all brought together in their true perspective. She would have been able to understand just what each committee had been trying to accomplish, when she had thought they were not doing anything, and would have the satisfaction of seeing a good job finished. She would have caught, perhaps, the spirit of the whole thing in a way she never had been able to do, when she simply went to a lecture now and then as the fancy struck her. Possibly she might have caught a glimpse of what it means to be a club president, that it is not all mere honor, but a deal of hard work and many times even a thankless task; what it means to be a corresponding secretary and write the thousand and one notes, send out the notices for the meetings, and prepare the Year Book; what it means to be recording secretary and take notes every time, rain or shine, whether she feels like it or not, and above all, to be on time at every meeting; what it means to be treasurer and be responsible for money not her own, paid in at all kinds of times and places, to make it balance to a cent, not to mention collecting all the dues from delinquent members without gaining their disfavor. If she is a thoughtful woman, she will realize at this meeting more than at any other, the extent of the self-sacrifice which club officers put into their work. Time, money, strength have they used not looking for gain or reward of any sort, save the satisfaction which comes from faithful service freely rendered.

Then, too, she has become a little better acquainted with some of the women she had not known before, as they sat together at table and enjoyed the good luncheon or chatted together over the tea cups or listened to the witty after-luncheon speeches and had a good laugh. It is needless to say that that club woman went home buoyed up by the thought of having been in at the finish and full of enthusiasm greets her returning family with, "Oh, what a good time we did have at the annual meeting today!"

Which kind of a club woman are you going to be, reader?

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold its last program meeting of the season on Thursday, April 28. The Art and Literature committee presents Miss Amy M. Sacker, who will speak on "Japanese Art Treasures of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts."

On Tuesday, the 26th, the president of the club, Mrs. Frank Nathan, will entertain the executive board at her home at one o'clock.

The Newton Community Club closes its season with the annual meeting on Thursday, April 28, at 2.30 P. M. There will be the customary reports of officers and of chairmen of committees and the election of officers for the ensuing year. There will be special music and a tea.

On Saturday afternoon, April 30, the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will hold the annual meeting at the home of Mrs. F. C. Snow.

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands has arranged a concert for the benefit of the South Side Centre of the West Newton Music School to be held on Saturday evening, April 23rd, at 8 o'clock, in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands. The committee in charge are, Mrs. John W. Locke, chairman, Mrs. Walter A. Dane, Mrs. Everett C. Lewis and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson.

Local Happenings

James B. Thrasher read Canadian dialect stories on Monday evening to an appreciative audience of members of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls. His selections included both humor and pathos and all were well received.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club celebrated its thirtieth birthday with a luncheon for club members only at the home of Mrs. Frank S. Stratton, 15 Glenmore terrace, on Saturday, Apr. 16th. The committee in charge were Miss Marion White, Mrs. W. M. Micks, and Mrs. Stratton. The luncheon was served at small tables, decorated with flowers and dolls bearing quotations from Shakespeare. The members impersonated characters taken from plays studied this year, King Henry VI, Cymbeline and Comedy of Errors.

After each course, kings, queens and courtiers progressed from table to table.

The afternoon was taken up with frolics, a contest in placing quotations and music Mrs. S. L. Eaton, the founder, benefitted by her many years' study, took first prize on quotations. Miss Mary Newhall sang several Shakesperian songs. Miss Rhoda Cohen rendered a piano solo, then accompanied Miss Dagmar Linderquist, violinist. The afternoon closed with a trio, Mrs. H. N. Milliken playing the 'cello, Miss Linderquist, pupil of Felix Winternitz, violin, and Miss Cohen, the piano.

Members and guests of the Social Science Club listened with great interest to a talk on "Conditions in Mexico at the Present Time" by Mr. Francisco Vela of the Harvard Medical School. Mr. Vela began by giving a brief summary of political events in Mexico from 1910, when President Diaz, after a rule of 30 years, was driven from the country. He was succeeded by Madero, whose presidency lasted less than two years. He was a man of ability and high ideals, but he did not have the support of the army. After his death by violence, General Huerta succeeded to the office, but was never recognized by the American government. Carranza, the governor of one of the states, overthrew Heurta and became president. Mr. Vela expressed his approval of the attitude of the Wilson administration toward Mexico during this time.

President Obregon was not responsible in any way for the murder of Carranza and he was elected according to the Mexican constitution.

That the situation in Mexico is improving is shown in several ways. Mexican bonds and securities in the New York market are going up. The army has been reduced to one-fifth of its former size, and the money thus saved is being spent on new schools and better pay for the teachers. Mexican trains are now running without guards of soldiers, thus showing that traveling is no longer dangerous. But the railroad situation is very poor, as much of the rolling stock was destroyed during the revolutions. The Government has established agricultural colonies for the ex-soldiers.

The financial condition is encouraging—no more paper money is being issued; there is a surplus in the treasury of several millions, and in a few months Mexico will begin to pay interest on her foreign debt. With regard to mining, the silver mines are closed down, but the gold, copper, coal and iron mines are busy, and the oil business is exceedingly prosperous—25 per cent dividends being not uncommon.

In speaking of the question of recognition by our Government, Mr. Vela said that Senator Fall of New Mexico and a group of American capitalists insist that it shall not be granted until concessions are made which the Mexican Government regard as unjust. The reports in the papers are extremely unfair. The attitude of President Harding is encouraging, as he recently conferred with the charge d'affaires in Mexico City, who was called to Washington for that express purpose.

The reasons why Mexicans dislike and distrust Americans are partly historical, dating back to the Mexican War in 1848 when Texas, New Mexico and part of California were taken by the United States, and in recent times the holding of Vera Cruz for over a year. Mexicans naturally take the side of Colombia in the Panama matter. They refer to the United States as "the monster of the North," and fear intervention constantly on almost any pretext.

Mr. Vela touched on the question of the diplomatic notes sent to his country by the United States, many of which have been worded in such a way as to cause intense resentment.

There were many questions and remarks, after which the meeting adjourned with a rising vote of thanks.

MR. UNDERWOOD TO LEAVE NEWTON

Mr. Homer K. Underwood, head of the English Department of Newton Classical High School, has been called to an important position as head of a large school for boys in New London, Connecticut. Mr. Underwood has been three years connected with Newton schools, but in this short time has enlisted the enthusiastic support of the student body as well as the confidence of the teaching staff who recognize in him a scholar of superior merit and a gentleman of rare qualities, whose leadership has been masterly and constructive.

The English Department of the High School has charge not only of English in grammar and rhetoric, in familiarizing the student with the best in drama, essay, poetry, in inspiring and instructing the student to write accurately and write well, but has also within its scope the charge of the monthly and annual magazines, the public debates, the prize speaking, the writing and production of the annual play, and countless other literary activities which give representation of the school to the public.

The English Department under Mr. Underwood's leadership has secured a high reputation for scholarly achievement in all these fields. Newton Classical High School will sustain a great loss at his leaving. Anyone who has heard him teach Tennyson's Idylls of the King to a large class of Junior or Senior boys, actively interested in matters of football, or of practical modern life, will appreciate how skilfully he has inspired these boys with chivalrous and spiritual ideals. The Bulkeley School for Boys of New London is to be congratulated on securing Mr. Underwood as its principal.

Mr. Underwood's educational life has been as follows: Graduate Washington and Jefferson College, 1899, Postgraduate Yale University, 1901, Certificates in Educational Course, Yale Summer Course, one year at Columbia College in special work, one year in foreign travel and study.

He has held several important positions: Principal of Sewickley, Penn., High School, Head of English department in Fall River, Wellesley, and Passiac, New Jersey. He has also edited, Sir Roger de Coverley Papers, Life of Samuel oJhnson, Leaflet, an English leaflet of New Jersey educators.

The good wishes of the Classical High School will follow him in his new position in New London.

Mrs. Eva Whiting White of the Elizabeth Peabody House spoke on the Simmons graduates' place in the world and the need of upholding the high standard of the college. Mr. Bothfeld, former mayor of Newton represented the corporation, and spoke of the work already accomplished and prospects ahead. Mrs. Stafford Johnson also said a few words in regard to the Garden Fete to be held June 4th. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Acorn Dramatic Club of Troop II, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Cunningham, gave a splendid performance of "A Virginia Heroine," last Friday evening, April 15th, at Channing Church, Newton. Miss Cunningham not only directed the play, but also took the part of Topsy, portraying the character in such a clever manner, as to bring forth repeated laughter and applause from the audience.

Miss Emma Gilley, as Nora also created much mirth on the part of the audience and received much applause. The cast included Meta Bachmann, Evelyn Cunningham, Doris Paine, Katherine White, Helen Nagel, Francis Holmes, Dorothy Pudsey, Esther Harding, Emma Gilley, Elizabeth Wetherbee, Alice Williams.

The Troop was very fortunate in having Miss Gladys Avery, who sang between the acts. Her beautiful voice was greatly enjoyed by all.

The candy sale, in charge of Lieutenant Margaret Ball was very successful.

A large audience was present, including Mrs. Frank Day, Girl Scout Commissioner of Newton, Local Director, Miss Caroline Freeman, and the members of the Troop II Committee who acted as patronesses.

The proceeds are to go towards the Newton Girl Scout Camp Fund.

The play committee follows: business manager, Captain Redfield; stage manager and coach, Evelyn Cunningham; scenery and lighting, Lieut. Eleanor Smith; properties and music, Lieut. Elizabeth Wetherbee; publicity, Lieut. Emma K. Gilley; ads and programmes, Scout Alice B. Williams; tickets, Scout Katherine White; ushers, Scout Hope Hodder; candy, Lieut. Ball.

vised the construction received a potted plant and Mrs. J. D. Coward received a basket of pinks. Refreshments were served and a most happy and significant evening passed into history.

On Saturday evening the Ladies' Aid served a complimentary Banquet to the men who contributed volunteer labor in the construction of the Social Rooms of the Church. Forty-six men were present. The occasion was unique in the history of this parish, and the good fellowship and comradeship developed in co-operating for the attainment of the desired goal was evident. Rev. A. F. Reimer, D. D., Superintendent of the Boston City Missionary Society was present and delivered a very interesting address. The Rev. Chas. R. Ross, D.D., pastor of the M. E. Church of Newtonville gave a helpful and inspiring address on the "Man Power of the Church and its Relation to Community Advance."

On Monday evening last the Wesley Men's Bible Class held its Annual Banquet in the Parish Hall. This was an occasion never to be forgotten by all present. The tables presented a most attractive appearance and the caterer quite outdid himself for the occasion. The pastor of the church acted as toast master and in felicitious vein introduced the guests of the evening. Mrs. Edwin H. Hughes, wife of the Resident Bishop of New England, and Bishop Francis J. McConnell, D. D., of Pittsburgh, Penna, formerly pastor of this church delivered the address of the evening. In the lucid and scholarly style of which he is master he presented the Mission of the Christian Church in this Day" in a way that challenged the loyalty of all present.

Thus this "Mother Church of Newton Methodism" addresses itself to the community task with renewed vision, vigor and equipment.

Baptist Church in Charlestown, also referred to his friendship with Mr. Peakes, and told a number of humorous incidents of their experiences together, and gave him the welcome of an old friend. In his charge to him, as a pastor, he suggested that he emphasize the pastoral work, often neglected in these busy days, and that he preach a sweet and winsome gospel.

Mr. Peakes was then called upon to respond. In a few words he expressed his appreciation of the welcome which he had received, and said that he was convinced that, if there ever had been differences between the churches in West Newton, they had been "fixed up." He said that he hoped no untoward circumstance would mark his pastorate here. In one of his earlier pastorates the church had burned down, another had suffered from an explosion, and still another had been struck by lightning. He said that he had been reading of late ponderous books on the duty of a pastor and had become somewhat discouraged, but that he hoped with the help of his parishioners, he might be able to accomplish something worth while.

The address to the church was given by Professor W. N. Donovan of the Newton Theological School, also a friend of Mr. Peakes. Professor Donovan suggested three ways in which the church might prove helpful—by co-operation in pastoral work, by words of appreciation in the home as well as in the sanctuary, and by prayor.

Miss Jeanette Hart Howe played the organ prelude and postlude, and, as an interlude between the addresses, Miss Olive K. Burrison sang several selections.

At the close of the program refreshments were served in the vestry of the church. Many friends from the different Newtons were present as well as the members of the congregation.

WEST NEWTON NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB

The annual flag match between the ten highest ladies and the ten highest gentlemen at bowling was held at the club house last Saturday night. This is the consummation of the winter's bowling. In 1919 and 1920 the ladies won, but this year the honors went to the gentlemen. A special feature was the remarkable bowling of Mr. William F. Chase who bowled three success strikes in his first string The match was very well attended and much enjoyed by all.

NEWTON WINS

Newton won its game with Brookline yesterday through a bit of carelessness by the latter when the infield left their bags unguarded in the ninth inning, allowing Hodder to steal 2nd, and a juggled ball allowing him to score the winning tally. Newton deserved a good trimming. Nine errors were chalked up against the home team and Blodgett, pitching an excellent game, received poor support.

Brookline opened by piling up three runs in the first inning. Murray knocked a grounder to third and Harris overthrew first. Fleming struck out and then Casson hit to Leary, who made an error, Murray taking third from where he stole home when Blodgett tried to catch Casson off first. Chase sacrificed and Casson made the second tally.

Corcoran then hit to Leary, who overthrew first, Corcoran taking second. Mitchell singled and Corcoran made the third run when Mitchell was nearly caught stealing second.

In the fourth three singles netted Newton two runs. In the fifth a balk by Blodgett gave Brookline another tally. In the th inning, Harris flied out to left field. Murphy hit to center field for two bases and Garrity got a single, sending Murphy home. Garrity stole second and then Bingsten batting for Stafford, hit to Murray, who juggled the ball, letting Garrity score. This run tied the score.

Hodder hit over second base. Bingsten was caught at second. Hodder stole second, the bag being unguarded. He continued on to third, where Chase made the first break in nine innings of good fielding, by dropping Murray's throw and allowing him to score the winning run.

UPPER FALLS LADIES HOLD ANNUAL LUNCHEON

The Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Newton held its annual meeting and luncheon in the new Parish Hall on Thursday. The meeting was one of the very best of the year in both attendance and enthusiasm, and the committee having the luncheon in charge excelled in its provision.

In spite of the fact that the society has been handicapped in its work while the building operations had been under way, the activities of the organization enabled them to earn upward of eight hundred dollars for the year. After planning for several future social events the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. J. D. Coward; 1st vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Tully; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Schuyler Cutler; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Chadwick; treasurer, Mrs. S. F. Oldfield. "NATHAN HALE"

Given by Senior Class at Newton Technical High Schools

"Nathan Hale," a four-act drama of the Revolution, has just been successfully presented by the Senior Class of the Newton Technical High School. The presentation of this play marks a new era in school dramatics. "No more light, frivolous farces such as heretofore presented" say the Seniors.

There was a dress rehearsal on Thursday afternoon, and the Assembly Hall was filled to overflowing. The Friday evening performance was not as well attended as would have been the case had the weather been less inclement. The Saturday evening presentation was a suitable ending. It is regretted that several had to be turned away from the doors that night, as the actors were at their best.

The consensus of opinion is that the play was an overwhelming success. Enthusiasm never ran as high as during this presentation. The alumni and persons not connected with the school in any way expressed the opinion that it was the best they had ever seen in the school.

"Nathan Hale" was written by Clyde Fitch, the noted playwright who wrote "Beau Brummel," recently acted in Newton. It is interesting to note that the author wrote "Nathan Hale" expressly for Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, who played the leading parts. The plot is not intricate, yet is extremely well constructed, the events following in logical order. The costumes, although more costly than is usual for a school play, warranted a heavy expenditure, as they materially aided the successful presentation of the drama. The last scene shows the hanging of Nathan Hale, as he utters

GIVES SMOKER

Central Club of Newtonville Has An Enjoyable Evening

Well over a hundred members of the Men's Club of Central Church enjoyed thoroughly the evening of April 25 as guests of Mr. Fred W. Rust at his home on Kirkstall road, Newtonville.

"Jake" Stafford, of football fame, held forth the early part of the evening in what he chooses to call "Jake the Fake." His performance, consisting of many colored silk handkerchiefs which change from blue to pink and then to yellow while you look at them, little balls that come out of thin air, and card reading that would turn an ambitious bridge player green with envy, scored a decided hit. The omelet that turned out to be two small guinea pigs and the obliging hen that laid honest to goodness eggs with cards inside 'em capped a well planned climax.

The senior Stafford then took the floor for a brief business session. After nominating committees had been appointed to present a ballot at the May meeting to be held the first Monday in Newtonville, plans for co-operating with other churches and the unification of Welfare Work in the Newtons were discussed.

Mr. Rust followed with a personally conducted tour thru post-war Europe, covering England, France and the battle fields. He mentioned particularly the rapidity with which these countries seem to have readjusted themselves. Both France and England are very much the same as they were before the War. Battle areas are being reclaimed rapidly, even the wounded and maimed seem to have disappeared. Mr. Rust visited the American cemeteries along the front and remarked in detail the honor and reverence the French hold for our boys who gave their all for the Cause.

As refreshments were served Dr. J. F. Brant of Oakwood road entertained with stories of his various hunting trips in Michigan, New York and New Brunswick. An exhibit consisting of mounted heads of deer and moose, the skin of a sizable black bear and the Savage rifle that brought them down lent color to his absorbing narrative of experiences in the big woods. The hunting enthusiasm proved to be quite contagious and by the time the party came to an end there was hardly a man among the hundred who did not feel a real hankering to hit the pine trail with the Doctor to match wits with the wild things of the big woods.

NEW THEATRE PLANNED

Newton Syndicate to Erect a Modern Theatre at Washington and Bacon Sts.

, Papers were passed yesterday conveying the Bacon estate, corner of Bacon and Washington streets, Newton, to a syndicate of Newton gentlemen who are planning to erect in the near future, a first class, modern, moving picture theatre. The new building will be two stories high and face Washington street.

The syndicate is planning to be incorporated under the name of Newton Theatre, Inc., with a capital of between $150,000 and $200,000 and it is expected that work will be started within six weeks.

This property will be financed and operated by Newton residents and the pictures to be shown will be censored by Newton people.

DECKER—CROSSMAN

On Wednesday evening, the marriage of Rear Admiral Benton C. Decker, United States Navy, to Mrs. Alice K. Crossman of Newton Centre, took place at the home of the bride's parents, Hon. and Mrs. James M. W. Hall, 97 Lake avenue, Newton Centre. Only the members of the immediate families were present at the wedding, which marks the second romance between the Decker and Crossman families as the da ighter of Admiral Decker by his first marriage is the wife of Alfred Hall Crossman, son of the bride of last evening. The other children of the bride, Miss Ruth Alden Crossman and Mortimer Blake Crossman, were present, the daughter acting as her mother's attendant. The admiral's daughter, Mrs. Alfred Hall Crossman, also attended the bride. The admiral was unattended. The little grandson of the couple, Alfred Hall Crossman, Jr., was present to see his maternal grandfather and paternal grandmother united in marriage. Rev. Edwin H. Gibson of Hanover, Mass., was the officiating minister.

NEW PRESIDENT

Arthur W. Blakemore to Head Newton Improvement Association

While the attendance at the annual meeting of the Newton Improvement Association, held on Monday night at the Hunnewell Club house was rather meagre, those who came were well repaid for so doing for the matters considered were of some interest and the address of Supt. Ernst Hermann of the Newton Playground Department was well worth hearing.

President Grosvenor Calkins presided and reports were received from the executive committee on the matter of train schedules, billboards, the pond on Farlow Park and on the coming "Clean up week."

Mr. E. B. Church made a report on the conditions at the Newton Olympia Theatre which gave a history of the action of the Board of Health in ordering the place closed as a nuisance and then extending the time for installation of a new ventilating system. It was stated that the new ventilating system and a proposed enlargement of the theatre would be completed by Sept. 1st. A resolution was passed recommending that the theatre be closed until it had been thoroly cleaned and an adequate system of ventilation installed and in working order.

Hon. A. R. Weed and Mr. Fred H. Tucker made a report on the Burr Playground stating that May 21st had been selected for a demonstration of the facilities of the playground and that Mr. and Mrs. Burr would be present. President Calkins said that this playground was a splendid example of public spirit and public generosity not in money alone, but in the time which Mr. Burr had given to the thousand and one details of the playground. The committee submitted the draft of a letter expressing the thanks of the Association to Mr. and Mrs. Burr

"LITTLE BIG CHIEF"

Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., Gives an Enjoyable Entertainment

Members and friends of the Lucy Jackson Chapter of the D. A. R., have reason to be proud of the play, "Little Big Chief," written and conducted by Miss Ethel Hale Freeman at Players Hall last Friday and Saturday for the Lucy Jackson Chapter House Fund.

The theme, the life of the Pilgrim Fathers and their relation to their neighbors, the Indians, has been a popular and appropriate one in this Tercentenary year. Yet, this theme was handled by Miss Freeman with a skill which removed it from the commonplace, and held the attention of the audience from beginning to end. As the author herself said, "the story was not intended to represent actual events, but the possible romance of the period."

The play opened with a Prologue representing, first, the Indians on the shore of Plymouth Bay chanting a salute to the rising sun, and, secondly, the Pilgrims chanting on their way to church.

Act one revealed the Indiains in their daily life; the women weaving, and the children playing "Leap Frog," led by Little Big Chief, the son of Black Mountain. The Indian children in this scene were particularly effective.

Then came a conference on the part of the Pilgrims in regard to the obtaining of food, and the unexpected bringing of food to them by "Dancing Brook," an Indian Princess who had fallen in love with one of their number. At the beginning the attitude of the Indians is friendly towards the White Men but the stealing of food by one of the latter produces a change in attitude.

In Act 2 a glimpse of life in a stockade was portrayed. Here one saw the Pilgrims spinning, knitting and weaving, while one of their number, Aunt Serenity (Miss Amy V. Beale) told most skilfully a tale of one of her earlier experiences with the Indians. This produced an atmosphere of terror in which the knocking at the door and the announcement of an Indian attack by Dancing Brook who has come to give warning, comes as a natural climax. This scene was exceedingly effective in costuming and grouping. Master Kenneth Good, "the only man present," added a charming touch.

In the meantime, the Pilgrims seeking knowledge of the proposed attack and the whereabouts of Patience, one of their number who has been captured, in their turn capture Little Big Chief. The latter in a taunting manner flaunts the knowledge of Mistress Patience's whereabouts in their faces, and escapes. This scene was splendidly done by Miss Margaret Arnold whose acting throughout was characterized by vivacity and charm.

The final act shows Little Big Chief seemingly at the point of death. This scene admirably brought out the fatalism of the Indians and their stoicism in the face of calamity. All other methods having failed, the captive Patience is sent for, and her gentle administrations restore Little Big Chief to health. She receives as her reward her freedom and a promise of peace between the Indians and the White men.

In an epilogue, one saw the Indians departing in their canoes, and the Pilgrims chanting a hymn of thanksgiving.

The music throughout was most effective. That of the Indians was in a minor strain, with the strong rhythm characteristic of the Indians, and that of the Pilgrims had a simple majesty and dignity. Among the noteworthy songs may be mentioned, "Dancing Brook's Song," "Love in a Wilderness," a duet between Patience (Mrs. Harry K. Good) and Master Prence (Mr. F. Paul Welsch) and "What Shall Be." Too much praise cannot be given to the chorus which showed the results of careful training.

Between acts the ushers sold candy and Plymouth Mayflowers.

The cast included Mr. Prescott Warren, Mr. Edwin S. Drowne, Miss Margaret F. Arnold, Miss Mary B. Kimball, Mr. Geoffrey Baker, Mrs. Harry K. Good, Mr. F. Paul Welsch, Mr. Herbert Good, Mr. Robert Perry, Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, Miss Amy V. Beale, Mrs. Richard Pierce, Master Kenneth Good, Miss Marguerite Hatch.

The chorus was composed of Mrs. L. H. Howe, Mrs. C. S. Jennings, Mrs. Philip Thayer, Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Mrs. E. B. Parker, Mrs. C. F. Spring, Miss Jean C. Grabow, Miss Dorothy Fairbrother, Miss Margaret Steadman; Mr.

Safety For Securities

The value of a safe deposit box rests on its security. The vaults of THE NEWTON TRUST COMPANY are modern and fully protected. Each box has two keys, both of which are in your possession. The master key—without which the box cannot be opened—is held by the bank and is an additional protection should your keys become lost. The vaults are secured by fire proof and burglar proof walls; by extra heavy doors of drill-proof steel and protected by an electric system of latest design connected with vault alarms which are tested regularly. The locks and combinations are inspected at regular intervals by vault engineers.

We have at present a few remaining boxes for rent at $5, $10 and $20 a year and would consider it a pleasure to show you samples of the boxes and explain our vault construction to you.

his famous words, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

The players were well drilled, and showed an aptitude for their particular parts. Charles Laffie, playing the leading part as Nathan Hale, received high praise and commendation for his acting. Margaret Dale as the heroine, Alice Adams, Margaret Barry as Mrs. Knowlton, Genevieve Tolan as Angelica, Edward O'Halloran as Capt. Cunningham, and Frank Quinn as Major Guy Fitzroy, the villainous cousin of Alice, also did exceptionally well.

To Miss Wetherbee, who directed the production of the play; to Mr. Kuntz, the stage manager; and to Mr. Kidger, the business manager, great praise is due.

The scenery was unusually good. The setting of the stage showed diligence and taste on the part of the stage manager. Particularly in the third and fourth acts was the setting remarkable for a school play. The scenery, which cost nearly $400, will be a permanent gift of the Class of 1921 to the school.

The cast included: H. Stanley Place, Clifford Rummell, Margaret Dale, Eli Swartz, Margaret Barry, Genevieve Tolan, Charles Laffie, Rexford Taylor, Frank Quinn, John Walsh, Stephen McNeil, Warren Mercer, Malcolm Nielson, Edward O'Halloran, Helen McEnroy, George Thomas and John Kneeland, with Margaret Brown, Kathryn Knudsen, Gertrude McLaughlin, Grace Sutcliffe, Mildred Vassalotti, Helena Womboldt, Alan Brenan, Ralph Brenan, Charles Delorey, Walter Hood, Francis McNeil, John O'Neil, and Albert Richards in minor parts.

It is to be hoped that such plays as "Nathan Hale" will always be presented in the future in the Newton Technical High School.

AVIATION IN ANCIENT INDIA

Writings Refer to a Kind of Airplane Used in Warfare in the Year 500 B. C.

Writing on "Aerial Warfare in Ancient India" in Discovery, Ikbal Ali Shah recalls the interesting fact that the science of aviation was conceived in India as early as 500 B. C. Incised in the caves of Ellora are figures of ancient Hindu aerial machines, and there are references in the traditional books of the Brahmans, particularly the Ramayana and Mahabharatta, to the use of "flying carriages" in the earliest period of Indian history.

The Ramayana (compiled about 500 B. C.) informs us that Rawun, a king of Ceylon, used to fly over his opponents' armies, "and not infrequently caused them severe loss;" while after the defeat and death of that monarch at the hands of the Brahmans his "flying carriage" became the property of the Ramchanda, the Hindu chief, who flew in it to his capital at Ajindhia.

In the Sanskrit classic one comes across numerous aeronautical terms. Among these are Vaman-yanu, meaning: To propel a flying carriage. Vaman-Chirya, meaning: To fly in a flying carriage; Vaman-Perbhoot, meaning: A succession of flying carriages; and Vaman-Arj, meaning: One who works a flying carriage (an aeronaut).

"Such phrases are very frequently met with in the Hindu epic writings," says the writer. "It is generally admitted that, when a language is in process of formation, new words and terms are coined as the necessity arises. Is it venturing too far, therefore, to assert that, if flying machines had not existed in ancient India, such phrases could surely never have come into common use? Why, then, do we find them so deeply embedded in old Sanskrit?"—American Review of Reviews.

UNHURT IN FLAMING PLANE

American Airmen Give Demonstration of Efficiency of New Aircraft Fireproofing Compound.

A hair-raising demonstration of the efficacy of a new aircraft fireproofing compound was staged at Atlantic City, N. J., a few weeks ago by two American airmen, late of the Lafayette Escadrille, reports Popular Mechanics magazine, in an illustrated article. Each of the men first donned a special flying suit and metal helmet, both of which had been painted with the compound. Mechanics then sprayed each with gasoline. Meanwhile the plane, which also had been painted with the preparation, was similarly drenched with gasoline. Pilot and passenger climbed into their cockpits. As the engine was started a torch was applied to airmen and aircraft. Roaring forward over the airdrome, like a flaming, smoking comet, the plane rose into the air and for five minutes horrified the spectators. At the end of this time the flames had died out and the plane was brought to earth. Careful inspection having been made, airmen and airplane were found to be unharmed except for a coating of soot.

Lunch Sentiment.

It is fashionable these days to discount the "little red schoolhouse" and remind sentimental political orators who wish to defend it and other traditions with a state constabulary, that it was the workroom of an overworked teacher. But the "carry your own lunch movement," which follows some years of "proper hot lunch" in our schools and offices, does bring the old days back when the last half-hour before noon was a squirming, anxious wait before Johnny and Bobbie could examine their little tin boxes and swap apples and pears and thick cheese sandwiches, and boast about their mothers' cakes. Those were the days when hard-boiled eggs cost 2 cents, instead of 10, and the doughnut and the cookie were not stereotyped bakery products but the treasure of home jars on the topmost pantry shelf. Those were the days!

Poilu to Keep His "Kepi."

Some months ago stalwarts of the old French army were grieved to learn that the kepi was to go the way of the red trousers, its place being taken by a steel helmet for parade occasions and a soft bonnet for undress uniform. The decree was always unpopular, since the kepi, in addition to being comfortable and smart, is immemorably associated with the glory of French arms.

Now, however, the minister of war answers a deputy in the Journal Officiel by stating that a return to the kepi is actually under consideration. It is good news, and already in many garrisons sous officers are allowed to wear it as a part of their walking-out kit.—London Times.

A Flivver Catches Grasshoppers.

Fred Hawkins, a farmer in southern Thayer county, has discovered a new use for the flivver. Grasshoppers are plentiful in his section and it is necessary to kill them off now before they can lay their eggs. He attaches to the front of his Ford car a trap-like device made on the principle of a vacuum cleaner. It takes in a 30-foot swath and will function at any speed up to forty miles an hour. He has cleaned five hundred acres of alfalfa by this device and gathered in about three-quarters of a ton of hoppers in the once over.—Sioux City Tribune.

MADE HIS POSITION CLEAR

The night was perfect beneath the promontory where the car had stopped; the lake lay still under the glories of a full moon. But the occupants of the car, a man and a woman, had no eyes for the beauties of the night. The latter was beautiful, perfectly attired. She was evidently a woman fit to grace the "400." Her hands bore witness to the fact that she had never known work of any sort. She and the cares of the world were strangers. The man was different. He was an ordinary man—in deep thought, his mind apparently tortured by some great problem. Suddenly he broke the silence.

"Why, O, why can you not stay any longer," he pleaded, "at least until after the ball?"

"I have told you once before," she replied, "that I can never spend a moment under the same roof with a man who tried to do such an infamous thing as you did."

"I know," he admitted, "but that was in a fit of passion. Couldn't you forget that and come back under the old conditions?"

She pondered for a moment. His heart beat wildly in expectation. "I am afraid not, because I tire of the monotony of your home. I long for the city, its gay life and its opportunities. No, I shall never, never come back to you. Please drive me to the depot."

Not far from the station he drew up under the overhanging branches of an elm. Once more he pleaded with her, but she was adamant. "This is final?" he asked in a last appeal.

"Final."

"Well, then, get out and walk and be hanged to you and all other cooks," he stormed. "I'll lower the wages of any one in my house if I want to, or know the reason why."—Brown Jug.

MACHINE TO WORK WONDERS

If Reports Are True, Present Methods of Harvesting Grain Will Soon Be Revolutionized.

Wheat harvesting in the Central West, where planting is on a large scale, is on the eve of being revolutionized through the advent of a machine that repeated experiments have shown will cut, harvest and thrash from 40 to 70 acres of standing grain in a day. It dumps cleaned grain into wagons that move along with it.

The revolutionary feature of it is not alone that it can accomplish so much, but that it does it with but one man on the job. The difference in cost between this machine's methods and the present scheme, which involves headers, binders, thrashing machines, separators, straw wagons, cook cars, pitchforks, horses and men, is calculated at $7 an acre, which is as much as many thousands of acres of western Kansas and Nebraska land sold for a few years ago.

Its inventors claim for it that it will junk half a billion dollars' worth of harvesting machinery now in use, and release western grain growers from reliance upon the nomads who constitute the army of harvest hands that moves each summer from Texas to the Dakotas.—Christian Science Monitor.

Use for Old Clay Tablet.

We don't know what the professional antiquarians think about it, but as one more or less familiar with the trade, we are convinced that the Babylonians practiced printing 4,000 years ago. Those well-preserved clay tablets prove it. The Babylonians we know to have been a wonderfully intelligent people and the archeologists tell us that they filed their legal documents, inscribed on clay, with a thin layer of damp clay laid over each in order to preserve it.

And, of course, anybody with one eye and half sense, would have discovered that the "cast," or stereotype thus made could be, in turn, duplicated by hundreds. Clay copies of the clay documents—each a matrix—could be made at will by the original writer, and there can be no doubt that it was done. You can't restrain an author from publishing, when he has the means at hand! Only fancy what our own poets would do in the circumstances! And perhaps they will adopt this secret of the Babylonians. We may have spilled some Babylonian beans, but we don't care. We know where there's a clay pit and we may go to publishing.—Chicago Daily News.

The Butler's Complaint.

"There would be fewer divorces," said Gen. Baxter Sweeney at a Knoxville luncheon, "if discipline were observed in marriage—if the rules of politeness held there as elsewhere.

"A Knoxville butler the other day resigned his job.

"'Why are you quitting, Halliburton?' a brother butler asked him.

"'Because they treat one so badly,' was the answer. 'Why, they treat me as one of the family. The mistress calls me an old fool as often as she does her husband.'"

Would Preserve Walls of Granada.

A dispatch to the Madrid newspaper El Sol from Granada, in Andalusia, reports that the ancient walls, which are older than those surrounding the Alhambra, are being destroyed with dynamite by a contractor in order to obtain stone for the roadways. A public protest has been sent to the minister of public works.

SCHOOL NOTES

Roger Wolcott School

The Roger Wolcott School First Nine has played two games already this season, one with the Hyde School and one with the Emerson School. The game with the Hyde School ended in a 10-9 score in favor of the Roger Wolcott team; the game with the Emerson, which was a League game, was awarded to the Emerson School with a score of 14-9. Captain Malcolm Hill, Manager Henry Johnson, Hartwell Souther and Harry Thayer played exceptionally fast baseball in both games. The lineup for the Roger Wolcott team was Hayward Woolston, 1b; Malcolm Hill, Captain, p; Henry Johnson, Manager, c; Harry Thayer, 2b; Hartwell Souther, 3b; (Frank Spain, 3b); Bob Turner, ss; Earle Bourne, cf; Joseph Cotter, rf; Bob Marsh (John Evans) lf. At the game with the Hyde School, Dudley Rhodes and Dick Thayer, of the Newton High School, were the umpires.

Grade Eight again won first honors in attendance the past month with 96.7 per cent. Miss Moore's class was second with 95.9 per cent. The attendance for the School was the highest we have ever had and the number of tardy marks the lowest for this school year.

Miss Genevieve Doran, our new Seventh Grade teacher is achieving a brilliant success in her work in Waban. She has recently started a school orchestra and presented a vocational guidance play entitled "Omeka Gowns," which was written and played by the girls of the seventh grade.

The children of the second grade, together with their teacher, Miss Jane Wyman, have for the last few months issued a very interesting young folks newspaper. The articles have been written by the children and a father of one of them has had them typewritten in his office.

Mrs. Pearl E. Forbes is fast completing the giving of the Intelligence Tests in the building. The teachers are marking and tabulating results as rapidly as possible and a high standing throughout the building has thus far been found.

Emerson School

The Emerson School baseball team won the opening game of the season last Thursday. The game was with the Roger Wolcott team and was played on the Upper Falls playground. The score was 14 to 9.

The two eighth grades with their teachers made an interesting and profitable visit last week Wednesday, to the Saco-Lowell shops. The visit was in connection with the studies in occupations. The visitors were shown through by Mr. Carl Nutter and Miss Ethel Sabin. Every effort was made to show and explain the successive stages in the manufacture of cotton machines from foundry to finished machines in actual operation in the demonstrating room.

The girls' captain ball teams are getting started in grades seven and eight. There are two teams in each of these grades from which one final class team is to be chosen.

Mrs. Oakes and Miss Dill are out of service on account of illness. Mrs. Marcy has substituted for a month in grade one.

An addition to our cabinet collection was made through the gift by Miss Sabin of specimens of cordl and castana nuts showing their growth in the large outer shell.

Newton Classical High

Last Friday afternoon in the gym, the annual gymnastic meet by the girls of the Newton High Schools was held. The list of the events and the results are as follows; Posture won by the Juniors; Floor drill, Sophomores; Rotary hand travelling, Junior; Window Ladder, Freshman; Rope Ladder, Seniors; Horizontal Ladder, Sophomores; Rope Climbing, Senior; Saddle Vault, Freshman; Buck, Junior; Fence Vault, Junior; Swing Jump, Junior; Parallel Bars, Sophomore; Relay Race, Sophomores; Arch Goal Ball, Sophomores; this last event giving the meet to the Sophomores with the Juniors a close second.

This evening the Boys Debating Club will debate Brookline in the assembly hall of this school. The debate will start promptly at 8 o'clock and will be over about 9 o'clock. After the debate there will be dancing in the gym until 12. The music will be supplied b ythe 'Chimes" 5 piece orchestra. Only those who attend the debate will be admitted to the dance. Tickets for both the dance and the debate may be secured at the door.

On Monday at the close of school the picture of the entire senior class was taken in front of the school. The print is now on one of the bulletin boards and Roger Cummins is ready to take the orders for it.

The members of the senior play casts are busy most every afternoon rehearsing for the coming plays on the 7th of May. The plays are, "The Rubber Key" by Priscilla Aurelio, '21; and "Make Yourself at Home" by Ruth Ayres, '20. Norman Foss, the manager of the plays has engaged an excellent pianist who will play during the intermission.

Lasell

On Monday a number of girls from the Home Economics Department visited the Sunshine Biscuit bakery.

Mr. Charles Wagner of New York City has been spending the week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Woodland.

As usual, keen interest is being shown in canoeing. The entries for the crews are very large. The tryouts so far have been in the small canoes, but this week the war canoes are being used and from now on the work will be competitive, until the final sifting out is accomplished and the class crews formed. Mr. Earl Ordway, as in years past, will be the coach.

Next Monday the annual trip to Plymouth will be taken.

Mr. Frank Palmer Spear of Northeastern College, is to be the speaker at vespers on Sunday.

TWO TRIPS TO BOSTON DAILY

Mason School

During the recent "Tryouts" for the baseball team the number of candidates has been reduced from 20 to 10.

The Newton Centre Playground Tennis Courts are being put in good condition for playing.

Last Friday afternoon a play called "I'll Try" was given in Mason hall by one of the sixth grades. Through the magic power of a fairy called, "Patience," the Parts of Speech came to life and so impressed themselves upon Caroline Augusta, a little girl who hated English Grammar, that with their help, she said, "I'll Try."

The final meeting of the "Bomeva" bread club was an exhibition in the Mason hall on Monday afternoon.

The club consists of eleven girls who have held regular meetings since Jan. 1, 1921, under the direction of the cooking teacher.

First, a demonstration lesson was given by Mary Barley and Anita Bolger in which popovers were made, baked, and then distributed to the invited guests.

Miss Forbes of the State Dept. of Agriculture judged the samples of bread. The prize winners, in order of excellence were Anita Bolger, first, Margaret Barry, second, and Elfrida Kevorkian, third.

The guests greatly enjoyed looking at the sample of bread and the club booklets.

The first ball game of the season was played Tuesday afternoon between the Bigelow and the Mason teams on the Bigelow playground.

The Masons won,—score being 13 to 11.

Bigelow School

Saturday morning, April 16, a picked team from eighth grade lost a game to a picked team grade seven with a score of 12-10. Last Monday, April 25, the two grades met again, with a resulting score of 13-6 in favor of the eighth grade.

Bigelow defeated Horace Mann-Claflin by a 16-7 score in a practice game April 21. McPherson and Shaw featured.

The Bigelow played its first league game with the Mason on Tuesday of this week. The score was 13-11 in favor of the Mason. Gallagher's hitting was a feature.

New exit lights have been installed in the assembly hall.

Arbor Day was observed this afternoon by exercises in the school hall. Alan Shaw, chairman of the Social Committee, presided. Each of the several classes contributed one number to the program, which began with the reading of the Governor's proclamation.

Miss Coyle's fourth grade gave an interesting little play for the Friday afternoon social hour, April 22. It was called "Twenty-Six of Them," and was much enjoyed by those participating as well as by the audience.

Stearns School

Miss Welch and Miss Stoddard took their classes, grades VII, to Boston last Thursday on another history trip. Places visited this time were Faneuil Hall, North Church, Copp's Hill Cemetery, the Navy Yard and Bunker Hill. The children climbed Bunker Hill Monument and to the belfry of the North Church. At the Navy Yard they saw a chaser come into dry dock and again after the water had been mostly pumped out.

They went on board the Constitution.

Mr. Dacey, teacher of Grade VIII has returned to his duties after an illness of three weeks.

The annual banquet of the Newton Girls' Club was given at Stearns School Centre on Tuesday evening April 26th, at seven o'clock. An interesting program was arranged by the Entertainment Committee, Miss Mary Delaney, chairman. The Club had as their guests, Miss Mildred Gutterson of the National League of Girls' Clubs, Miss Virginia Mason, Miss Mary Kimball, Miss Caroline Lovett, Mrs. George Schraft, Miss Helen Wadham, and Mrs. Clifford Waterhouse.

A rummage sale will be held at Stearns School Centre on Saturday May 14th, at 2 P. M. This sale will be in charge of a committee including four members of the Mothers' Club four members of the Girls' Club, and four members of the Stearns School Centre.

NEWTON CENTRE COMMUNITY NOTES

The Boys' Work Committee recently appointed by the Men's Club of the First Church is planning a Fathers and Sons' Outing for Saturday, May 7th. The affair will be held at Mr. Wm. C. Brewer's camp on the Charles River at Millis, Mass. Automobiles will be furnished by the Men's club and members of the congregation. Every man and boy who can go is urged to be present.

At 9.15 the party will leave the church following the pilot car through Needham, Dover and Medfield to Millis where the program committee has arranged a series of out-door activities. One of the chief features of the outing will be the dinner cooked over the open fire.

To those fathers who have little opportunity to chum with their boys this day in the woods will be a rare chance to get acquainted. Should the weather prove unfavorable and doubt exist regarding whether or not the Outing will be held, final decision may be had by calling Mr. Anson T. Leary at Centre Newton 1142-M, before 9.15.

There will be three events for girls, a 50 yd. dash, 75 yd. dash, and an 880 yd. relay race. Medals will be given to the winners in all events and ribbons to those who take second and third places. GIRL SCOUTS

The Executive Committee of the Local Council held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, April 21, at the home of Mrs. Albert P. Carter, Newtonville. PIANOFORTE DEMONSTRATION

The First Grade pupils of the Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association gave a demonstration of their work at the Studio of their teacher, Miss Helen Douglas, 84 Bowers street, Saturday afternoon.

Those who were present thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon and were surprised at the work which the classes had accomplished in the sixty lessons.

The Beginners do not come to the piano until they have thoroughly mastered the rudiments of music. These are taught through various drills and games, the hands and fingers being trained at the same time by exercises in technique. A portion of the lesson is also devoted to ear training, the study of the history of music, writing of Major and Minor Scales, melodies, etc. The pupils went through the various drills and exercises with ease and accuracy, showing their thorough training. Pieces were played and transposed to other keys correctly and with expression, and their scales were played smoothly and evenly. Three of the advanced pupils, Miss Stiles, Miss Atwood, and Thelma Coombs played duets with them.

An excellent program was presented which included exercises by the class in Naming of Keys, Intervals, Sharps, Flats, Drill of Notes, Ledger Lines and Spaces, explaining the Meter Mark and Metronome Mark, Musical Terms, Scale Drill, Origin of Time, etc.

The pupils also gave the important events concerning the lives of the famous composers.

Pianoforte selections: Duo, "I Begin," by Edith Holman and Miss Stiles; "Little Golden Locks," by Edith Holman; Duo, "Patrol March," by Edith Holman and Miss Stiles; "Brown Eyes Blue Eyes," by Helen Berry; Duo, "Playing School," by Helen Berry and Thelma Coombs; Duo, "March," by Marguerite Holmberg and Thelma Coombs; "Buzzing Bumble Bee," by Kendall Stiles; Duo, "Good Morning," Kendall Stiles and Miss Stiles; "Child's Good Night," Marguerite Holmberg; Duo, "Waltz" (Schubert), by Mary Lucy Teter and Miss Stiles; "Sing Robin Song," by Mary Lucy Teter; Duo, "Through Field and Forest," by Helen Berry and Thelma Coombs; "Country Dance" (transposed), Helen Berry ;Duo, "Vacation is Over," by Kendall Stiles and Miss Stiles; "Sweet Dream Waltz," by Myrtle Seeley; Duo, "Flattery," by Myrtle Seeley and Henrietta Kruber; "Child and the Bird," by Myrtle Atwood; Duo, "Alexander March," by Myrtle Atwood and Miss Atwood; Duo, "Newcastle," by Mary Lucy Teter and Miss Stiles; "Circus Parade," by Myrtle Seeley; Duo, "Simplette," by Myrtle Seeley and Henrietta Kruber; "Little Masquerades," by Henrietta Kruber; "Merry Party," by Myrtle Atwood; Duo, "Rocky Glen," by Myrtle Atwood and Miss Atwood; Schottische by Henrietta Kruber.

The entire performance was highly creditable to both pupils and teacher.

IN SECOND PLACE

By winning two ball games this week, Newton High now occupies second place in the Suburban League.

At Malden on Tuesday Newton won by the score of 7 to 6 in a well played game. Malden started the scoring in the first inning and, at the end of the third they had scored four runs. In the fourth frame four Newton players crossed the plate by a series of bunched hits, including a double. Three more runs were scored by the visiting boys in the sixth. The Malden players attempted to retaliate, but were only able to put across two runs.

On Wednesday Newton defeated Somerville at Somerville by the score of 5 to 3.

Somerville scored first, getting a pair of runs, but Newton came through with two more in the second. In the fifth Newton took the lead only to be tied again by Somerville in the sixth. Somerville failed to score after that, while Newton counted twice in the eighth.

Blodgett of Newton allowed five hits and Currier one more.

NEW CLUB HOUSE

At the special meeting of the Woodland Club, held this week at the Boston City Club, 130 members attending, it was voted to establish the $200 membership share fund to provide funds to build a new clubhouse.

Woodland has not at present suitable housing facilities, but this decision means that the club will have an adequate building on the site chosen back of the tennis courts.

It has been left to the discretion of the 12 directors when to start building. Tentative plans have been made.

LEGEND IN NEW CLOTHING

Story of Samson and Delilah as It Might Have Been, but Undoubtedly Was Not.

"Now, Sammy," began Delilah, coaxingly, as she advanced toward him with her hands behind her holding a pair of scissors. "Just look up that tree—see the little birdie?"

And she coquettishly displayed the gold fillings in her five front teeth. Samson could never refuse Delilah anything when she flashed all that gold on him.

Delilah gently took hold of a lock of Samson's hair with her left hand, but before she could snip it off with her right, there was a thunderous knock on the door.

'Twas a man on horseback.

"Away! Away!" cried this ancient Paul Revere. "The flood is coming down Mount Dingus. Flee thee hence!"

"Oh, Sammy!" wailed Delilah, dropping the scissors. "And I just paid off the mortgage on the house this very week. Now all that money is wasted. Oh, Sammy!"

Samson thought hard for a moment. Then Delilah flashed her teeth once more.

"Up! Go up in the attic!" commanded Samson. Then he planted a kiss on Delilah's eyebrow and she flew.

Samson dashed out the door and lifted up the house in both hands and tied the doghouse around his neck.

And thus stood he, with Delilah high and dry, while the flood rushed down Mount Dingus and by.

"Gosh!" said Delilah to herself, after it was all over. "I'm glad I didn't cut his hair off before the flood."—Detroit Free Press.

FREEDOM MUST BE BOUGHT

And the Price to Be Paid Is Complete Mastery of All Passions and Appetites.

Freedom is not a gift, but an attainment. It does not characterize the state of nature, but flowers from the growth of personality and civilization.

Action issues from character and there is inner discord and the feeling of restraint until the individual is happy and satisfied in his act and attitude.

A divided will marks incomplete personality, and it is not a free will.

Every man must win his own freedom. He must desire it enough to pay its price, and its price is the mastery of passions and appetites.

As a man gains mastery over his own powers and desires he is free. Resolutions are good, because they witness to the sense of incomplete self-mastery and to the vision of greater self-control and freedom that are possible.—Minneapolis Journal.

Original Galoshes.

The fashionable galoshes that are now flapping about the ankles of pretty girls were first introduced in America about 1830 in Boston. The galoshes or boots were as ugly and clumsy as they are today, but were even more popular. They required peculiar care, as the manufacturers had little knowledge of the use of rubber gum. In winter they froze hard and stiff, and had to be thawed out before they could be worn, and care had to be taken not to thaw them too well, or they would run into a sticky mass. In the summer they got sticky and shapeless unless kept on ice and taken out during a rainstorm only. No one who was anyone thought his or her toilet complete without a pair. They had to be watched carefully, for once they started to rot the smell was terrible, and it was necessary to take them out and bury them.

Plan War on Hair Seals.

Hunting hair seals by airplane and destroying them by machine-gun fire has been seriously proposed to the Canadian fisheries department by fishermen, says a report from Vancouver, B. C. The scheme proposed and tried last spring of trapping the salmon-destroying hair seals at the mouth of the Fraser river by means of set lines and short laterals armed with strong hooks brought a measure of success, but was not entirely a victory over the wise mammalia of the ocean. The new proposal is to come down on them from the unsuspected heights, as they bask on the sandbars in thousands, and pour a stream of bullets into them.

Welding Optical Glass.

The improved method of welding optical glass worked out at the United States bureau of standards, gives perfect union with practically no distortion, and is adapted for many purposes, such as making glass cells and hollow prisms, joining lenses and closing glass tubes with accurately fitting flat ends. The shaped-glass object is heated in an electric furnace to the annealing point, when the application of a small blowpipe flame along the edges to be united produces a quick welding.

Unable to Choose National Tree.

American forests are so rich with infinite variety that President Wilson is unable to name a choice for a national tree, he wrote to the American Forestry association, which is compiling a national referendum as to what tree best represents America.

"Speaking for myself," said the President, "I find that I am quite unable to choose amongst the infinite variety and richness of American forests."

YES, THERE IS A WEAKER SEX

Perusal of the Daily Papers Will Prove It to Anybody Who May Be in Doubt.

A New England professor recently raised quite a powwow over the question: "Is There a Weaker Sex?" If the professor is looking for information we will promptly say yes there is a weaker sex.

To arrive at this conclusion we have scanned the daily papers and have found several cases which prove our point. We will mention just a few. If the professor delves into the matter with an analytical mind he will doubtless decide which sex is the weaker.

Mr. Amiel W. Finkbinder, a well-known attorney, appeared in court and said that his wife had chastised him so severely with a stove poker that he could not go to his office. This happened because he criticised the salad they had for dinner the night before.

Mr. Terrance Mulvaney was dragged into the station house a total wreck. One eye was closed and the other was taking no particular interest in passing events. His wife accompanied him. According to a disconnected story told by the victim, it appears that his wife struck him with the cook stove, hitting him on the head and smashing the stove, which cost $25 when new.

Mr. Spug Hawkins, who claims to be a burglar by profession, has filed articles in voluntary bankruptcy, claiming that his business has been ruined on account of the fact that his wife will not allow him to go out nights. She ties him firmly to a bed post at six o'clock every night and does not let him out until morning.

There are many other cases, but if the professor will read these he will be convinced there is a weaker sex.—New York Mail.

DIPLOMAT SANG OF NATURE

Attitude of Man Who Outwitted Russian Statesmen Impressed American Traveler in Japan.

"McDonnel and myself dined with Hagiwara and Kuroda at a Japanese restaurant," Willard Straight wrote in his diary in May, 1905, says Asia. "Geishas danced and I cannot say that I was particularly impressed. Their attitudes seemed awkward, particularly the strange heel-and-toe movement. Hagiwara's song on the beauties of Seoul impressed me more than anything else. He, the first secretary of the legation, sat there and sang of the spring flowers, the tender green foliage near his home, of the summer scenes on the river, the silver shining moon, of the autumn and the golden maple, of the snows that come with the shortened days and the whitened hills. He improvised as he went along. He seemed so near to nature! It is the keynote of Japanese life. The diplomat, the man who with his chiefs outwitted the Russians, sang of the simple woodland and its charms. We cold westerners are too fearful of raising a scornful laugh ever to show our true feelings in such an open way. The soldier fighting with every scientific appliance known in modern warfare, understanding its mechanism, finds pleasure in admiring the iris bloom or the cherry blossoms!"

Larynxless Man Can Whisper.

How a man whose whole larynx has been cut out can continue to talk is told by Dr. T. Horshino of Nugate, Japan, in the Annals of Otology, Rhinology and Laryngology (St. Louis). Dr. Horshino describes the operation by which he removes the larynx in serious cases of cancer and provides for respiration after it has gone.

He furnished the patient with a rubber tube, one end of which is inserted into the trachea (windpipe) and the other end is held in the mouth. By sending his breath through the tube and working his lips, teeth, tongue, palate and pharyngeal muscles the man can whisper in such a way as to be understood.

Artificial larynges have been made for such cases, but they are complex affairs, and Dr. Hoshino says patients much prefer the tube.

Stacking Cereals.

One year's harvest of our cereals would fill a canyon 100 feet wide, five miles long and two-thirds of a mile deep.

The Scientific American estimates that this harvest of a single season in the United States, if stacked on one acre of land, would form a column 214 times as high as the Woolworth building in New York. Or it would bury the whole of Central park to a depth of 190 feet.

If this crop of cereals were to fall upon Manhattan Island like rain at the rate of a million bushels a day, starting tomorrow, it would not cease falling until the year 1930.

Some Excluded.

Little Joe was visiting at grandma's house. Usually he paid very little attention to his youngest auntie, but this day he followed her about continually. Finally they were alone and he began on a new line of conversation. "My daddy says I can't take any more money from grandpa and grandma," he said rather dejectedly.

"You can't?" auntie sympathized, and Joe noticed that note of sympathy in her voice.

His voice brightened. "But he didn't say anything about not taking it from you and Aunt Grace," he added.

MT. HOLYOKE'S CAMPAIGN

The Mt. Holyoke alumnae of the Newtons and their guests, in line with alumnae all over the country, will dine on Tuesday evening, May 3rd, at seven o'clock at the Newton Club. Miss Margaret McGill, of the Newton High School, who is chairman of the campaign committee for all Newton, has arranged a most interesting program to follow the dinner. Miss Bertha Haven Putnam, of the famous Putnam family, publishers, and associate professor of History at Mount Holyoke College, comes especially for the occasion to speak on behalf of the college's need of the $3,000,000 endowment. Dr. William E. Strong will speak of "Mount Holyoke Women in the Community." There will be other short addresses. Miss Eleanore Leete, '17, will sing and Miss Evelyn Clift, '19, will lead community singing of college songs. As there are some eighty alumnae within the city limits, it is expected that there will surely be about one hundred present. For this reason it was decided to hold a special Newton dinner together with alumnae from Waltham and Watertown, instead of joining the one which will be held in Boston.

In common with the other colleges of the country, Mt. Holyoke has had the grant from the General Education Board of $500,000 upon condition that $1,500,000 be raised for endowment. Unlike some of the others Mt. Holyoke has further imperative needs, which must be supplied if the college is to maintain its present standard and not fall behind the other colleges for women. Chief among them is the replacing of Williston Hall, the science building which was burned four years ago; it needs also an addition to the over-crowded library and a modern dormitory to relieve crowded conditions in other residence halls where two students in many cases live in rooms adapted only to one each.

Mt. Holyoke's claim upon any community for support is measured by the service which her alumnae are rendering to that community and the belief of that community that Mt. Holyoke, the first of the women's colleges, founded 85 years ago on the college principle of endowment by public gifts, merits their confidence.

Newton people are noted for their generosity and the alumnae of Mt. Holyoke are confident of the success of their campaign, which opens with the dinner on May 3rd and continues to the 31st, when it is believed that the full sum will be realized.

"CHANNING DINES AT HOME"

In spite of the rain Saturday night, Sastle Stirling, Knights of King Arthur of Auburndale, held a very successful performance of "Channing Dines at Home." This is the third successive annual performance of the Knights of King Arthur and was in every way as successful as usual. The play was a first production of a play by Miss Lydia Walker of Cambridge. Miss Walker is a graduate of the Harvard-Radcliffe dramatic courses under Prof. Baker. She is a member of the "47" Workshop. The play was under her own personal direction.

One of the most interesting features of these plays by Castle Stirling is the fact that there are always several female parts which are taken by the boys. This makes the plays doubly interesting.

The cast included several members who have starred in former productions by Castle Stirling, these were: Theodore Grant, in the title role of Channing, and John Perkins as the leading lady, Mrs. Channing. Clark Weymouth and Allan Dunlop are also old members of the cast. The rest were all new material and included Fred Coulsen, Malcolm Duffield, and Robert Savory in female parts and Maurice Hutchins and Milton Hall in male parts.

These new members showed that their skill is as great as that of the old members and their rendering of their parts speaks well for future productions.

The business manager was Lermond Simonds, a former member of the cast of other plays, and also business manager for other productions. Emory Clapp was Property Man and Alton Lamont acted as Stage Manager.

The play was followed by a dance.

TROOP 7, BOY SCOUTS

When "Bill" Phelps ordered the Troop to "Fall in" at the last meeting, forty-eight scouts quickly responded. There were also ten applicants to this Troop at this time.

A new venture was tried for the first time which is bound to give the first class scouts the opportunity to develop real leadership. The drill was placed in charge of Patrol Leader Dwight Shepler; the setting-up exercises were directed by Patrol Leaders Patrick and Phelps; instruction was given by all the first class scouts and the closing exercises were led by the Senior Patrol Leader. From now on the Scout Masters will occupy a supervisory and advisory position, the actual work of the Troop being in the hands of the new Pine Tree Patrol, which has just been formed by these first class scouts.

It is hoped that a Court of Honor will be held on May 13th, and the full number of examiners will be required on that evening. Troop 7 is making a brave attempt to "follow the band to success" in this District.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

With a small calendar for each legislative day the House has had several long debates and has been kept in session in consequence for the usual length of time.

On Tuesday there was a storm of protest against the bill to require school nurses in cities and towns having over a million valuation, but it finally passed by a substantial majority. The same day the proposition to require licenses for the sale of so-call non-intoxicating liquors was also debated at length but the bill was finally approved.

On Wednesday the proposition to remove the excise tax from street railway companies aroused the ire of the Boston Democrats in the first place and it was finally defeated by a margin of 16 votes, although it had the endorsement of the Public Utilities Commission, the unanimous vote of the Street Railway Committee, and all but one vote in the committee on Ways and Means. So far as Newton is concerned, we have not had the benefit of this tax from the M. & B. Co. for several years. During the past two years the payment of this tax has been suspended by the Legislature (the pending bill being merely to continue the present condition indefinitely) and previous to that time, the city government had virtually abated the tax by making a contribution to the street railway company of substantially the same amount. It is an illogical tax, ought never to have been levied in the first place, and in the present serious financial condition of the street railways of the state, ought to be abolished. The writer and Representative Early voted for repeal, Representative Rice voting in opposition.

The El investigation continues along its weary way hearing all the members of the Legislatures of 1918 and 1919. Ex-Senator Thomas Weston was called the present week. Mr. Weston said his office, Weston & Weston, lawyers, has always owned street railway securities, including Elevated, Bay State and Old Colony. He was associated with his father up to the death of the latter, he said, and both bought and sold street railway securities for clients and estates they represented. He never bought directly or indirectly any Elevated stock for himself or any member of his family, he said.

Mr. Weston said that just prior to the coming in of the Legislature of 1918 the firm sold 100 shares of Boston Elevated and 126 West End common. The firm also held Boston & Northern stock and bonds, all bonds deposited with the protection committee, and in turn all of them came back from the reorganization of the Bay State. He never bought any Elevated stock. In 1918 he never bought any stock, but was inclined to think that after June 3, 1918, it was not within the province of the committee to inquire into what he bought. He admited, however, that after the Legislature prorogued he bought 25 shares of Massachusetts Electric. In March, 1919, he bought 70 shares of Massachusetts Electric Common, which he now has.

The Senate amended the voluntary association bill, on which I commented recently, so that individual members of such associations could not be held as individuals, and a hot time was expected when it came up in the House, but to the surprise of many, it was not even passed on the first call of the calendar and was acted upon in concurrence without any trouble.

In this connection it might be well to call attention to the effective speech made by Representative Samuel F. Brown of Springfield in the debate in the House. Mr. Brown carried a union card until 1917 and comes from a district filled with members of the labor unions. It took some courage for him to take the floor and favor the bill. It is well to call attention to such instances of political and moral courage, while the public is being fed with the results of the El investigation. As a matter of fact, the 280 members of the Massachusetts Legislature will compare favorably with any other body of equal numbers drawn from all classes of the community. The errors or mistakes of judgment of the few ought not to blind us to the real merit and worth of the great majority of conscientious members.

A large number of Newton people have been interested in the bill to increase the school age from 14 to 15 years and the Social Welfare committee reported favorably on that bill. House Ways and Means Committee, however, reported adversely on Wednesday and the bill was rejected without a word of debate. It is understood that the bill was rejected on account of the great cost it would entail both on the commonwealth as well as upon the different cities and towns. It was estimated that the state would pay some $270,000 if this bill became a law, and the cities and towns over $2,000,000 for additional teachers and supplies, to say nothing of new school buildings which would be required. The city of Fall River alone, would have to care for some 2,500 additional children in its schools. It was also brought out that it would be inadvisable to pass this legislation until the new plan of continuation schools, which has just been established, shall have been given a fair trial.

Mr. Elliott B. Church of Newton has been appointed assistant to Judge Taft, counsel for the committee on investigation and that committee is having a strenuous time as everyone who reads the Boston papers well knows. Just what will be accomplished, outside of the publicity, some of which is extremely undesirable, is a problem which many are unable to solve, as there is no precedent whatever for one Legislature investigating the acts of another and its authority to do so is seriously questioned.

The censorship of moving pictures is before Ways and Means where its merits as well as its financial features are being carefully considered.

The county tax for Middlesex County this year is $1,270,904.68 as compared with $1,044,469.86 for last year.

As Newton pays 9% of the county tax this means that our tax levy will be increased over $23,000 in this one item.

DIPHTHERIA SCARE

It is reported this morning that the source of the epidemic has been found, one member of the family of the dealer supplying the milk in question having developed the disease. This makes one additional case. Previous examination of members of this family failed to reveal any sign of the disease. The milk from this dealer was, of course, discontinued when it was found that the disease was being carried through that agency.

From The Winchester Star
April 22, 1921

Epidemics without number have been traced to raw, unsafe milk. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, sore throat, typhoid fever and tuberculosis are the diseases most commonly spread through raw milk. No epidemic has ever been traced to Perfectly Pasteurized Milk. Hood's Milk is Perfectly Pasteurized and is handled by men regularly examined by registered physicians. More money was spent in one year to safeguard Hood's Milk than was spent by the Commonwealth for all the milk sold in the State.

SAVING MONEY

W. B. WOLCOTT Phone N. N. 92

CO-OPERATIVE BANK'S WATCHWORD IS "SAFETY"

By Ernest A. Hale, Treasurer Suffolk Co-operative Bank

Safety is the first essential of a good investment and any enterprise which offers extraordinary dividends to the investor or accepts the savings of the people and does not come under the supervision of the Banking Laws of this State should be looked upon as a speculation not as an investment, for legitimate investments can only receive limited returns. Although large interest returns are attractive, the danger of loss of the principal is always imminent. The small investor should consider safety of principal before every other offer.

Various enterprises with attractive literature appeal to the man of limited means to invest his savings in more than doubtful propositions.

Sometimes it is a so-called "Bank," "Trust" or "Company as safe as a Bank" but really a business and not under the supervision of the Banking Department of this State, sometimes a land or mortgage company or a real estate trust that sells certificates or debentures, which the investor is led to suppose are based on mortgages or on property which the company owns.

The investor frequently finds—after it is too late—that he has furnished money to run a failing business, or in the case of the land or mortgage company to buy the land, pay the salaries of the officers and commissions of the salesman and still leave a profit for the promoter. Then the inevitable happens—the concern goes into the hands of a receiver and the savings of a lifetime are swept away.

Speculation is not for the man who works on wages or a salary. He cannot afford to take chances. His money should earn interest, but he cannot risk it in speculation. A recent $50 return for an investment of $1200 in a so-called "Bank" should increase the popularity of state regulated savings institutions.

Co-operative Banks are solving the problem of giving largest returns on conservative investments for thousands of wage earners in this state. These banks can and do pay larger returns than any other savings institution. Their method is simple. They loan money on amortization first mortgages on homes, but never more than 70 to 80 per cent of a conservative valuation of the property by the security committee of the bank, and only to their own members. The borrower immediately begins to pay back his loan in monthly instalments, which are reinvested in first mortgages on other homes. They have no idle money under their control. The expenses are kept at a minimum. These banks being thoroughly co-operative, the officers serve without compensation, with the exception of the treasurer, and he usually receives only a small salary. The executive officer and clerks must furnish bonds for the faithful performance of their duties in such amount as the board of directors may require.

All the earnings are divided among the shareholders, and only a small amount is held back, enough to safeguard against possible loss. The Banking Law compels this accumulation until the reserve equals five and one quarter per cent of the deposits. This is more than sufficient to meet every possible situation in which loss can be incurred.

The State Banking Department report to the bank commissioner, showing accurately the condition of the bank on the last day of October of each year and also provides for a yearly examination and audit by the bank department of all books, securities, cash, assets, liabilities, income and expenditures, including a trial balance of the shareholders' ledgers, for the period elapsed since the preceding examination.

The law makers of this State as well as the managers of these Banks realize that safety of investment is preferable to large earnings. The members themselves have realized this—that it is better to receive all your principal with a five per cent dividend than to have promises of larger returns and lose all of the money invested—and so the influence and assets of the Co-operative Banks increase every year.

The essentials of a good investment are all to be found in the Co-operative Banks of this State, they are a safe place to invest your savings because of their economical and conservative management and State supervision, they pay good interest and you can get your money when you desire it.

It is better to be safe than to be sorry.

BURIED WITH THEIR HUSBAND

Wives of Members of the Barau Tribe of the Congo Are Interred With the Corpse.

The Barua tribe in the Congo district of Africa have a number of strange and horrible customs, but of them all their burial customs are the most terrible. When a man dies a large grave is dug. The corpse and his wives—these may be anywhere from two to twenty—are escorted to the hole with wild music and the interested attendance of the entire tribe. The chief wife is thrust into the hole, and the corpse is then lowered. The second wife follows. The dead man's relatives then proceed to break the arms and legs of the two wives so they cannot get out of the hole. The head of the corpse is placed in the lap of the head wife, and the feet in the lap of the second wife.

The rest of the wives are then thrust into the hole, their limbs broken, and they are forced to sit in a circle about the corpse and its human supporters. The priest chants a few words, and everyone falls to with rude shovels, dishing earth into the hole. They never stop until the grave is full and the corpse and the living wives buried far under the earth. The howls of the wives with their broken limbs and fear of the terrible death are drowned by the banging of drums and the yells of the delighted tribe.

IN THE NAME OF RELIGION!

Weird and Savage Rites Indulged In by the Khlysts, Sect of Russian Fanatics.

One of the queer religious sects of the world is the Christs or Khlysts of Russia. They hold their meetings in their churches with hundreds of men, women and children attending. After prayers and hymns that last until midnight they begin a wild dance amid sobs and groans. After this continues for a while they abandon their garments and put on white robes and white stockings. Candles are lighted, and a new dance begins that consists of rapidly revolving, the men to the right, the women to the left.

In a short time a sort of madness falls upon them. They leap, scream, beat themselves and each other, indulge in wild laughter and cries, and then begin to tear off the garments with shouts of "It is coming, the Holy Spirit is coming!" They begin to go about on all fours, riding on one another's backs, rolling about on the floor, biting and scratching one another, and at last go entirely insane and dash about until they fall exhausted. By dawn the church floor is covered with naked men, women and children, unconscious and blood-stained.

Weather's Effect on Birds.

Cold and hunger in England has driven armies of birds, even the wildest, into streets and gardens and unwonted places. Great flocks of green plover, which are singularly shy as a rule, appeared in the stackyards and paddocks of Hertfordshire villages. In Buckinghamshire several thousand rooks in a flock was no rarity; and old scouts came right up to the back doors and competed for their food with the poultry and the pigs. In London it was curious to see the pigeons feeding busily on the ice, to the obvious irritation of the gulls, whose bills are useless for securing fragments from a hard surface. It was hard to be defeated by a land bird in their own element. Starlings showed even greater ability in picking up morsels from the floes and even the water of the river, a feat very foreign to their nature.

The Boy of It.

The three children were on the street car on their way to school—a boy and two younger sisters. The sisters disputed who was to push the button to notify the street car conductor to stop the car. The older sister won and held her finger on the button for more than a block. Then her brother rose, pulled her hand away arbitrarily and pushed the button. The older sister stepped into the vestibule, followed by her sister, to be the first to step off the car. As it stopped, the brother brushed them aside and led the way. The sisters having alighted, waited for the car to go on, but the boy rushed across the tracks, ignoring the warning clanging of the bell by the motorman.

Microbes in Sugar Bowl.

About one per cent of the Cuban sugar crop, valued at $1,500,000, is each year destroyed by greedy micro-organisms too small to be seen except when congregated in crowds of millions. Molds and bacteria are the culprits. It is estimated that each person in the United States consumes 81.84 pounds of sugar each year. At this rate, 873,000 persons could be supplied with the sugar destroyed by germs. The sugar loses its sweetness when the molds consume the sucrose, its "sweetening" principle.

Marble Cheaper Than Wood.

A report to Washington from the American commercial attache in Rome is to the effect that American lumber has gone to such price heights in the Italian market that builders find it cheaper to put in marble staircases than to build them of wood. Such is the combined effect of mill cost, plus freight rates, multiplied by the exchange premium of four to one that Italian buyers have to pay to translate our money into theirs.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Echoes that have come to the Club Editor indicate that the Presidents' Conference at Westboro on Wednesday was unusually interesting and vital. At the morning session, which was given up to club and Federation matters, considerable time was devoted to a discussion of how club presidents can secure the co-operation of those members who have accepted office without realizing that any responsibility rests upon them. What club worker has not seen them,—ready to hold office but without the slightest conception that anything is expected of them beyond sitting in board meetings and listening! Such are the despair of any club worker of experience, and if any light can be shed upon the problem the time is well spent.

The best kind of a Presidents' Day came in for its share of consideration. Too long programs on these occasions was the consensus of opinion thus cutting off the social hour for which the guests usually care most. This point has oft been reiterated in this column, but it is always timely.

Legislative procedure in the clubs came in for its share and Mrs. Charles Leslie May, the Federation Legislative chairman, urged every club to have a day previous to the Mid-winter meeting devoted to the consideration of the proposed bills with speakers for and against. At a later meeting to take action, and then send their delegates instructed. If this were to be done, why not send the vote by mail. This, however, is a mooted question over which club and Federation officials may well ponder very carefully before coming to any definite, hard and fast conclusion.

Following luncheon the address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Woodallen Chapman on methods of improving the movies. She considers state censorship merely one means, but not the whole thing, that it must be attacked further back by arousing public opinion and public interest, and training up the young people to understand what comprises a clean film and why. She instanced a high school in the West which is doing this thing. The scholars study the films and analyze them, writing essays in which they give reasons for their conclusions.

State Federation

Monday, May 9, 2 P. M. Studio tea for the Music department at the studio of Miss Grace Horne, Trinity court, Dartmouth street, Boston. Presidents of clubs and music chairmen are most cordially invited to attend. Please reply to Miss Horne before May 5th. Methods of introducing matters into the legislature will be explained by eminent persons, as the department has a matter of vital importance closely allied with the moral life of every community which they hope to bring to the attention of the public in the coming season.

Tuesday, May 24, 5 P. M. The Plymouth women have arranged for a very effective greeting to the delegates at the annual meeting. Members of the hostess club in Pilgrim costume will gather on Watch Hill at the appointed hour and sing some of the old Pilgrim songs, after which formal welcome will be extended by town and club officials. Other attractive features of the meeting will be announced from time to time. Watch for them.

Newton Federation of Women's Clubs

The annual meeting will be held in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Tuesday, May 3rd. The morning session will begin at 10.30 and will consist of the customary business and annual reports followed by luncheon. Tickets for the luncheon must be purchased before April 30th as no tickets will be sold that day. The afternoon session will opn at two o'clock when Rev. McIlvar Hamilton Lichliter of Newtonville will give an address on "Community Consciousness." This will be preceded and followed by music by Miss Hale of Newton Centre. The entire meeting is open to members of all Federated Clubs of Newton and a large attendance is desired.

The Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls will hold its annual meeting on Monday evening at the Auditorium. After the reports and election of officers and other business has been transacted, the members will adjourn to the Library where a social hour will be enjoyed and Mrs. Emma H. Howland will speak.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will have a luncheon on Thursday, May 5, at one o'clock, in Bray hall, which will be followed at 2.15, with the usual business of the annual meeting.

Mrs. Everett E. Kent will lead the second of the bird walks of the Newton Community and Social Science Clubs on Thursday, May 5. Meet at Hudson's Drug store at 8.30 A. M. for Wellesley.

At the annual meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands on April 25th, these officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. George W. Barker; vice-president, Mrs. Charles H. Keeler; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Bartlett; auditor, Mrs. H. E. Williams. The club has had a pleasant and profitable year. While it has not done the philanthropic work of former years, since it decided to leave that to the larger Woman's Club, it did send the usual Christmas gifts to the City Home. A miscellaneous program will be given the coming year.

The Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls gave a very successful entertainment in the Emerson School hall on Wednesday evening, presenting two plays in a creditable manner, "Good for Nothing," and "The Florist's Shop." Those who had parts in the first were: Mrs. Emma M. Atwell, Miss Katharine L. Locke, Mrs. Olive A. Parsons, Mrs. Bertha Meara, Mrs. Phyllis H. Flinchbough, Francis J. Murphy.

Mrs. Grace Aiken, Mr. Herbert W. Kestle, Mr. Noyes W. Meara, Mrs. Martha R. Hemphill, Mr. Robert D. Flansburg did very good work in the second play. Between the two there was fancy dancing arranged and directed by Mrs. A. E. Osborne with Mrs. L. J. Collins as accompanist. Phyllis Waite and Eleanore Davies took part in the first dance. Marjorie was the Spirit of the Fountain and, the little girls who represented the Six Butterflies were: Doris Ayer, Elizabeth Curtis, Barbara Rogers, Marion Shaughnessey, Mildred Stuart and Frances Warren. The children sold candy and popcorn between the acts.

The annual meting of the Auburndale Woman's Club which was held on Tuesday, April 26, proved to be a most enjoyable occasion. Festivities began at 12.30 when a dainty luncheon provided by the Brookline Community Kitchen, was served by the Hospitality Committee of the Club.

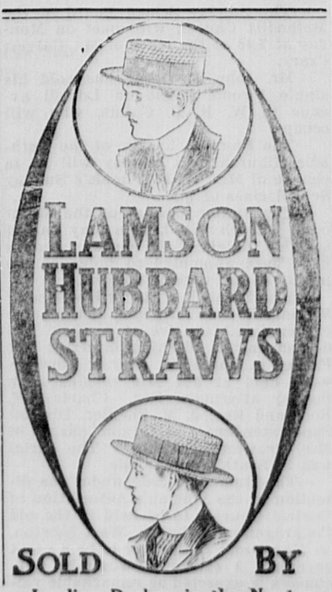

At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatric; first vice president, Mrs. George W. St. Amant; second vice president, Mrs. M. M. Cannon; recording secretary, Mrs. William J. Benger; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. A. O'Brien; treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Winslow; Directors, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, Mrs. Henry S. Dawson. Two recommendations from the executive board were adopted by the club. The first contained the following appropriations to philanthropic and local interests: West Newton Music School, $25; Newton Hospital, $50; Methodist Ladies' Aid Society, $5; Boy Scouts, $5; Teachers' Kitchen at Williams School, $5; Newton Welfare Bureau, $35; Near East Relief, $15; China Famine Fund, $25. In the second recommendation the sum of $300 was set apart to furnish a room in the Auburndale Club House such furniture to remain the property of the Auburndale Woman's Club. It was announced that over $1200 has so far been received from royalties on the house dress pattern. The larger part of this money has been added to the permanent Club House fund.

The entertainment was called "The Follies of 1920-1921," embodying in six vaudeville numbers, music, dancing, and clever satires on well-known club members, activities, and events.

The announcements read 1. Spring Flowers; 2. Guest Night Tickets; 3. Where did you get that Hat?; 4. The Misleading Lady; 5. A Tableau in Grease; 6. Dress Parade. Each number was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. W. J. Champion, chairman of the program for the coming year, will welcome constructive suggestions from any member of the club.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIAL

The Norumbega District Sunday School Association has evidently been very much on the job recently, to judge by the many announcements which are now ready.

One of the important events will come off tomorrow evening, April 30, at 6.30 P. M., at the Central Church, Newtonville. This affair is a social and business meeting of the Young People's Division of the District Association.

Those invited to this social are young men and girls of the ages 16 to 21, who have been selected to represent the various church schools of the District. Two or more, according to the size of the school, are expected from each church.

After the basket lunch, which comes at 6.30 P. M., there will be an interesting social occasion. Following this there will be a presentation of Winnepesaukee Camp slides by Mr. Herbert C. Mayer, of Auburndale, who is one of the Camp directors. Mr. Mayer is also professor of Young People's Methods in Boston University and Director of Young People's work in the Malden Council of Religious Education. The camps referred to are those conducted each summer by the International Sunday School Association, for older boys and girls. The camp for boys is called "The Camp of the Four-Fold Life"; that for girls is called "The Camp of the Hundred Fires." Only older boys and girls of the ages 16 to 21 are admitted, and only those who show qualities of leadership may be recommended and accepted by the camp directors.

Those young people chosen to represent the Norumbega District this coming summer at the Winnepesaukee camps will be announced at this social next Saturday.

Following the talk on camp life there will be an election of ten young people to membership on the Young People's Committee of the District. At the present time, this committee consists of the following: Wm. M. Breed, of Newton Centre, chairman; Rev. M. H. Lichliter, of Newtonville; Anson T. Leary, of Belmont and Newton; Chauncey B. Conn, of Auburndale; George Flewelling, of Belmont; Miss Elsie Brodrick, of Waltham; Ralph Emery, of Newton Centre; and Miss Luliona Barker of Watertown, ex-officio. Those young people elected to membership on this committee will have a big share in planning future activities for the Young People's Division of the District.

The social will wind up with a grand sing, conducted by Rev. Earl E. Harper.

BOY SCOUTS

The Church and the Boy Scout Movement

Dr. Charles F. Taylor, who had been preaching in a number of Cambridge Churches recently, in speaking of the relationship of the Church to the Boy, said: "We have heard a great deal in the past about 'loyalty to the church' on the part of the boy, but we have heard all too little about 'loyalty of the Church' to the boy himself. Jesus taught that man was even greater than the institution, yet the churches have frequently been more anxious to save their carpets and furniture than to save the immortal souls of boys who will swiftly pass through the short years in which they are open to influence, into those years in which their souls have become case-hardened and are no longer reachable by ordinary appeals. He urges that the churches get together on a city-wide programme and relate themselves to the life of those who are soon to be the hope or the despair of Christian institutions and communities. He paints the world as in dire need of a dominating, masterful Christianity in which the imperialism of Jesus is the central message to all men. He says that the next five or ten years may determine the fate of Christianity and her institutions for a millenium. "Of all the agencies at hand," concludes Dr. Taylor, "the Scout Movement seems to be the most strategic and well-advised programme for accomplishing what the church must accomplish in order to save her very life. If she will serve the boys in the local community today, those boys will serve the churches in the local community tomorrow. If the church neglects these boys she does it not only at the peril of her existence, but she will fail so ignominiously to do the thing that Jesus would do that she will have hard work to justify that existence in the minds of multitudes of thinking men and women. This cannot and must not be. The Church must rally immediately around whatever movement has life enough in it to give "life more abundantly to boys."

MAY—STODDARD

A very pretty wedding took place last Saturday night when Miss Antoinette Stoddard, daughter of Mrs. George W. Stoddard of Chestnut street, West Newton, became the bride of Mr. William Thomas May of Gray Cliff road, Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First Church.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a train, trimmed with Brussels lace and tulle and a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. The matron of honor, Mrs. James W. Anthony of Fall River wore Nile green taffeta silk over shot with silver thread, and silver lace trimmings.

The best man was Mr. Edward P. May of Framingham, Mass., brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Arthur T. Lovett of West Newton, William E. May, of Cambridge, Ernest N. May and Ernest S. May of Cambridge, and Charles A. Newhall of Brookline.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, the bride and groom being assisted by their parents, and by the maid of honor. The house was tastefully decorated with Spring flowers. A stringed quartet furnished the music.

After October 1st, Mr. and Mrs. May will be at home at 35 Gray Cliff Road, Newton Centre.

ARBOR DAY

"Although Arbor Day is one of the newest of our American holidays, its institution is merely the revival of an ancient custom. It is said that the Aztecs always planted a tree when an infant came into the world, and gave it the child's own name. And the old Mexican Indians plant trees on certain days of the year, under the full moon, naming them after their children.

There is a similar custom of long standing in certain parts of rural Germany, where each member of each family plants a tree with appropriate ceremonies at Whitsuntide, forty days after Easter.

Some unknown seeker after truth once discovered in a Swiss chronicle of the fifth century an account of an early and curious institution of Arbor Day. It seems that the people of a little Swiss town called Brugg assembled in Council and resolved to plant a forest of oak trees on the common. The first rainy day thereafter the citizens began their work. They dug holes in the ground with canes and sticks, and dropped an acorn into each hole, tramping the dirt over it. More than twelve sacks were sown in this way, and after the work was done each citizen received a wheaten roll as a reward.

For some reason the work was all in vain, for the seed never came up. Perhaps the acorns were laid too deep, or it might have been that the tramping of so many feet had packed the earth too firmly. Whatever the cause, the acorns refused to sprout, and the townspeople sowed the same ground with rye and oats, and after the harvest they tried the acorn planting again—this time in another way—by plowing the soil and sowing the acorns in the furrows. But an oak grove they were determined to have, so after the second failure a few wise men put their heads together and decided to gain the desired result by transplanting. A day was appointed in October, and the whole community, men, women, and children, marched to the woods, dug up oak saplings, and transplanted them on the common. At the close of the exercises each girl and boy was presented with a roll, and in the evening the grown people had a merry feast in the town hall.

This time the trees grew. The people of Brugg were pleased and satisfied, and instituted the day of tree-planting as a yearly holiday.

Every year as the day came around the children formed in line and marched to the oak grove, bringing back twigs or switches, thus proving that the oaks were thriving, and every year at the close of the parade the rolls were distributed to be eaten in remembrance of the day. This festival still exists and is known as 'The Switch Parade.'"

The cause of our American trees was taken up by a number of public spirited men. The official father of the movement was, however, J. Sterling Morton, afterwards Secretary of Agriculture during President Cleveland's second term. Arbor Day is now observed in nearly every state and territory of the union, but the time for the observance varies greatly being determined somewhat by climatic conditions. Here in Massachusetts the last Saturday in April is Arbor Day. It has been said, wisely, that "If Arbor Day teaches the growing generation of children that in clearing a field some trees should be left for shade and for beauty, it will have rendered good service."

The Newton Free Library has the following few books which tell of the history, observance, spirit and significance of the day.

GARDEN NEWS

Subject—Arbor Day

Next Saturday is Arbor Day. Every one should get into the spirit of the day and plant some trees or shrubs to beautify their home grounds. There is nothing that can be done with such a small outlay of money that will so increase real estate values and add to the attractiveness of the community.

Before any planting is done there should be a definite plan of what is to be the ultimate result even though it cannot be accomplished in one season. Not only flowers but foliage, fruit and twigs should be considered in this plan. Utmost simplicity always obtains the best effect.

At this season of the year it is safest to buy stock from some reliable nearby nursery so that they can be delivered by truck at once. If necessary to order from concerns at some distance shipment should always be by express in order to obtain the most careful handling and the quickest possible arrival.

When stock is delivered it should immediately be unpacked and watered. If it is not possible for it to be planted at once, it should be heeled in, by digging a trench deep enough and wide enough to allow the roots to be spread out with the stalk laying on one side. After a thorough wetting they should be covered with three or four inches of soil and the stock will keep safely several days.

Shrubbery beds should be dug 18 inches below the surface of the ground. A liberal supply of well-rotted manure should be mixed with fine top soil and the hole refilled with the mixture. Stakes can then be set at proper distances and the holes dug the right size for receiving the plants.

In planting trees a hole should be dug two feet deep and large enough in diameter at the bottom to allow the roots to be spread out. Enough top soil can then be added to allow the tree to set two inches deeper in the ground than it was in the nursery. For all varieties except evergreens, two inches of manure should be spread three feet around the tree.

Before either trees or shrubs are put in place, all broken roots should be cut off or any that are so long that they will not lay straight in the hole. Tops should also be trimmed to balance the root system and make a symmetrical head. Poplar trees and most varieties of shrubs do best if rather severely pruned. Most trees should be left enough wood to allow plenty of leaf growth.

A TOAST TO DAD

We have heard about the Mother, and the toasts to her dear name,
We have cordially approved, and repeat them just the same,
We hail her as the dearest and most loved one here on earth—
But I suggest, lest we forget, that Father too has worth.

He didn't rock the cradle, but he settled all the bills,
He wasn't hourly at our side, but helped us up the hills,
His strong arm always round us, his lasting, loving care,
Was an ever-present sureness of our safety everywhere.

While of parents nearly always the Mother is the best,
She broods above her little ones, but
Daddy guards the nest.
The Mother-love is lasting, through sorrow, grief, or pain.
But don't forget that Daddy's there, in sunshine or in rain.

And boy or girl, in after years, encircled by his arm,
Kept safe from trouble, danger, secure against all harm,
We feel his dear protection and our heartfelt thanks are due,
Not only to our Mother, but to dear old Daddy too.

And so in answering toast, to that
dear one of "My Mother,"
I rise to offer here to-day, most gratefully, another,—
"To him who loved me dearly, whose heart was ever true,
With grateful love, dear Daddy, I lift
my glass to You."

—Geo. W. Hills.

100 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Mary Mahoney of 610 Watertown street, Newtonville, last week celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary. Present on this occasion were representatives of the three younger generations of her family. Mrs. Henry Waterman of Providence, one of Mrs. Mahoney's 10 children, was at the celebration with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Conboy of Newton, whose 4-year-old son, Thomas Conboy, Jr., is the oldest representative of the fourth generation.

Mrs. Mahoney has 25 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She was born in Ireland and came to the United States 40 years ago. She was spry enough last week to dance a jig she learned in Ballinaguila scores of years ago. She has never worn spectacles, and her age apparently has brought her few ailments.

N. T. H. S.

The class of 1920, Newton Technical High School, will hold its first reunion on Friday, April 29, at Bray Hall, Newton Centre. Old times will talked over and dancing will follow. James Coleman, Marguerite Howley and Edith Haigh will provide entertainment during the intermission. Refreshments will be served.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of Marie Sullivan, Muriel Stewart, Adrienne Smith, Gertrude Priest, Carmen Simeone, James O'Connor, Raymond Heislein, Joseph Hurley, Austin Shea, Charles Ryan and Alastair Fraser.

WANT BOUNDARY LINE FIXED

Both Quebec and Newfoundland Would Be Glad to Have a Slice of Newfoundland.

Recent surveys of Labrador, which have disclosed immense resources of timber suitable for pulp and paper manufacture, have led to a revival of efforts to bring about a determination of the boundary line between Newfoundland and the Canadian province of Quebec. This line has never been laid down by actual survey and its various definitions as given in documents issued at intervals in the last century and a half are so vague that government officials do not know just how much of Labrador belongs to Newfoundland and how much to Canada.

That Labrador is rich in many natural resources, including enormous water power, has long been known, but the practicability of utilizing its forests for paper-making was not demonstrated until the world-wide paper shortage led to exhaustive investigations of the territory. This resulted in applications by promoters to the Newfoundland government for timber limits in Labrador. As these could not be acted upon until it was determined whether Newfoundland owned the land in question, representatives of this colony were sent to London late in the summer to discuss with eminent English counsel the preparation of a formal draft of Newfoundland's Labrador claims as opposed to those of Canada.

WALL PLASTERS IN COLORS

Admixture of Wood Fiber with Plaster-of-Paris Has Given Most Satisfactory Results.

The stuff we call plaster-of-paris is gypsum ground to powder. When water is added to the powder it becomes a stone.

We are familiar with plaster casts, used for statuary and many other purposes. There is no end indeed to the employment to which plaster-of-paris is put. The wonderful and much-admired buildings of the Chicago fair were of "staff," made from gypsum.

We have in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas beds of gypsum so vast that they could supply the whole world for ages without important diminution of the quantity available. They are a valuable asset, as yet hardly touched.

The United States bureau of standards has recently made successful experiments in the production of colored wall plaster, by admixture of wood fiber with plaster-of-paris. The wood fiber can be dyed any color desired, and the plaster made of any texture. Panels of the material have been submitted to the Gypsum Industries association in Chicago.

Traveling Libraries a Success.

"Traveling Libraries," an experiment tried by the Saskatchewan government, has met with such spontaneous success that an additional appropriation of $10,000 has just been made further to extend the project. Today there are more than 300 of these libraries between the international border and the Northwest territories. The libraries have had a special appeal to trappers of the Hudson Bay company. Officials of this company say that the trappers, about whom volumes of thrilling tales have been written, do not care particularly for stories of adventure. They turn to fiction of city life, of society if possible. Each traveling library consists of 50 books, which are shipped in a strong box to a group of residents who act as distributors in their respective districts.

Have "Libraries" of Bones.

Certain medical schools of American universities have "lending libraries," in which bones take the place of books on the shelves, and are let out on exactly the same system as in a circulating library. The student on paying the sum of 25 cents can borrow any bone in the collection, and, by renewing the loan every week, keep it for a month.

A complete skeleton is worth from $30 to $100, according to its condition. A skull brings from $1.25 to $5; and a perfect specimen—a comparative rarity—as much as $50. Leg, arm and collar bones command a ready market at from 50 cents to $1.25 each, while a perfect string of spinal vertebrae is valued at $5.—North China Herald.

Ancient Commission.

Marblehead (Mass.) Historical society came into possession of a valuable historical document in the shape of a commission as lieutenant in the state militia of Nathaniel Hooper. The commission bears the signature of Gov. John Hancock and his secretary, John Avery, and is dated 1791, "in the 16th year of the independence of the United States of America." The commission assigns Lt. Hooper to a company in the Second regiment, first brigade and second division of the militia of the commonwealth, comprising the county of Essex.

New Guard Against Counterfeiters.

A message from Prague to London states that a method has been discovered of making more difficult the passing of forged bank notes. The invention consists of imbedding in the paper on which bank notes are printed quantities of fine steel and nickel particles. Such paper responds to the attraction of a magnet, and anyone can easily test the genuineness of a note.

The Newton Social Science Club completed thirty-five years of work and service for the community with its annual meeting on Wednesday morning, held at the Brae Burn Country Club. The reports as always revealed much good work accomplished especially through its contribution to philanthropic objects. The Education committee is arranging for trips to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for Bigelow school children and is at present at work on making improvements for the teachers' rest room in that building, which they hope to have completed before the end of May. On motion of Mrs. F. H. Tucker, chairman of Conservation, the club endorsed the Snell bill, a measure now before Congress inaugurating a policy of forest management and fire prevention formulated by the Forest Service, looking to the reforestation of waste lands of the country to relieve the wood shortage now imminent in the country.

Since the last annual meeting the club has given in 1920 to the Near East, $65, and in 1921, $37.50; to endow a bed in the Children's Hospital, $5; War Children, $9; Massachusetts Child Labor Commitee, $10; Stearns School Centre, $250; Newton Hospital, $100; Newton Hospital Social Service League, $15; Welfore Bureau, $50; West Newton Music School, $25; China Famine Fund, $22.50; Hampton Scholarship, $70; Rest Room, Bigelow School, $36.25.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Henry A. Nealley; vice presidents, Mrs. George E. Merrill, Mrs. F. E. Stanley, Mrs. C. H. Patton, Mrs. Franklin Smith, Mrs. Herbert Walley, Mrs. William H. Mitchell; recording secretary, Miss Miriam Drury; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wm. F. Hollings; treasurer, Mrs. John M. Woodbridge; auditor, Miss Georgia H. Emery; Board of Directors, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, chairman; Mrs. Irving U. Townsend, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell, Mrs. Sterling Elliott, Mrs. Warren K. Lewis.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Harry Lutz, the retiring president, was presented with a bouquet of sweet peas, one hundred strong, a flower for each member, by Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, who voiced the appreciation of the club for Mrs. Lutz's service as president and the regret that her term of office must be cut short.

Lnucheon was served after a brief intermission, the tables being beautifully decorated with fresh flowers through the generosity of Mrs. Frank A. Day.

At the close a quartette of club daughters, Helen Moore, Augusta Hallett, Margaret Fitts and Margaret Henry, in Kate Greenaway costume entertained with old-fashioned songs, Mrs. Edward Stratton of Newton Centre, accompanying them. The selections included, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," Haydn; "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?" "Who is Sylvia?" Shubert; and "Long, Long Ago."

The members were surprised by an unexpected visitor, a member of the early years, Mrs. Rip Van Winkle, impersonated by Mrs. Warren K. Lewis, who conversed with an up-to-date member, Mrs. Grosvenor Calkins, regarding the strange things which the club does at the present day. The sketch was exceedingly bright, full of humorous touches and local hits, and was much enjoyed by the members. At the close of the program the members all joined in singing, "Auld Lang Syne."

Local Happenings

Sooner or later every flourishing club reaches its thirtieth birthday. That happy occasion occurred to the Auburndale Review Club recently and was celebrated at its annual meeting, April 21st, at the Wayside Inn, South Sudbury.

The clans gathered in a number of automobiles, driven in most cases, by members, and the beautiful ride through the blooming country was a fine preparation for the afternoon.

The business meeting and reports, drawing of topics for next year's work, "The Islands of the Sea" and the election of officers took place in the stately ball room. There are some changes in the board. The president is Mrs. F. F. Davidson; vice president, Mrs. Nelson Freeman; treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Wells; secretary, Miss Florence Bridgman; directors, Mrs. J. F. Ryder, Mrs. George J. Knapp and Miss H. D. Hunt.

Then came the anniversary program, starting with the group of charter members and others who gave readings from the "Tales of a Wayside Inn," most appropriately and effectively. This was followed by the Second Decade, or members who entered between 1901 and 1911. These were few in number but included the clever program chairman, Miss Hunt, a pianist and a singer, Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Spaulding. There were two songs from Shakespeare and Browning, whose works had been in our program for that ten-year period, and a few scenes from "Chanticler," which was read in a year of "Modern Drama."

The youngest decade lived up to its name, appearing in delightfully funny boy and girl costumes, short socks, middies, or romper suits. One's best friends were hard to recognize. They presented a country school with Mrs. W. I. Lawrance, teacher, who propounded funny questions in geography, history, and other subjects, many of which were answered by the magic word, Auburndale.

The Club then adjourned to the dining hall, for a social tea at a number of small tables and a view of the rest of the interesting Inn before starting for home.

The club has contributed to Near East Relief, to the Hoover Fund, to the West Newton Music School, among other philanthropies the past year.

At the annual meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held at the Brae Burn Country Club on last Friday, the usual reports from chairmen of committees were received at the morning session. An additional ten dollars was sent to the West Newton Music School and the sum of fifteen dollars was voted to the State Federation Endowment Fund. There was a brief reception when Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell assisted the President, Mrs. Early, Honorary Vice-President, Mrs. Phipps and Past Presidents, Mrs. Burrison, Mrs. St. Amant and Mrs. Beedle in receiving members and guests. There were over seventy seated at the luncheon, which was followd by the election of the following new officers, President, Mrs. H. S. Wells; Vice Presidents, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Mrs. John R. McLean; Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. A. Quinn; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. S. Whitney.

The retiring officers were presented with beautiful bouquets of roses and sweet peas and the retiring president, Mrs. Early received a gift of a State Federation Pin suitably engraved.

The fortieth annual meeting concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" according to a long established custom.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, the pupils of the West Newton Music School gave a concert on Saturday evening in Lincoln Hall. The concert was for the benefit of the South Side Centre of the school, of which a brief history was given by Miss Elizabeth Fyffe, of the violin department. Mrs. Locke also spoke in behalf of the school. The program, consisting of piano, vocal and violin solos and several selections of group work, was well rendered, and the audience felt that the school was worthy of its support.

The proceeds of the concert were, $238.90 a elpedngdslH-wdoshiF-ffeJ.!'ff $238.90 and pledges of $81.50 making a total of $319.40 for the work of the South Side Centre.

The Newton Ladies Home Circle will hold their regular meeting on Thursday, May 5th in G. A. R. Hall. Annual reports will be read and new officers announced.

On May 12th they will enjoy a whist party in G. A. R. hall, the proceeds as usual for the good work for which they are always so ready. A food and apron sale will be announced later.
